FRENCH PRESIDENT DIES OF WOUNDS

HOOVER APPEALS TO PEOPLE TO USE POWER UPON HILL

Seeks Ally in Fight for Balancing of Budget Now.

PARTISAN ISSUE IDEA IS DENIED

Lobbyists Accused of Misleading Congress Members.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

Continuing his fight for an "immediate" balancing of the budget by Congress, President Hoover sought a powerful ally yesterday—the people of the Nation.

The President, at his regular Friday press conference, read what was, in effect, an appeal to the people to make their influence felt on Capitol Hill; to demand that Congress quickly cut expenses and raise taxes, and so hasten a return of confidence and better times.

"This," he said, "is not a controversy between the President and Congress or its members.

"It is an issue of the people against delays and destructive legislation which impair the credit of the United States.

Denounces Lobby "Locusts."

"It is also an issue between the people and the locust swarm of lobbyists who haunt the halls of Congress seeking selfish privilege for special groups and sections of the country, misleading members as to the real views of the people by showers of propaganda."

The President insisted that the matter was not a "partisan issue." However, that did not seem to be the understanding in Congress. Democrats, stung by the President's verbal lashing of Thursday, struck back at him, and Republicans in turn leaped on the Democrats.

It looks very much like the Democratic-controlled House of Representatives is going to be an important issue in the 1932 campaign.

Results of Thursday's Message.

In the wake of the President's blast of Thursday were these developments:

The Senate finance committee, at a final session dominated by an angry Secretary of the Terasury, Ogden Mills, completed the drafting of a compromise billion-dollar tax bill.

The House ways and means committee buried the bonus question for this session. The bonus never had a chance to begin with, but, according to the President, it constituted a "threat" that undermined public confidence.

Hopes for Popular Wrath.

If the President's appeal to the Nation stirs the people to that degree of wrath for which his associates are hoping, the Senate will be under a terrific pressure when it takes up the mangled economy bill sent over by the House.

President's Statement On Balancing Budget

The President's statement on balancing the budget, issued yesterday, follows in full:

The issue before the country is the reestablishment of confidence and speed toward recovery by ending these delays in balancing the budget through immediate passage of revenue measures and reduction of Government expenditures. It is not a partisan issue. This was one of the most important steps of the nonpartisan program for restoring stability proposed by me and patriotically accepted by the leaders of both political parties last December. Effective programs, projects, estimates

CASH BONUS SCHEME DIES IN COMMITTEE

14 Veterans' Pay Bills Killed by 15-to-10 Vote for This Session.

(Associated Press.)

After voting virtually to strangle the cash bonus issue in a parliamentary tangle, the House ways and means committee will meet once again today to decide whether this action was final.

Yesterday, the committee, on a 15-to-10 ballot, dealt the $2,000,000,000 new-money plan what its sponsors conceded was a fatal blow unless Congress reconvenes after the national political conventions.

But at the urgent request of bonus advocates, including Representatives Patman (Democrat), Texas, and Connery (Democrat), Massachusetts, Acting Chairman Crisp later agreed to a review of this decision.

The committee not only rejected, by 14 to 11, the Patman plan for an issue of Treasury notes to redeem the veterans' certificates, but also has voted 15 to 10 to return all cash bonus bills to the House with unfavorable reports.

This latter action served to block intentions of the Patman group to file a discharge petition and force a House vote by May 23 with 145 signatures. It would require introduction of a special resolution, consideration by the rules committee, and ultimately, if that group failed to act, filing a petition which could not be voted on until June.

Mr. Patman and his group contend this move was unfair to bonus friends and want the committee to rescind its order of adverse reports and sim-

Debuchi to Extend Washington Stay

(Associated Press.)

The Japanese Ambassador, Katsuji Debuchi, is not planning soon to return to Japan, but expects to be in Washington throughout the summer and autumn. He had planned to go back on leave last autumn, but developments in the Manchurian situation made it necessary for him to remain.

Matsuzo Nagai, the Japanese vice minister of foreign affairs, who has been mentioned as a likely successor to Mr. Debuchi, should the latter be recalled, was third secretary of legation in Washington in 1907 and consul general in San Francisco from 1908 until 1912.

He was Ambassador to Belgium before becoming vice minister of foreign affairs and attended the London naval conference in 1929 and 1930 as a member of the Japanese delegation. He was counsellor or embassy in London from 1917 to 1921 and served a number of years as minister to Sweden and other Scandinavian countries.

Stimson, on Way Home, Sees Gibraltar Consul

Gibraltar, May 6 (A.P.).—Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, who is on his way home to the United States from Geneva, arrived here today aboard the steamer Vulcania.

MILLS INDUCES SENATE GROUP TO CHANGE TAX

Stormy Session Is Held on Measure to Balance Budget.

SECRETARY IS FRANK IN DENOUNCING BILL

New Income Levy Schedule Substituted; 3 Per Cent on First $4,000.

By J. B. McDONNELL.

The vacillating Senate finance committee yesterday met its Mussolini in the person of Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills and rewrote the much-changed budget-balancing tax bill once again.

The meeting between the committee members and the Secretary of the Treasury was a stormy session. The discussion became so warm at times that the debaters got down to their true thoughts and cussed back and forth.

Mr. Mills made no secret about what he thought of the bill the committee had changed so often that committee members weren't certain what was in it and said that he had come down to the Capitol to help the committee eliminate some of the atrocities. Under the whiplash of the urbane, Harvard-accented Secretary of the Treasury, the befuddled finance committee rewrote the tax bill in an hour.

Income Tax Reversal.

The major change voted by the committee was another reversal of its previous and apparently haphazard judgments. The income tax schedule voted in the day before was thrown out into the alley yesterday and a new income tax schedule substituted.

The 1922 individual income taxes voted the day before were eliminated. The committee had adopted the 1922 income tax rates on motion of Senator Tom Connally (Democrat), Texas, with additions, raising the maximum surtax to 55 per cent.

Instead of the Connally 1918 tax rate proposal the committee approved a motion by Senator Pat Harrison (Democrat), Mississippi, to go back to a previously approved schedule. This provided a rate of 3 per cent on the first $4,000 income; 6 per cent on the next $4,000 and 9 per cent on income over $8,000.

House Surtaxes Approved.

The committee approved surtax rates in the House bill up to the 40 per cent maximum on incomes over $100,000. The committee added additional surtaxes to bring the maximum to 45 per cent on incomes over $1,000,000. This was a retrogression from its declaration of the day before to plaster heavier surtaxes on large incomes.

How much revenue the bill will produce in the next fiscal year remains to be seen. Authoritative estimators disagree about the total.

Just how much committee decisions mean was indicated by another reversal. In the hectic session Thursday the committee voted to strike out the House provision making the special excise taxes expire on July 1, 1934. The committee decided the special taxes should continue indefinitely. Yesterday the committee

Vice Presidency Rumor Causes Garner to Laugh

(Associated Press.)

Speaker Garner laughed off reports yesterday that supporters of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt were considering asking him to run for Vice President, in the event the New Yorker is nominated for the Presidency. Asked if he cared to comment on the reports, the Texan smiled and said: "You know very well I don't."

Friends of Mr. Garner believe he would decline the Vice Presidential nomination if offered. They feel he would wield far more power in the Speakership than as Vice President.

Bogus $10 Notes Found After Winchester Fete

Winchester, Va., May 6 (A.P.).—Four bogus $10 Federal Reserve Bank notes of New York, Philadelphia and Cleveland banks were found in bank deposits here today.

Police sent out an alarm to nearby sections and expressed the opinion that the counterfeit currency had been circulated here during the Apple Blossom Festival. Bankers said the engraving was skillfully executed but the papers used was inferior and the bills were a quarter of an inch shorter than genuine notes.

New York Pier Blaze Damage in Millions

250 Firemen Hurt and Spectator Is Killed as Flames Are Fought; Conflagration Razes $2,000,000 Cunard Dock.

New York, May 6 (A.P.).—A treacherous conflagration, born in a wisp of smoke, swept the Hudson River piers of the Cunard Steamship Lines today and continued down the path of destruction tonight.

Fifteen hours after it started the fire had destroyed a $2,000,000 dock at the foot of Thirteenth street on the lower West Side, had swept a two-story office building and was reaching out toward two other piers on either side of the main locale.

One spectator, Ralph Gludge, 57, died of injuries attendant on the blaze and upward of 250 firemen were hurt by acrid fumes and flames.

Seven hundred firemen, comprising the greatest army of firefighters marshaled in recent years, were ordered on all-night duty and the end of their labors was not in sight.

The total damage was difficult to estimate. Cunard Line officials placed the loss in cargo at about $125,000 but said the principal harm resulted from the lack of pierage facilities for the giant liners, the Mauretania, Aquitania and Berengaria. The piers were leased from the city and were covered by insurance.

In midafternoon the whole center section of pier 54 dropped into the Hudson with a roar of hissing steam. The flames then crept through a partition, ignited the flimsy wooden office building and curled around the underpinning of pier 53. This, in spite of the fact that water had been pouring into the volcano at the rate of 15,000 gallons a minute since 9 o'clock and 6 fireboats and 30 land engines had been constantly on the job.

The fire started about 6 o'clock this morning when a watchman noticed smoke ascending from a burning pile of rubbish under pier 54, which stretches for 1,000 feet into the Hudson River on creosote-soaked piles. He attempted to stem it by hand methods and when he failed he merely telephoned to fire headquarters without turning in a regular alarm.

Before the first few companies had

Arthur H. Clephane, Member of Prominent Family, Is Held by Police.

Arthur Hamilton Clephane, 21, member of a well-known Washington family, was being held by police last night for questioning in connection with the series of shootings last February attributed to a "sniper." A charge of investigation was listed against him at the Fifth Precinct Station, where he was held.

Three .32-caliber guns, one an automatic and the other two revolvers, were found by police in Clephane's apartment. A blue overcoat, similar to the one worn by the slayer of Paul Riedel, Mount Pleasant street baker, was also found in the arrested man's quarters.

A pair of black goggles also was found in Clephane's apartment, police report, as well as a number of books dealing with crime, mystery and abnormal psychology.

Inspector Frank S. W. Burke, detective bureau chief, said last night

Lightning Hits Gasoline Tank; Blaze Is Raging

Lemont, Ill., May 6 (A.P.).—Two huge gasoline storage tanks burst into flames on the property of the Globe Oil & Refining Co. here late tonight after lightning had struck one. The first tank to ignite contained 2,500 barrels of gasoline.

The other, to which the flames leaped within a short time, contained approximately the same amount. More than 30 other large tanks containing gasoline and crude oil were endangered by the conflagration.

NAVAL BILL PASSED BY SENATE, 44 TO 21

(Associated Press.)

A Navy as big as treaties will allow was voted yesterday by the Senate.

By 44 to 21, the Hale bill to authorize building up the United States fleet to the limits set by the London and Washington conferences was approved and sent to the House.

A bipartisan line-up shoved it through despite the strong objections of opponents from both parties who described the bill as "militarism" and "a program of national suicide."

The bill carries no appropriation but the program that it would authorize involves approximately $1,000,000,000. The President would be authorized to suspend it upon conclusion of any new disarmament agreement.

The fight for the measure was led by Chairman Hale (Republican), Maine, of the naval committee, who introduced it early in the session.

In the debate, proponents of the bill asserted it would give notice to the world that the United States intends to have a Navy no less strong

Akron Poised for Cruise To Pacific by Tomorrow

Lakehurst, N. J., May 6 (A.P.).—The Navy dirigible Akron will leave on a cruise to the West Coast by sunrise Sunday, Lieut. Comdr. Charles E. Rosendahl said today.

The complete route has not been fixed, he said, but the Akron will head for the Southwest and will cross the Rocky Mountains west of El Paso, Tex., at an altitude of about 6,500 feet. The complement will number 64 men, including 15 officers, and two passengers.

Machine Guns Mow Down 9 In Chicago Labor Outbreak

Melrose Park Demonstration Against Alleged Police Brutality on May Day Ends in Pitched Battle; None Seriously Injured.

Chicago, May 6 (A.P.).—An attempted protest parade aftermath of a May Day disturbance in Melrose Park, western suburb, today ended with the wounding of nine participants by police-directed machine-gun fire.

None of the wounded was in a serious condition, all being shot in the legs. The officers seized several of the demonstrators and dispersed the rest. Many others were slightly hurt during the brief battle in the suburbs main business district. Immediately after the fight suburban authorities threw a mantle of secrecy over their activities and refused any information.

The demonstration today had been called by the Chicago section of the International Labor Defense to protest alleged police brutality last Sunday when a crowd of May Day demonstrators was scattered, its leader seized and allegedly handed over to a crowd of men to be beaten and thrown into a creek.

The Melrose Park police, anticipating trouble when the demonstrators started to move into that suburb after having been forbidden gathering in neighboring Bellwood, summoned assistance from Bellwood, Maywood, the Cook County highway police and the Melrose Park fire department.

Those wounded are John Helfitch, Paul Pelas, Otto Schultz, John W. Miller, Wes Swanson, Frank Valencak, John Wickstrom, Anton Bazozolkowski and one man who refused to give the hospital his name.

Assistant State's Attorney Edward H. Markham was driving through the suburb when the trouble started. After questioning police officials, and several of those arrested, Markham said he was convinced the machine

MEANS SOUGHT $35,000 MORE, ATTORNEY SAYS

JURY HEARS DETAILS OF PLAN TO GET BABY

(Associated Press.)

Topping off the strange story told yesterday before a grand jury of Gaston B. Means, mystery man of the Harding administration, receiving, and allegedly keeping himself, $100,000 to effect the return of the Lindbergh baby, a new ramification accused him of attempting to obtain $35,000 additional.

To avoid a spectacular public recital and consequent disclosure of its evidence, the Government took direct action to obtain an indictment.

It called before the District of Columbia grand jury, among others, the woman who handed over the money, Mrs. Edward B. McLean, wife of The Washington Post's publisher.

The jury will announce on Tuesday whether the bulky former Justice Department investigator who served more than three years in the Atlanta Penitentiary for attempted bribery and conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws, must stand trial on a charge of larceny after trust or be freed.

Suggested Pawning Jewels.

Meanwhile Albert W. Fox, attorney for Mrs. McLean, said Means had sought an additional [illegible],000, but she had refused to give it to him. Fox said the former Government agent told her the supposed kidnaper with whom he was dealing had $49,000 of marked money obtained from Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and that the $35,000 would bring the kidnaped baby to her hotel in El Paso, Tex. She had gone there on the promise that the baby would be brought from Mexico.

Fox said Means suggested that she pawn her jewelry to obtain the money, but she had already become dubious about Means' work and consulted her attorneys.

House Is Searched.

Late yesterday Department of Justice agents and Maryland police made a search of Means' house in Maryland near Washington.

The officers went thoroughly over the two-story structure and even tore up part of a small playhouse belonging to Means' little son. They would not say whether they found anything significant.

It was understood they were trying to find the $100,000 Mrs. McLean said she gave Means and also whether there was any truth to the colorful detective's reported statement that he was actually in touch at one time with the kidnapers of Lindbergh's baby.

Admits Receiving Money.

He readily admitted receiving the money, said he had worked for Mrs. McLean before "in Palm Beach and other places." He termed her a "fine woman and very motherly."

There was no larceny involved in the case, he said, explaining that

Canadian Is Executed In Rum Murder Plot

Sherbrooke, Que., May 6 (A.P.).—Convicted of murder in an international liquor running plot Albert St. Pierre, of Hereford, Quebec, was hanged today.

St. Pierre was charged with being the author of a plot which resulted in the death of Rene Malloy, of Norton Hills, Vt., November 11, 1930, when Malloy, his brother and another man were discovered seeking a cache of liquor on a farm at Hereford. The prosecution did not contend that St. Pierre fired the shot that killed Malloy, but maintained he deliberately sought to give Malloy the appearance of being a thief so he could be shot in apparent defense of property.

Beeler to Seek Senate Seat of Wesley Jones

Seattle, Wash., May 6 (A.P.).—Justice Adam Beeler, of the State Supreme Court, advised the Seattle Times today he had resigned to enter the Republican race for United States senator.

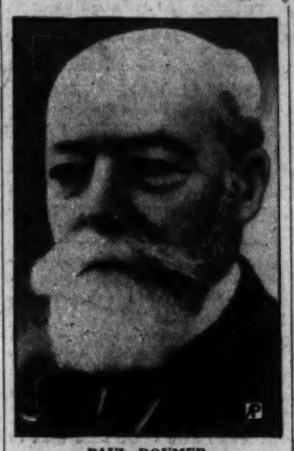
ASSASSIN'S SHOTS MAKE EFFORTS OF SURGEONS FUTILE



PAUL DOUMER.

RUSSIAN HOPED TO CAUSE WAR

He Had Nothing Against Doumer; Threatened by Angry Mob.

Paris, Saturday, May 7 (U.P.). Paul Doumer, thirteenth president of the French Republic, died today of wounds received at the hands of a fanatical Russian assassin.

Death struck shortly before 5 a. m., while members of his family and high government officials stood at the president's bedside in the public hospital to which he was removed after the shooting.

The end came peacefully as Doumer long since had fallen into a coma from the loss of blood.

Physicians who had watched over him all night announced at 4:40 a. m. that his coma had become so complete that the aged president's breathing was barely visible. Five minutes later a doctor stepped out of the sick room and told those in the corridor that Doumer had just died.

News Spreads Rapidly.

News that their beloved "pere" was gone passed quickly to the tens of thousands of countrymen who had maintained an anxious night-long vigil in the streets outside the hospital. Some of them knelt in prayer. Others bared their heads and walked slowly away.

Within a few hours of the end Doumer astonished physicians by his amazing resistance. At 2:30 a. m. they detected the cerebral hemorrhages that caused them to abandon hope.

The first rays of dawn were breaking over the city as an automobile hearse carried the body to the presidential palace.

Mme. Doumer left the hospital at 5 a. m., leaning heavily on the arm of her daughter. Her husband's body had preceded her to the palace along the same streets which he had traversed fourteen hours before en route to the charity book sale at the Rothschild mansion.

Body to Lie in State.

Although official announcement must await a meeting of Government dignitaries later today, it is likely that Doumer's state funeral will be held on Wednesday of next week. Meanwhile his body will lie in state a part of each day at the Elysee Palace.

It was announced that his apparently insane assassin, Dr. Paul Gorgoulof, would be charged with first degree murder.

In accordance with the constitution the national assembly must meet at Versailles within eight days to elect a successor to Doumer.

It is likely that Albert Le Brun, president of the Senate, will be named president of the republic. He has

CABINET IN GERMANY BEGINS RIGHT SWING

Dr. Warmbold Retires and Is Replaced by Nationalist, as Predicted.

Berlin, May 6 (A.P.).—The often predicted swing to the right in the German cabinet after President von Hindenburg's reelection began today with the retirement of Hermann Warmbold, minister of economics.

Dr. Warmbold, who has been in ill health for some time and wished to be relieved, was replaced by Dr. Karl Coerdeler, one of Dr. Alfred Hugenberg's Nationalists. Dr. Goerdeler is Mayor of Leipzig.

There were predictions that other shifts in the cabinet of Chancellor Heinrich Bruening will follow.

It was expected that the chancellor would turn over the foreign ministerial portfolio, which he himself has been holding since the retirement of Julius Curtius, to another. Constantin von Neurath, Ambassador to Great Britain, was most prominently mentioned for the post, but Dr. Bernhard von Buelow, state secretary, and Count Rudolf Madolny, Ambassador to Turkey, were also possibilities.

Gen. Wilhelm Groener, minister of defense and of the interior, probably will be relieved of one of those offices, and previously it had been predicted that he would hold his interior ministry.

There were no definite reports as to who would succeed to his defense post, if he were relieved of that portfolio.

France Speculates On Election Effect

Repercussion on Liberals Is Forecast Tomorrow in Vote for Deputies.

Paris, (Saturday), May 7 (A.P.).—All France was speculating today on the effects of the assassination of President Paul Doumer on the final election of the Chamber of Deputies tomorrow. Opinions in the lobbies of the chamber were that there would be little reaction in the balloting, but there seemed to be an undercurrent of belief that the radical Socialists (Liberals) might suffer some slight repercussion.

It was the radical Socialists of the veteran Edouard Herriot who made many gains in the preliminary election last Sunday at the expense of the Republicans of Premier Andre Tardieu. They took 63 seats, the greatest number of any party in that vote, which required a clear majority for election. A plurality will be sufficient tomorrow.

It was officially announced last evening that the record election to the Chamber of Deputies would not be put off, but held as scheduled.

Austrian Cabinet Falls After Fascists' Victory

Vienna, May 6 (A.P.).—The cabinet of Chancellor Karl Buresch fell today under the pressure of Fascist victories in the recent Austrian elections. The chancellor presented the resignations of all his associates to President Miklas and they were accepted with the stipulation that the chancellor's government continue in office until a successor could be formed.

A Rightist coalition, probably with Chancellor Buresch remaining at the helm, but with representatives of the Heimat bloc—the Fascist Heimwehr—also in the government, was predicted. Gov. Rintelen of Styria also was mentioned for the chancellorship, however.

CASTLE GIVES SCOPE OF HOOVER DOCTRINE

Special to The Washington Post.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 6.—The Hoover doctrine, which denies American recognition to any treaty or situation made in defiance of the Kellogg pact, can be applied to similar emergencies all over the world, Acting Secretary of State William R. Castle, jr., declared here tonight. He was the chief speaker before the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

For the first time this significant implication of the now famous doctrine of international law was officially recognized by the Acting Secretary of State. At the time the statement was originally made by Secretary of State Stimson last January, its scope was mainly the sphere of Japanese and Chinese influence in the Far East. Now, the importance of the declaration has been expanded far beyond these geographical limits and its application in any situation has been anticipated by the officials of the State Department.

Principal Extended to World.

Acting Secretary Castle said:

"The Government of the United States clearly extended the principle enunciated with respect to China and Japan to similar issues which might arise in any part of the world.

"In his open letter to Senator Borah, the Secretary of State added: 'If a similar decision should be reached and a similar position taken by other governments of the world, a caveat will be placed upon such action, which we believe will effectively bar the legality hereafter of any title or right sought to be obtained by pressure or treaty violation.'"

Mr. Castle then told of the quick response received to the Secretary's appeal.

"The invitation, I am glad to say, was immediately accepted by the League of Nations. In their statement they naturally laid the emphasis on the principles of the covenant of the league, but declared: 'It is incumbent upon the members of the League of Nations not to recognize any situation, treaty or agreement which may be brought about by means contrary to the covenant of the League of Nations,' which principles, as you will have noted, the league itself declared to be in harmony with the principles of the Kellogg pact."

Makes Plea for Idealism.

The Acting Secretary made an eloquent appeal for the influence of idealism and morality in international polity. This influence is best exemplified by the Kellogg pact, which President Hoover ardently fostered when he was only a member of the Cabinet and which he embodied in his discussions with the British prime minister, Ramsay MacDonald, in their Rapidan conversations.

"As a fellow member of the Cabinet, the President assisted Mr. Kellogg in putting the pact through—and this enthusiastically. The pact was a part of our national law and the President determined to make it a corner stone of our national policy. In the official statement of the conversations between the President and Mr. MacDonald occurs this highly significant phrase: 'In signing the Paris peace pact 56 nations have declared that war shall not be used as an instrument of national policy. We have agreed that all disputes shall be settled by pacific means. Both our governments resolve to accept the pact of Paris not only as a declaration of good intentions, but as a positive obligation to direct national policy in accordance with its pledge."

Hoover Lover of Peace.

"No man in the world is more sincerely a lover of peace than President Hoover. This has nothing to do with party politics, it has nothing to do whether you approve the man or not. But it is a demonstrable fact which history will record."

The aims of the American delegation at the general disarmament conference were then discussed by Mr. Castle. He decried the reports that had been circulated of the imminent breakdown of the negotiations. Then he said:

"There are clouds over the conference as there always are over every international conference. But we must not give way to despair of final results. I believe that, before the conference is over, shafts of the sunshine of common sense and of idealism will break through the clouds. The Secretary of State, in his discussions in Geneva with the various leaders has, I am sure, given a strong impulse to this high thinking out of which high action must come. The world too desperately needs relief from the burden of excessive armament, too earnestly expects the individuals who represent different nations in Geneva to give proof that they believe in the common brotherhood of man to permit them to fold their tents and return to their homes empty-handed, to permit a breakup without result. Listen to the pessimists if you must, but let the only effect of their pessimism make you pray more earnestly for success. You may be sure that the American delegation will leave not a stone unturned in the search for results."

Crude rubber, 5 cents a pound, $53,000,000.

Oil, coal, copper and lumber, $6,000,000.

Postal increase: 1 cent increase in first-class postage, 1922 rates on second-class postage and other minor changes, $160,000,000.

Total, $1,010,000,000.

Anticipated budget saving, $231,000,000.

Needed to balance budget in fiscal year 1933, $1,241,000,000.

agreed that all such taxes should expire on July 1, 1934, except the automobile taxes, which would be repealed August 1, 1934.

There were other changes voted by the committee. Secretary Mills estimated it would balance the budget if $231,000,000 were saved by cutting Federal expenditures. The Secretary's estimates of probable savings from this source have varied from week to week.

Mr. Mills, who had been in an impregnable position as a frank advocate of the capitalistic system as the best yet put in practice, weakened his case, however, when he told newspaper reporters that the necessary economies would be made even if Washington had to see a revolution. The fallacy of the Secretary's estimate lay in the fact that much less than 1 per cent of the Federal employes are in Washington, and that there is no other place in the Nation where a reduction of pay would rest so easily as on the Government employes in Washington. The Secretary obviously was talking for the campaign record.

Secretary Mills estimated the bill approved by the finance committee, each member of which seeks to disown it as any part of his handiwork, would raise $1,034,000,000 in revenue.

The committee, which several times has voted on the automobile taxes, voted again in the session yesterday and compromised between previous vote figures and those they voted in under the lacing of Secretary Mills. Automobiles, the committee said, are to be assessed a special sales tax of 4 per cent on passenger cars, 3 per cent on truck and 2 per cent on accessories. This is higher than the House rate, less than the rate previously approved by the committee and less than the rate recommended by the Treasury.

In the midst of its other changes in the income tax provisions the committee remembered that it had forgotten about the earned income provision of existing law and voted that exemption back into the bill.

As it finally was shaped the bill was approved by a vote of 13 to 4. The committee is to meet again next week. The final vote yesterday may or may not mean anything. Senator Reed Smoot (Republican), of Utah, chairman, said he expected to have the bill before the Senate early next week. That is just one week behind his first prediction.

Despite the apparent completion of the bill yesterday there were many interests active to have this or that provision reopened for consideration. Committee decision in the past has meant so little that the demands of these special interests may be acceded to and other changes may be written into the bill by the committee, a substantial proportion of whom would accept almost anything if assured that embargo tariffs for their especial pets were to be carried along.

HOOVER ASKS PEOPLE TO USE INFLUENCE ON CAPITOL HILL

rejecting many items in the economy bill. He thinks that if the people as a whole could be sounded out, they would not approve of many things done by the House. Hence his attempt to rally the people into a superlobby, one whose voice will drown out the pleas of those representing organized minorities.

The charge of lobbying has been indirectly hurled at the President himself. He is accused of having sent his secretary, Walter Newton, to the Capitol to urge defeat of the proposed merger of the Army and the Navy Departments.

Connally Pay-Cut Plan.

The charge was made first on Thursday by Representative McDuffie, of Alabama, the Democratic whip, and it was repeated yesterday by Representative Byrns, of Tennessee, Democratic chairman of the appropriations committee.

That there is to be a vigorous fight over Federal pay cuts when the economy bill comes up in the Senate is certain.

Yesterday Senator Tom Connally (Democrat), of Texas, introduced a bill to cut the salaries of all members of Congress from $10,000 to $7,500, which is 25 per cent, and reductions on other Government salaries as follows:

$1,500-$5,000, 10 per cent.
$5,000-$8,000, 15 per cent.
$8,000-$10,000, 20 per cent.
$10,000 and over, 25 per cent.

Senator Logan (Democrat), of Kentucky, offered an amendment to the economy, or legislative appropriation, bill to create a committee of five to reorganize the executive branch of the Government.

The committee would be composed of the President, the Speaker, the minority leader of the Senate, the comptroller general and the director of the budget.

Senator Kenneth McKellar (Democrat), of Tennessee, said he was glad the President "is now so interested in balancing the budget."

"He asks for nonpartisan action," continued McKellar. "This he has received in fullest measure from Democrats all during the session. My earnest suggestion is that he plead with members of his own Cabinet for cooperation and help in reducing expenses in their several departments. Up to now we have had the most active and intense opposition of all members of the Cabinet.

Nye Assails Propaganda.

"Who brought about this deficiency, this bankruptcy of the Treasury? Why, President Hoover and his administration. He wants us to remedy his mistakes by taxing the American people. I am 1,000 times more interested in cutting down Government expenditures."

Senator Gerald Nye (Republican), of North Dakota, charged that "propagandists" have driven Congress into a "hysteria" over balancing the budget. He singled out Merle Thorpe, editor of the Nation's Business, as one of the propagandists. Thorpe has been making radio addresses urging a balanced budget.

In the House, Representative Byrns said that no man is more responsible for the "emasculation of the economy bill than the President."

"One of his representatives buttonholed members of the House during debate on the Army-Navy consolidation bill, and if it hadn't been for that buttonholing the bill would have passed. The taxpayers, whether in the President's party or mine, are going to wonder why he was so long in making his statements."

What President Hoover failed to point out, Byrns said, was that the House appropriations committee has lopped off $161,000,000 from the appropriation estimates submitted by the President.

Representative Ralph Lozier (Democrat), of Missouri, pointed out that the Goldsborough stabilization bill, although cohdemned by Hoover, was supported by 149 Republicans in the House. He then went on to show how Republicans had done more to knock savings out of the economy bill than the Democrats.

Representative John Schafer (Republican), of Wisconsin, described Chairman Byrns, of the appropriations committee, as a "camouflage expert in economy," and said he ought to resign because of his "gross ignorance and incapability."

President Hoover appeared to be in fighting form at his press conference yesterday. Word had gone out that an important statement was to be issued, and a large gathering of reporters was present.

Before the conference started, a reporter said to the President:

"A message a day, Mr. President?"

"Yes," said the President, with a smile, "and they are getting better."

As he began reading his statement, the smile disappeared.

"That is all," he said at the end.

President's Statement On Balancing Budget

and possibilities for both economy and revenue have been presented and are known in every detail.

This is not a controversy between the President and Congress or its members. It is an issue of the people against delays and destructvie legislation which impair the credit of the United States. It is also an issue between the people and the locust swarm of lobbyists who haunt the halls of Congress seeking selfish privilege for special groups and sections of the country, misleading members as to the real views of the people by showers of propaganda.

What is urgently required is immediate action upon and conclusion of these questions. This is a serious hour which demands that all elements of the Government and the people rise with stern courage above partisanship to meet the needs of our national life.

MENTAL TESTS HELD NEARER FOR DRIVERS

Motor Car Administrators to Study System Before October Session.

By WILLIAM ULLMAN.

Psychologic tests for motor car drivers, among them the automobile owners of the District of Columbia, may be regarded as a step nearer as a result of the two-day convention of the Eastern Conference of Motor Vehicle Administrators which closed here yesterday. Every member of the conference, including W. A. Van Duzer, director of vehicles and traffic of the District of Columbia, will make a thorough study of the mental tests which are in use in Connecticut before the organization convenes here again in October.

At that time there is believed to be a strong likelihood that the motor vehicle administrators will give their formal ratification to this novel development in the licensing of motor vehicle operators. The new attitude toward the mental measurement of drivers on the part of the conference is in sharp contrast to that of a year ago. The success of the system in Connecticut, however, has been such as to evoke a change of sentiment, members of the conference admitted at the meeting just closed.

Modified Two Years.

The test, developed by Robbins B. Stoeckel, motor vehicle commissioner of Connecticut, in cooperation with Prof. Mark May, head of the psychology department of Yale University and many other noted scientists, has undergone constant modification for nearly two years. Today it is felt to be working effectively in enabling the State to select those mentally fit to operate motor vehicles and to weed out those psychologically unable to cope with modern traffic conditions. Keen interest in current results were voiced by the representative of every one of the sixteen States and the District of Columbia at the conference.

In selecting Washington for its October meeting, the conference departed from its traditional procedure of never holding its two yearly meetings in the same city. The selection, however, was based upon the fact that the fall gathering will be held coincidentally with the National Safety Congress, in which the motor vehicle commissioners will play a prominent part.

Growth in Traffic.

Informing the motor vehicle officials that they could expect a tremendous growth in all forms of traffic, Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the United States Bureau of Public Roads, exhorted the conference to act immediately on the commercial vehicle problem. There is a need for uniform agreement between the States on the physical specifications of such vehicles engaged in interstate commerce, he said, and unless the individual States acted on the subject, the Federal Government will assume jurisdiction.

Advantages and disadvantages of three motorist insurance methods—financial responsibility, compulsory liability insurance and compulsory compensation insurance—were laid before the conference members by a special committee in the form of a report which made no specific recommendation. The report will be studied by the organization and further action taken at the October session.

Motor Car Speed.

The conference voted active participation in two Nation-wide safety undertakings this year. They are the National Safety Congress to be held in Washington in October and the campaign of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters. Harold G. Hoffman, New Jersey motor vehicle commissioner, and George R. Wellington, Rhode Island, will direct the conference's participation in the former event.

The committee of six motor vehicle officials who will meet with motor vehicle manufacturers in an effort to earn their support for less emphasis upon motor-car speed advertising and for increasing safety in car design was named at the closing session of the meeting. It includes those members of the conference who have been most active in this aspect of improving highway safety. Robbins B. Stoeckel is chairman of the group. Other members are Mr. Hoffman, Benjamin G. Eynon, Pennsylvania; J. P. Bickell, Ontario; Chalmers Wilson, Ohio, and Charles M. McCabe, Tennessee.

Headquarters Here.

An effort to make the conference national in scope, to increase its membership to include the motor vehicle commissioners of every State, will be undertaken prior to the fall meeting. Such an enlarged organization, functioning through sectional groups with one national meeting annually, would constitute one of the most powerful agencies in the field of traffic safety, members of the conference feel.

Two national organizations with headquarters in Washington, the American Motorists Association and the American Road Builders Association, were hosts to the conference delegates at luncheon yesterday.

Wild Auto Plunge Fails to Kill Man

Driver Is in Hospital After Car Leaps Bank and Whirls 50 Feet.

Bernard R. Widmyer, 22 years old, a mechanic, of 1343 L street northwest, had an amazing escape from death yesterday morning when his car was wrecked near Bethesda, Md., on the Rockville pike.

Returning home from the Winchester apple blossom festival about 3 o'clock yesterday morning, his car ran off the road, down a 20-foot embankment, struck a tree and tore off the two front wheels and then somersaulted 50 feet into an adjacent meadow. The car was demolished.

Widmyer dragged himself to the residence of Lieut. Comdr. William Justice Lee, U. S. N. R., about two blocks away, where he remained until Montgomery County Policemen Windsor C. Poole and Roy Davis arrived to take him to Georgetown Hospital.

At the hospital it was found that he had suffered a broken arm, cuts and lacerations on the face and scalp and shock, but his condition was reported as not serious last night.

Optometrists Renamed to Board.

Dr. Lewis H. Kraskin and Dr. M. Luther Dicus were reappointed to the District Board of Optometry for terms of three years each yesterday by order of the District Commissioners.

Autopsy Is Held In Woman's Death

Certificate Not Issued in Case of Mrs. Odenwall, Found in Bathroom.

An autopsy was held last night in an effort to determine the cause of death of Mrs. Mae N. Odenwall, 41 years old, who was found dead in the bathroom of her apartment at 1400 Fairmont street northwest yesterday morning. A single gas burner in the kitchen, 35 feet away, was turned on. Mrs. Odenwall had been in ill health for several months.

A certificate was not issued in the death, pending a report on a chemical analysis of the vital organs. The woman's body was discovered when residents of an apartment complained of smelling gas. Bedford Scott, janitor, traced the gas to Mrs. Odenwall's apartment and entered to find her body on the bathroom floor.

Mrs. Odenwall apparently had been dead about twelve hours. She is survived by her father, George W. Bursey, and two sisters, Miss Virginia Bursey and Mrs. Clara Attick, and Private Robert W. Bursey, of the Second Precinct.

GLASS IS NOT EAGER FOR PLATFORM JOB

Senator Asserts He Is Not Candidate Against Byrd for Arduous Task.

(Associated Press.)

Senator Glass let it be known yesterday he is not seeking election as Virginia's member of the Democratic national convention platform committee, a position he has held before.

And as to suggestions of rivalry between himself and former Gov. Harry F. Byrd for the office, the senator is amused.

"There is not one partical of justification for the supposition that any such thing exists," he said smilingly, adding:

"On the contrary, Gov. Byrd personally appealed to me some time ago to accept the position should it be tendered me by the Virginia delegation."

He did not tell what he replied, but said he is "cheerfully willing to be overlooked in the matter."

"In my view," he commented, "the task is not one to be eagerly sought after."

About the matter, the senator speaks with authority. He was chairman of the committee in 1920 and again served on it in 1928.

Preece Horse Show Will Open Today

50 Juveniles to Participate in First Program; 9 Events Set for Afternoon.

The Society Horse Show of the Preece Riding Club will open officially at 10 o'clock this morning when the note of the hunting horn announces the entrance into the ring of juvenile riders in the first of nine events scheduled for the morning card.

More than 50 youngsters will show their mounts and compete for the cups and ribbons to be awarded best rider. There will be three groups arranged according to age. Other classes include the open pair, open jumping, open saddle and hunt teams for children 16 years and under. In addition there is an open jumping class for children 10 years and under, and the lead-in class for tiny tots 4 years and under who will be led around the ring on their ponies by a parent or relative. Cups will be awarded on performance only in all events with the exception of the hunt teams, in which appointments count 25 per cent and performance 75 per cent.

The afternoon program, consisting of nine events, will get under way at 2:30 o'clock, the first class being for thoroughbred hunters to be shown in hand.

CASH BONUS DEFEAT TO GET NEW HEARING

ply to table the bills so a petition may be filed.

Representative Rainey, the Democratic leader, said after the committee was recalled:

"I am satisfied with today's action."

The revenue committee met behind closed doors for nearly two hours before its decision was disclosed to waiting newspapermen and a handful of disappointed veterans. The entire committee was recorded on the final vote.

Representative Rainey, the Democratic leader, who will file the adverse reports on the bonus bills, said the committee's decision should "quiet business fears of fiat money."

The committee vote on the Patman plan, amended to include an issue of bonds for controlling the purchasing power of the new dollars, was 14 to 11. The vote on reporting all the bills unfavorably was:

Ayes, 15.

Republicans (10)—Hawley, of Oregon; Treadway, of Massachusetts; Bacharach, of New Jersey; Hadley, of Washington; Timberlake, of Colorado; Watson, of Pennsylvania; McLaughlin, of Michigan; Chindblom, of Illinois; Crowther, of New York, and Aldrich, of Rhode Island.

Noes, 10.

Democrats (10) — Doughton, of North Carolina; Hill, of Washington; Canfield, of Indiana; Cullen and Sullivan, of New York; Sanders, of Texas; Eslick, of Tennessee; McCormack, of Massachusetts; Dickinson, of Missouri, and Vinson, of Kentucky.

Ragon, though voting for the adverse reports, was the eleventh Democrat to vote for the Patman bill.

After the committee action, Representative Patman (Democrat), Texas, said:

"Everything possible to be done will be done to get the bonus issue before the House."

MRS. H. H. LUND ASKS BLACK BILL PASSAGE

Forward-to-Land Founder Favors Settling Destitute on Farms.

By JAMES WALDO FAWCETT.

Mrs. Haviland H. Lund, founder of the National Forward to the Land League, appeared yesterday before the labor committee of the House of Representatives in support of the Black bill to authorize the Secretary of Labor to use unemployment funds for settling the destitute of the cities on farms.

Mrs. Lund expressed the fear that the plans outlined in the bill for cooperation between the department of Labor and the Federal Land Banks might come to grief. Such cooperation, she believed, should be closely scrutinized. "The taxpayers ought to be warned against putting up more money," she said, "to pull Land Bank chestnuts out of the fire. William E. Mumphrey, of the Federal Trade Commission, has asserted that the Land Banks made loans riotously.

"These loans were frequently determined by political expediency. In some cases they went as high as 90 per cent of the then high prices of farm land. It is fortunate for the Land Banks that the depression came along to give them an excuse for taking over these millions of acres of mortgaged land."

Loss Write-Off Asked.

Urging that the Land Banks be required to write off their losses and sell their land in competition with the open market, Mrs. Lund declared that otherwise it is inadvisable to buy land from them.

Long a student of the problem, Mrs. Lund explained that in 1930 she had submitted to Assistant Secretary of Labor Robe Carl White, a plan for settling the unemployed upon the land as a relief expedient. Mr. White at that time had felt that the scheme was impracticable because of the opposition of the Department of Agriculture.

Mrs. Lund recounted the successes and difficulties which the National Forward to the Land League had met. She named President Harding, Ambassador Herrick, Vice President Curtis, Secretary of War Weeks, Senators Smoot, Wadsworth, Sheppard and Chamberlain, Representatives Summers, McFadden, Parker, and Batherick, Carl Vrooman, William H. Humphrey and Thomas Nixon Carver as among the distinguished workers in behalf of the league idea. The plan called for the establishment of rural communities with private ownership and voluntary cooperation as opposed to Government aid.

Mrs. Lund told how she had been placed on the national Republican committee in 1917 to create a permanent committee on agriculture. This committee was the forerunner of the present committee of the national Republican organization. The plan, she said, was wrecked by the opposition of persons she described as "prominent Socialists who masquerade as Republicans."

Internationalism Scored.

"The political trend during the past few years," Mrs. Lund declared, "has been away from nationalism and individual effort—the things that made our Nation great—and toward a maudlin internationalism and a willingness to lean upon Uncle Sam. This means tragic taxes and rural bankruptcy. The international banker is responsible for various legislative acts which have developed this gigantic bureaucracy for farm relief. Their methods have bankrupt the farmers and well-nigh bankrupted the Federal Treasury."

Mrs. Lund called for the investigation of organizations working to influence public opinion toward internationalism and pacifism. She demanded the source of the funds spent by these organizations in their propaganda work, and expressed the belief that international bankers are supporting religious, welfare and commercial associations laboring to break down national defense and national industry.

A congressional investigation of these forces is imperative, she said. She affirmed that "It is time to make a distinction between capital that is nationally minded and constructive and capital that is international in its scope and whose only concern is a quick profit, regardless of the destruction of national well-being."

Black Bill Is Urged.

She argued against putting colonization under Government control, but said the emergency warrants the passage of the Black bill, provided it is amended so that the unemployment funds will be used to establish a unit of rural experts to function quite outside any Government department. Only such a new unit could secure the cooperation of Government bureaus, which is necessary to the success of the plan.

She pleaded for freedom from interdepartmental jealousy and political pressure and warned against wasteful policies adding to the tax burden of the people.

In the discussion following Mrs Lund's testimony she was asked to be more specific in her complaint against international capital. She replied that she believed that agents of the Russian Soviet have secured positions in the Government service, and gave the committee the name of one important officer whose law firm has acted for Soviet interests in America. She repeated her demand for a congressional investigation of radical and pacifist propaganda groups.

Rumors He'll Quit Denied by Patrick

Renamed to Public Utilities Board, General Says He Will Serve.

Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, will serve another three-year term if confirmed by the Senate, he said yesterday after his reappointment had been announced by President Hoover. This announcement sets aside prevalent rumors that Gen. Patrick would retire at the expiration of his present term on June 30.

Gen. Patrick, who has been the target of attacks at congressional committee hearings and in the House of Representatives because of actions of the Public Utilities Commission, chiefly its promulgation of the meter order for taxicabs, would lose a yearly retirement salary of $6,000 if the proposal to ban double pay for retired service officers in the District government were adopted. He draws $7,500 for his post on the commission.

First appointed in 1929, Gen. Patrick succeeded John W. Childress. At the time of his retirement from the Army he was chief of the Air Service.

POSTAL RENTS COST U. S. 12.5 PER CENT

Senate Committee Presents Report After Two Years of Investigation.

(Associated Press.)

The Senate's two-year investigation of postoffice leases culminated yesterday with the presentation of evidence that the Government is leasing 51 buildings at annual rentals that amount to 12.5 per cent of the value of the properties.

These conclusions were based on appraisals of the properties by the Manufacturers' Appraisal Co., of Philadelphia, under direction of the special committee making the inquiry.

Walter W. Pollock, president of the company, submitted results showing the Government pays $2,199,470 annually for 51 buildings valued at $17,606,354.

Appraisals by Committee.

The committee ordered its own appraisals after Postmaster General Brown last year refused to furnish the department's figures.

Based on the committee's appraisals, the annual rentals range from 6.5 per cent for the Wall Street Station in New York to 28 per cent for the Quincy Station in Chicago.

Chairman Blaine said Mr. Brown had testified that 8 per cent was "rather a high return."

The appraisals will be made available to the Postoffice Department, the Budget Bureau and J. R. McCarl, Comptroller General.

The chairman cited the Quincy Station as "an outstanding example" of the evils of the postal leasing policy. The Quincy appraisal was $435,000 and the Government is paying $123,500 on a long non-cancellable lease with an option to buy at $1,450,000.

Higher Appraisal Cited.

In November, 1925, Chairman Blaine said F. J. Bachelder & Co. appraised the property for the purpose of refinancing it at $1,589,000 and bonds totalling $1,200,000 were issued on the basis of this valuation.

The same company in 1928, he said, again valued the property for another financing project and found its value to be $1,805,000. Additional bonds totalling $950,000 were to be issued on the basis of this valuation, but were never put out.

Questioned about this valuation Mr. Pollock said, "We don't regard that sort of appraisal work as 'ethical.'"

Chairman Blaine remarked that the Bachelder appraisal was about four hundred per cent of Mr. Pollock's.

The rentals paid by the Government on the Quincy Station, Chairman Blaine added, were sufficient to replace the property in four years.

American Consul Weds Capital Girl

Miss Gretchen A. Daniel, of Washington, Married to R. P. Butrick.

St. John, New Brunswick, May 6 (U. P.).—Miss Gretchen Alice Daniel, society girl of Washington, D. C., and daughter of Zachary Clarence Daniel, of Staunton, Va., was married here today to Richard Porter Butrick, United States Consul in St. John, New Brunswick, who has just been appointed to the consulate at Shanghai, China. Mr. Butrick is a son of the late William Wallace Butrick and Mrs. Willis, of Lockport, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Butrick expect to leave next week for Shanghai.

Previous to coming to St. John, the groom was stationed in Washington with the Department of State, Division of Far Eastern Affairs. Before that he was at Hankow, China, for five years.

Mrs. Butrick, prior to her marriage, resided in Washington with her sister, Mrs. Earle Wallik, of 4515 Cathedral avenue.

NINE HURT BY GUNS IN CHICAGO OUTBREAK

gun was fired into the front rank of the demonstrators only after a hand-to-hand struggle with police and a drenching by the fire department had failed to disperse them.

Firemen played streams of water upon the crowd, he said, when Twenty-third avenue and Lake street, a business corner, was reached. Then a shot was fired by a demonstrator, Markham said. Instantly fighting started. Police clubbed heads of front-rank demonstrators, while many of the latter were reported seen wielding knives, clubs, stones and firearms.

A score or more of shots were fired between the battling factions before the Melrose Park police wheeled into formation along a curbing and the machine gun was fired. The demonstrators fled, leaving seven wounded. The other two wounded hobbled away and later went to the hospital.

that other "circumstantial" angles have been uncovered which warranted a serious questioning of Clephane. He said arrest of the young man came as the culmination of a two weeks' investigation by the homicide squad detectives.

The parents of Clephane are said to be dead, and for five months, it was learned, he has maintained bachelor quarters at the Valley Vista. A married sister, Mrs. C. J. Owens, lives at 2314 Ashmead place northwest. A grandmother is also said to live there.

Walter Clephane, prominent attorney, of 6000 Connecticut avenue, Chevy Chase, Md., is an uncle of the arrested youth. The attorney came to police headquarters last night and conferred for nearly an hour with Inspector Burke. The nature of the discussion was not disclosed. The lawyer would not discuss the matter with reporters.

Among the crimes assigned to the activities of the sniper was the wounding of a middle-aged, Agriculture Department official as he walked near his home after an errand to the nearby bakery of Riedel. The shooting of this man took place two days before the slaying of Riedel.

On the night of the Riedel killing, in which as in the shooting of the Government official a .32-caliber gun was used, a store in the 4500 block of Wisconsin avenue was held up and robbed by a youth wearing goggles and holding what appeared to be a .32-caliber gun.

A coincidence was noted yesterday in the arrest of young Clephane. On the night of the Government official's wounding, Clephane reported to police that a mysterious man had pointed a gun at him as he brought his car to a halt at a traffic sign at Ontario road and Lanier place. At that time Clephane said that the gun leveled at him apparently misfired.

MELLON SEES TRADE ON SOUNDER BASIS

Ambassador Quotes 4-Word Sermon of Morgan, "Never Sell America Short."

London, May 6 (A.P.).—J. P. Morgan's four-word sermon, "Never sell America short," was preached again today by United States Ambassador Mellon to a gathering of bankers and business men at a luncheon in London's City Hall.

"A great and patriotic American who lived much in England and loved his country once said to a compatriot, 'Never sell America short,'" said Mr. Mellon.

"I would reiterate what Mr. Morgan said then, and I would apply it to England no less than to my own country.

"None of us has any means of knowing when or how we shall emerge from the Valley of Depression in which the world is now traveling. But I do know that, as in the past, a day will come when we shall find ourselves on a more solid economic foundation and the onward march of progress will be resumed."

The ambassador said that often it is difficult to obtain a true picture on one side of the ocean of what is happening on the other.

"Over here," he said, "you read that our Congress is having difficulty balancing the budget, and one is apt to get an impression that there is a lack of will on the part of either the Congress or the country, whereas the opposite is the case. The country has determined that the Government shall set its own house in order and that the public credit shall be protected at all costs."

Mr. Mellon said President Hoover "has shown leadership of the highest order," and when the full effect of the legislation he has inspired is felt, "banking and business organizations will be in position to take advantage of any improvement in the general situation when it comes."

Guests observed that Mr. Mellon drank whisky and soda during the meal.

Some surprise was noted when the customary toast to the President of the United States was omitted, and only the king was toasted, after which the guests began to smoke.

AS FIREBOATS FOUGHT PIER BLAZE IN NEW YORK

CHAMBERS DISAGREE ON SUPPLY MEASURE

(Associated Press.)

The House yesterday disagreed to the Senate amendments to the supply bill for the State, Justice, Commerce and Labor Departments and asked for a conference.

The Senate cut the bill from $124,215,992 to $111,792,939 under its 10 per cent slashing program, but also inserted several amendments to which the Democratic leadership objected.

Although it was explained the Democratic leaders did not object to the economy effected, they were opposed to the striking out of many House restrictions on appropriations.

The Senate cut $1,000,000 of the $41,000,000 fund for prohibition enforcement.

Creation of a committee of five to plan reorganization of the executive branches of the Government was proposed yesterday in an amendment to the House economy bill introduced by Senator Logan (Democrat), Kentucky.

Logan's amendment would take the place of sections giving the President limited authority to reorganize Federal agencies for economy.

The amendment incorporates all the provisions of a bill he recently introduced for setting up the committee, whose members would be the President, Speaker of the House, Senate minority leader, comptroller general and budget director.

Witness Resumes Wilkerson Attack

Testimony Is Continued by Labor Representative Before Senators.

(Associated Press.)

Donald R. Richberg, attorney for the Railway Labor Executives Association, yesterday resumed before a Senate committee an attack upon the nomination of Judge James H. Wilkerson, of Chicago, for promotion to the circuit court.

Richberg told the committee his previous testimony had not brought out all that he intended. He promised to produce "evidence which will show the part played by Judge Wilkerson in giving aid and comfort to those corrupting forces that have made government in Chicago a mockery of law and order and a national disgrace."

Wilkerson sentenced Al Capone to prison and his confirmation has been recommended to the full judiciary committee by the subcommittee under Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, before which Richberg appeared yesterday.

NEW YORK PIER FIRE LOSS IS IN MILLIONS

arrived the flames were manifestly out of control. Dense smoke was rolling across Lower Manhattan and the highly inflammable pilings were shooting fingers of flame 50 feet into the air. A second, third, fourth and fifth alarm was turned in and presently every available piece of apparatus was clanging to the scene.

By noon all hope of saving the first dock had been abandoned and the fire forces concentrated on protecting other waterfront property, even then in peril. The French liner De Grasse, tied up two piers away, was moved into the river. The Anchor liner was shifted down stream to another pier.

There were heroics aplenty. A pneumatic drill squad, equipped with asbestos coats and gas masks, drilled eight manholes through a foot of solid concrete and asphalt on Pier 54 while the flames licked at their bodies. Firemen then descended to the space between the water and the floor and —eyes smarting, lungs tortured—directed streams of water into the very heart of the blaze.

As they staggered out in relays they were treated at an emergency hospital and went back to the job in their turn. Other volunteers dashed along the pier into the thick of the flames, their rubber boots melting on the griddle, and heaved open five doors so that the fireboats could operate more efficiently.

3 Get Promotions In Fire Department

Police Private Also Is Made Sergeant by Authority of Commissioners.

Three promotions in the Fire Department and one in the Police Department were authorized yesterday by the District Commissioners. Lieut. William Trent was given the rank of captain to fill a vacancy in the Fire Department. Sergt. F. E. Barber was promoted to the rank of lieutenant, and Private W. A. White was made a sergeant. William C. Boiseau was appointed a private.

In order to fill a police vacancy created by the promotion of George M. Little to the rank of lieutenant Private Robert J. Fraser was made a sergeant. Private Sigurd Ostenso of the Second Precinct was assigned to duty as a precinct detective.

The Commissioners approved the suspension of Private James D. Bennett, of the Fourth Precinct, for failure to communicate with the station and for intoxication while on duty.

Patrol Cars Must Keep Tops Down

Edwards Explains Reasons for Rule Complained Of by Woman.

The District Commissioners turned thumbs down yesterday on the proposal that police cruising in patrol cars be permitted to keep the tops of the cars up or else use sedans.

Answering a complaint made by Mrs. Sidney A. Wiseman, of 1304 Kenilworth avenue northeast, against an order that "all cars except those equipped with radios be operated with tops down except during heavy rain," Assistant Supt. Lewis I. H. Edwards said:

"Officers in cars with tops down can observe what is going on better than in a car with top up, which increases their efficiency. Officers going on duty in cold weather dress accordingly and it is not felt that it imposes any hardship on them."

SON STILL MISSING AFTER FATAL CRASH

Allan Gruver, Driver of Car Which Killed Mother, Believed in Daze.

Police of Fairfax County, Va., have enlisted the aid of radio, fire departments, Boy Scouts and volunteers in attempt to locate Allan Gruver, 19-year-old son of Mrs. Elizabeth Gruver, of Hyattsville, Md. Mrs. Gruver was killed Thursday morning in an automobile accident on the Little River turnpike several miles west of Fairfax.

No trace of the youth had been found last night following a 36-hour search of the dense woods nearby the scene of the accident. The boy was the driver of the car which turned over, causing the death of his mother and injuring his father and sister, Marjorie, and Miss Elizabeth Cage, of Brentsville, Md.

The youth was badly cut by glass in the accident and persons who helped him from the wreckage said that after looking at his mother's body he appeared to be in a dazed condition. He was led to a nearby farmhouse and given first-aid treatment for his wounds. He left the house and started toward the woods. He was seen again about 3 o'clock the same afternoon, when he returned to the scene of the accident for a few minutes, but ran away into the woods again when a car approached.

Police, fearing that the youth had lost his mind either from shock or a blow on the head, continued their search, assisted by persons from Hyattsville.

MANCHOUKUO'S HEAD SEES U. S. PARALLEL

Former Boy Emperor Tells His Plans to Institute National Reforms.

(Copyright, 1932, by the Associated Press.)

Changchun, Manchuria, May 6.—Henry Pu-Yi, erstwhile boy Emperor of China, in an exclusive interview today likened the young state of Manchoukuo to the United States in its infancy.

The last of the famous Manchus, who so long bent China and Manchuria to their will, spent an hour detailing the hopes, aims, anticipations and accomplishments of Manchoukuo.

The new state, he said, now barely two months old, had met all expectations to date, and in the future would stress governmental, monetary and educational reforms.

Recalling America's struggle for independence, he emphasized that the overthrow of British rule was not accomplished overnight. He foresaw a long struggle ahead, but a successful one to accomplish a separate entity for Manchuria in the family of nations.

Holds Chang Knew Failure.

Mr. Pu-Yi received the correspondent in the former Salt Administration Building here, which now is the executive mansion. Although he speaks English, the new chief executive preferred to be interviewed through a Chinese secretary-interpreter.

He started out by saying that the war lord, Chang Hsiao-Liang, who ruled Manchuria before him, well realized that he would never be able to return to Mukden, his old capital.

"Down in his heart," Mr. Pu-Yi said, "Chang knows that the government he gave the people was unfair—that his people were greatly overtaxed and had little or no freedom.

"If Chang's government had been on the square there never would have been any third party interference. The Japanese never would have had occasion to take a hand in affairs in defense of Japanese lives and interests.

(The Japanese military took over control of most of Manchuria after several violent incidents on the South Manchuria Railway, and sponsored the regime of Mr. Pu-Yi.)

Plans Schools and Sports.

Pointing out that Manchoukuo planned to reduce taxes by one-half, he said, Chang collected approximately $20,000,000 in gold in taxes annually, 90 per cent of which went to keep up the military.

Perfectly at home in his new role, Mr. Pu-Yi talked at ease of prospective monetary reforms, including a silver system in the central paying bank established here with a capital of $20,000,000 Mexican (somewhat less than $10,000,000).

The chief executive of the new state said education would proceed in accordance with the Oriental spirit of culture, combined with the best modern ideas.

"Our aim is plenty of schools for the little fellows, so as to give them a good start in life—a good foundation for the future. This was one of old China's weaknesses. Sports will be emphasized."

The correspondent addressed Mr. Pu-Yi as "your majesty," although Chinese and Japanese officials call him "chief executive" or "chief of state." His exact title has never been clear.

The new ruler apepared to be in excellent health and said he hoped some day to visit America.

15 Per Cent Wage and Salary Cut Begins on May 15; Bethlehem Follows.

New York, May 6 (A.P.).—Employes of the United States Steel Corporation and its subsidiaries will receive a 15 per cent cut in their wages and salaries, effective May 15.

Announcement of the reduction, the second to be made by the company during this depression, came this afternoon in a brief statement. The news occasioned no surprise in business or financial circles, although some quarters had felt that the cut, long believed inevitable, would amount to 10 per cent, which was the size of its October 1 predecessor.

Eugene Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, in a one-sentence statement, said: "Bethlehem will make adjustments in wage and salary rates similar to that announced by the U. S. Steel Corporation."

There was no official word, either as to the number of workers now employed by the U. S. Steel Corporation or the size of its pay roll, so that it was impossible to determine exactly what saving in operating costs would be effected.

The annual report for 1931 showed that 182,156 persons were employed by the corporation in the final quarter of last year and that of this total 146,482 were on part time. Salaries and wages in 1931 amounted to $266,871,413, on which basis the cut would amount to about $40,000,000.

It is understood, however, that the pay roll is now smaller, due to part-time operations. Nevertheless, it was estimated in Wall street that savings from the reduction should be sufficient to pull the corporation out of the red.

What action other large steel companies would take was not disclosed, but it was recalled that U. S. Steel had been first to make a cut last fall.

U. S. Steel's announcement came ten days after omission of dividends on its common stock and after publication of a first quarter financial statement showing an operating deficit for that period of more than $13,000,000, the largest loss in its history.

The corporation made three wage reductions in the 1921 depression.

Manchuria Withdraws Arrest Threat on Koo

Changchun, Manchuria, May 6 (A.P.).—The authorities of the new Manchurian government decided today to withdraw their warrant for the arrest of Dr. Wellington Koo, Chinese assessor with the League of Nations investigating commission.

This action was taken on the understanding that the Earl of Lytton, commission chairman, would give every assurance that Dr. Koo and his five associates would refrain from political activities during the investigators' trip to North Manchuria. When the commission leaves for Kirin tomorrow Dr. Koo will go along. It will be his first trip beyond the South Manchuria Railway zone since he landed at Dairen.

TRAGEDY FOLLOWED CAREER OF DOUMER

Sacrificed Four Sons in War; Nation Honored Him Freely.

Paris, May 7 (U.P.).—Paul Doumer, the second French President to die by assassination, enjoyed more honors and suffered greater tragedy during the 44 years of his political career than perhaps any other distinguished Frenchman.

A quiet, sagacious politician, sometimes compared to Calvin Coolidge, Doumer first entered Parliament in 1888 and for the rest of his life, with brief exceptions, held political positions.

The story of his sacrifice of four sons in the World War is tragic even in France, where every family felt some loss in the four years of fighting.

His first son, a young artillery officer, died in the early days of warfare. Two other sons started in the trenches and, when they had been gravely wounded, volunteered for aviation service. Both rose to the rank of captain and both fell in the same combat in the skies.

The fourth son, a major, died a few days after the armistice of the effects of gas inhaled while caring for wounded comrades.

Doumer was born March 22, 1857, at Aurillac, Department of Cantal. He became a professor and then a journalist and finally entered political life as chief of staff of M. Floquet, then president of the chamber. He entered Parliament from Chateau Thierry in 1889, but was defeated the next year. In 1890 he returned as deputy from Laon.

Finance Minister in 1895.

His first cabinet portfolio was minister of finance in 1895, when he drafted the first income tax project. He was governor of Indo-China from 1896 to 1902 and, after returning to Parliament, was elected president of the Chamber of Deputies in 1906.

It was in that year that he was first a candidate for the presidency and was defeated by M. Fallieres. In 1912 he entered the Senate, representing Corsica, and was returned in 1921. He was frequently a cabinet minister, serving chiefly as minister of finance under the late Aristide Briand. Later he became president of the Senate.

His election to the presidency was something of a surprise last June. Briand was slated for the post—a reward for his long years of service at the Quai d'Orsay. He appeared certain of election and, with his chauffeur carrying the formal clothes required, appeared at Versailles to accept the presidency. The national assembly, composed of both houses of Parliament, however, contained many foes of Briand and at the last minute there was a wild revolt against him. Doumer was elected.

The thirteenth president of the republic, with the exception of Thiers, was the oldest man ever chosen to head the government. He was an ardent patriot and believed no sacrifice too great for France.

Considered Brilliant Orator.

He was never a brilliant orator, but his white spade beard and his austere appearance gave him dignity and authority to bolster his political skill. His clothes were always meticulously correct and in the tradition of his office, although after his election to the presidency he refused to wear full evening dress on all occasions as had once been the custom for presidents.

He rose early, often at 5 a. m., and was a teetotaler. He married at the age of 21 and had nine children.

The only other French president ever assassinated was Sadi Carnot, who was slain in June, 1894, but two other presidents had been attacked. Loubet escaped death when a bomb exploded near the carriage in which he was riding with King Alfonso XIII of Spain, in Paris in 1905; the anarchist Jouvet shot at, but missed, President Millerand in Paris in 1922.

The late Georges Clemenceau, wartime premier, was twice wounded by an assassin and the famous Socialist leader, Jean Jaures, was killed on the eve of the World War in 1914.

The death of Doumer compels the summoning of a national assembly at Versailles immediately. There is no vice president and a successor must be selected by a new vote. Theodore Steeg, Senate President Albert Lebrun, and Chamber President Fernand Bouisson are the most likely candidates at present.

Assassin Adherent Of Terrorist Band

Prague Acquaintances Describe Life in Russia of Gorgouloff.

Prague, Czechoslovakia, May 6 (U. P.).—Paul Gorgouloff, who shot President Doumer, of France, was described by acquaintances tonight as "a well-known adherent of terrorism during the civil war in Russia."

He was said to have led the so-called green army corps, consisting of irregulars, in the struggle against the Bolsheviks. Later at Prague he published a book called "The Green Dictatorship."

He attempted to found a Russian Fascist party with a view to becoming dictator of Russia, but won few followers. It was said he left Prague to escape prosecution in connection with the death of a girl on whom he performed an operation.

Moscow, May 6 (A.P.).—The name of Paul Gorgouloff was not recognized by any one in Moscow. It was pointed out that had he been a prominent member of any known emigre group abroad his name doubtless would have been familiar to Soviet officials.

Embassy at Madrid Placed Under Guard

Madrid, May 6 (A.P.).—A detachment of police was assigned to the French embassy today to guard against possible anti-French demonstrations by extremists as a result of the attempt on the life of President Doumer.

The assembly unanimously agreed to send the French Parliament a message of condolence and of indignation at the attack on the president.

Pope Declares Attack On Doumer Repugnant

ASSASSIN'S BULLETS PROVE FATAL TO FRENCH PRESIDENT

Save for continuous injections of morphine, the last hours of the 75-year-old patriarch would have been intensely painful. But his physicians kept him under the opiate's spell until the end.

Conscious only 4 Minutes.

Doumer was conscious for a total of only 4 minutes out of the 13 hours between the shooting and his death. On one occasion he asked what had happened and was told that he had been struck by an automobile.

"Strange," he replied, "I remember nothing."

His last hours were spent in a simple white iron bed in a small room on the first floor of Beaujon Hospital, across the street from Solomon Rotschild's mansion, where he had been attacked yesterday afternoon by the crazed Russian.

The fashionable crowd at the Apres Midi du Livre des Anciens Combattants (book afternoon benefit for war veterans) at the mansion of Solomon Rothschild, 11 Rue Verryer, was in a state of panic as Gorgouloff raised his gun a third time.

Attacked by Crowd.

Paul Guichard, director of the Paris municipal police, who had been walking a step in front of the president, turned quickly and grappled with the assassin.

Gorgouloff fired again and the bullet shattered Guichard's wrist.

Claude Farrere, president of the Authors League of France, then seized the assassin's arm and clung to it as the gun cracked once more.

The crowd—almost hysterical—closed in suddenly and attempted to seize Gorgouloff.

A fist crashed against his face. A boot struck his eye. But Gorgouloff, who had fired all eight shots in his automatic pistol, was dragged away and turned over to police while the crowd shouted, "Lynch him!"

Doumer would have died within a few minutes, physicians said, if he had not received attention. Fortunately, the Beaujon Hospital is across the street from the mansion, and the president was carried to a public hospital which already was crowded with charity and other patients.

While a silent crowd blocked traffic in the street outside, a young French interne gave blood for a transfusion. Doumer rallied slightly. Occasionally he mumbled incoherent words.

Meanwhile, Gorgouloff was in chains at the central police station, where he told his story in wild, incoherent outbursts. He had been saved from the mob with difficulty and the limousine that carried him to the station was stormed by a crowd at the Place St. Philippe du Roule, where shouts of "Kill him, give him to us!" greeted the police guard.

Car Hits Demonstrators.

The chauffeur escaped only by speeding up and knocking over some of the demonstrators. The assassin's eyes were swollen almost shut and his face discolored by blows he had received. In his pocket police found a book he had bought at the benefit sale.

Farrere, who was wounded in the capture, had sold it to him and in it had written, "To Paul Prade (the name Gorgouloff gave), a French journalist." Just before the shooting the assassin had added to the inscription: "Paul Gorgouloff, chief of the Russian Fascists, who has just killed the president of the French republic."

Among the many wild statements he made to police was a declaration that he had intended to go to the United States to assassinate prominent Americans, but he lacked steamship fare, and a claim that his band of "Fascists" had kidnaped the Lindbergh baby.

Another book in his pocket was inscribed: "This book belongs to the president of the Russian Fascists, assassin of the president of the republic." The minister of interior described Gorgouloff as a "Russian anarchist."

Gorgouloff said he was born in 1895, at Labenskaya, Russia, and had practiced medicine at 6 Rue Victor Cousin, Paris Latin quarter.

"I am the founder and president of the Russian Fascists," he said. I spent much money defending my Russia, but Russia never gave me anything. I love immensely Mussolini and Hitler. I give my money, my life to my country. I am an idealist. I pray God to give me strength to die as a good soldier.

"I didn't wish to harm poor Doumer, but I saw France was preparing to work with Russia. I wanted to oblige France to declare war on the Bolsheviks. I acted entirely alone." Police confirmed that he had no accomplices.

Had Been Deported.

"I returned from Monaco Wednesday to kill Doumer, because France without other European nations and the United States, is aiding Soviet Russia by furnishing money that is ruining my country."

"France and America are the worst enemies of national Russia."

Police said he apparently had no political organization and that he had studied at Prague and been deported in 1931 as an undesirable agitator.

"I arrived in France in 1930," he said. "I married a Swiss woman who is now in Monaco, where she is spending our marriage dowry. I have lived on a fortune accumulated by practicing medicine."

Later police took Gorgouloff to a Latin quarter hotel where he admitted he had spent Thursday night with a woman, not his wife.

"I spent the night writing my memoirs," he said. "I am a martyr. I want to die."

Besides the automatic pistol with which he shot Doumer, the assassin had a second pistol with two charged clips. He also had three poison pills in his pocket and said he intended to commit suicide.

Gorgouloff insisted that he served in the war as a Russian army doctor. Three alienists were named to report on his sanity.

Hoover Sends Sympathy To Grief-Torn Nation

(United Press.)

The American Government's sympathy went out to France yesterday as a report from the United States Embassy in Paris told of an attack on the life of President Paul Doumer.

Promptly President Hoover and Acting Secretary of State Castle telegraphed words of condolence to the stricken president and Premier Andre Tardieu, respectively. Mr. Hoover said:

"The intelligence of the attempt upon your excellency's life at the hands of a dastardly assassin shocks and saddens me. My fellow countrymen join with me in silent prayer for a speedy recovery that your life may be spared for many years to the country which you have served with loyalty and zeal."

Castle told Tardieu:

"The people of the United States are shocked and grieved to learn of the cruel attempt upon the life of President Doumer and join with me in the hope for his speedy recovery."

Other Assassinations Which Shocked World

(Associated Press.)

The assassin of President Paul Doumer, of France, joins a large gallery of men who have killed or tried to kill national rulers.

One of the most outstanding crimes of this sort of all times was the killing of Abraham Lincoln by J. Wilkes Booth in a Washington theater on April 14, 1865.

Two other United States Presidents met death at the hands of assassins—President Garfield, on July 2, 1881, who was killed in a Washington railway station by Charles J. Guiteau, and President McKinley, on September 6, 1901, who was murdered by Leon Czolgosz at the Pan-American Exposition in Buffalo.

Marie Francois Sadi-Carnot, President of France, died June 24, 1894, following upon an anarchist attack.

Other assassinations that have shocked the world include:

Emperor Alexander II, of Russia, March 13, 1881.

Nasr-Ed-Deen, Shah of Persia, May 1, 1896.

Gen. Ulisses Heureaux, President of Dominican Republic, July 26, 1899.

King Humbert I of Italy, July 29, 1900.

Francisco I. Madero, President of Mexico, and Jose Pino Suarez, Vice President, February 23, 1913.

King George of Greece, March 18, 1913.

Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria-Hungary, and wife, at Sarajevo, June 28, 1914.

Gen. Michael Collins, premier of Irish Free State, August 22, 1922.

Edge Expresses Regrets Of U. S. Over Shooting

Paris, May 6 (A.P.).—United States Ambassador Edge issued this statement tonight after he had visited the hospital where President Doumer is a patient:

"I am greatly shocked at this dastardly attack on the president. No man in public life commands greater respect and admiration. In my frequent contacts with him I have always been deeply impressed by his kindliness and friendly consideration. I join with my countrymen in hoping for his speedy recovery."

Police in Monte Carlo Seize Assassin's Wife

Monte Carlo, May 6 (U.P.).—Mme. Paul Gorgouloff, wife of the Russian who shot President Doumer in Paris today, was arrested tonight by Monaco police and held pending instructions from French authorities.

She was arrested at the Gorgouloff home here when she returned from Nice at 10 p. m.

Settlement Head Will Fete 'Queens'

Mrs. Neligh to Entertain Winners in Neighborhood House Festival.

Mrs. J. P. S. Neligh, head resident of Neighborhood House, will be hostess to eighteen "queens" at the settlement tonight, following the crowning of this year's queen at the spring festival this afternoon.

This year's queen will not be made known until shortly before the procession in N street southwest, at 3 o'clock. The street, in accordance with the usual custom, will be roped off for the occasion. The ceremony of crowning the queen will be followed by various dances.

Mrs. Neligh's guests tonight will be the following "queens": Miss Katherine Koehler, 1915; Miss Louise Gallahorn, 1916; Mrs. Robert Lynn Cave (formerly Olive Mothershead), 1917; Miss Margaret Hunt, 1918; Miss Thelma Coates, 1919; Miss Ethel Green Lloyd, 1920; Mrs. Joseph Silverman (formerly Miss Rachel Silverman), 1921; Miss Helen Mills Howard, 1922; Mrs. Thomas Clary (formerly Miss Ethel Ballinger), 1923; Miss Elsie Lewis, 1924; Miss Irma Sweeney, 1925; Miss Frances McWilliams, 1926; Miss Ruth Kaldenbach, 1927; Miss Mary Hennessey, 1928; Miss Dorothy Downey, 1929; Miss Erna Jasper, 1930; Miss Mary Nickel, 1931, and the 1932 "queen."

Lindbergh Aid Admits Possibility of Deadline

Norfolk, Va., May 6 (A.P.).—With one of the Norfolk intermediaries admitting the possibility that a deadline has been set, John Hughes Curtis was believed tonight to be pressing with redoubled effort toward the conclusion of his work as the principal negotiator in the Lindbergh kidnaping case.

Mr. Curtis and his associates aboard the yacht Marcon engaged today upon another cruise out to sea.

OHIO SEEKS MANIAC AS SLAYER OF GIRL

Body of Hospital Dietician Is Found on Toledo Lawn; Latest of Series.

Toledo, Ohio, May 6 (A.P.).—A 22-year-old hospital dietician was found criminally assaulted and strangled to death today in a recurrence of a series of slayings attributed by police to a demented person.

The body of the victim, Miss Winifred Rafferty, Robinwood Hospital employe, was found on the lawn of W. C. Carr, prominent Toledo banker, in an exclusive West End residential section not far from her home. Her torn and scattered clothing gave evidence of a terrific struggle.

A suspected mental defective, questioned a few weeks ago after several women in the neighborhood reported they had been annoyed, was ordered arrested for investigation. He was released previously when police could not prove he was a "man in a raincoat" wanted.

A second possible clew was provided by Miss Wanda Miller, roommate of the slain girl, who described a young man she said insulted both girls on several occasions. Two weeks ago, Miss Miller reported, the man stopped Miss Rafferty near the hospital and made improper advances.

Mrs. William Greer, mother of Miss Rafferty, also said her daughter had been annoyed several times, apparently by a weak-minded youth.

Miss Rafferty was slain shortly before midnight while walking home from a swimming class, police said, but her body was not found until several hours later when Richard Carr, son of the banker, returned home. The girl was an expert swimmer, being a member of the Red Cross life-saving corps and the Toledo Knights of Columbus Aquatic Team.

Apparently the attacker struck the girl in the mouth with his fist, dragged her into Carr's yard, ripped her clothing and choked her to death. Coroner Frank G. Kreft returned a verdict of strangulation.

The killing occurred in the neighborhood where a year ago Miss Katie Laux, 23, was severely beaten with a baseball bat. A series of similar crimes were perpetrated in 1926 and 1927 when four women were beaten to death and several more attacked in what police said was the work of a maniac.

Charles J. Hoppe, electrocuted for the murder of 7-year-old Dorothy Sielagowski in 1928, confessed he was the mysterious assailant and admitted the killing of Lily Dale Croy, Toledo school teacher. Police doubted his confession, but the series of attacks stopped for a time.

JURY HEARS DETAILS OF $100,000 BABY PLOT

when Mrs. McLean's attorneys demanded he return the $100,000 he gave it to a mysterious "No. 11," who, he said, was an agent for Mrs. McLean.

"I didn't solicit employment in this case," he added. "She came for me and even had trouble locating me, for my telephone isn't listed in the book."

A reporter asked if he knew where the Lindbergh baby is now. He replied: "Now, that's confidential."

Besides Mrs. McLean, others who testified in the secret session were Nelson T. Hartson, one of her attorneys, and Gustav Griffoni, her butler for 20 years.

"This is distasteful, of course, but I am going through with it."

On her behalf, Hartson added: "She knew, undoubtedly, Means' record all the time, but she certainly believed he would come through in this case."

What was testified was not made known. Hartson, however, is represented as having made a report to the Justice Department which resulted in a warrant for Means' arrest. The butler is alleged to have witnessed the transfer of money.

Persons expected to have been called to testify included the Rev. Francis J. Hurney, pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church here, and George W. White, president of the Metropolitan National Bank. Mrs. McLean conferred with Father Hurney during the negotiations, who saw the money given Means. Mr. White is said to have taken the $100,000 to Mrs. McLean.

Means Gets Clean Linen.

During the day, Means was visited by Mrs. Means, who brought him some clean linen, and by his attorney, J. William Tomlinson. Leo A. Rover, United States District Attorney, ordered yesterday afternoon that no one else be permitted to see him.

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Justice Department's Bureau of Investigation, announced attempts were being made to trace the money given Means and to check on his reported claims that he had been in touch with the kidnapers.

Means is said by Mrs. McLean's attorneys to have brought her into communication with individuals he represented as intermediaries in the negotiations.

Hoover said none of the money, reported to be $106,000, including expenses, had been recovered, although efforts are being made to trace it.

Fleischer and Means At Same El Paso Hotel

El Paso, Tex., May 6 (A.P.).—A man El Paso authorities claim closely resembled Harry Fleischer, reputed Detroit Purple gang leader, was registered at the same hotel here as Gaston B. Means when the latter was in El Paso in connection with the Lindbergh kidnaping case. Fleischer has been sought by New Jersey authorities for investigation in connection with the kidnaping.

Capt. Allan Falby, of the Texas highway police, said he received information Fleischer was at the hotel, but the man was gone when he reached the hotel to question him.

Mrs. McLean was in El Paso in connection with her efforts to effect the return of the Lindbergh baby and was quoted by her attorney as saying she met a rough looking, heavily armed man represented to her as one of the abductors.

Nina Wilcox Putnam's Gems Stolen.

Hollywood, Calif., May 6 (A.P.).—Nina Wilcox Putnam, noted scenario writer, told police today that a brooch, valued at $600, had been stolen while she was at Universal studios today.

MRS. MASSIE ASKED TO STAY FOR TRIAL

Contradictory Statements by Her and Darrow Place Plans in Doubt.

Honolulu, May 6 (A.P.).—Contradictory statements by Clarence Darrow and Mrs. Thalia Massie tonight left in doubt whether the latter would remain here to again prosecute the four men accused of attacking her last September.

Darrow insisted that Mrs. Massie had agreed over his protest to stay for the retrial. Mrs. Massie stated with equal firmness that she intended to sail for San Francisco Sunday with her husband, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie.

"If I could give orders," said Darrow, "I would give them now and tell her not to stay. It is foolish for this girl to stay here. There isn't a chance in the world of convicting the men charged with assaulting her."

Kelley Asks Her to Stay.

The statements by the aged defense attorney and Mrs. Massie climaxed a day of varying reports on the unsettled issues growing out of the attack case and the recent conviction of Massie and three others of manslaughter in the lynching of Joseph Kahahawai January 8.

Public Prosecutor John C. Kelley, through whose efforts the manslaughter conviction was obtained, just previously had issued a statement calling upon Mrs. Massie to remain for the attack case.

At that time Mrs. Massie and the four convicted persons—Mr. Massie, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, Albert O. Jones and E. J. Lord—were laying plans to leave the islands.

Petition for Pardon.

The convicted quartet allegedly slew Kahahawai to avenge his supposed participation in the attack upon Mrs. Massie, wife of the lieutenant and daughter of Mrs. Fortescue. A commutation of sentence by Gov. Lawrence M. Judd set them free.

Mr. Kelley's statement indicated he had undergone a change of mind overnight, having previously indicated he would not seek to have Mrs. Massie remain as an unwilling witness.

Earlier in the day Mr. Darrow, as attorney for the convicted four, sent a petition to Gov. Judd asking a pardon for Mrs. Fortescue, Massie, Lord and Jones.

Darrow Explains Move.

Darrow, who previously denied having asked for a pardon for the quartet and said newspapermen had misinterpreted his statement in which he said they "ought to have a full pardon," announced he had presented the petition "to avoid any misunderstandings as to what we want."

He disclosed relations between himself and the Territorial administration had become "somewhat strained" as a result of the varying statements yesterday as to whether his clients had originally requested a full pardon or a commutation.

Last night Darrow had said he had minimized the importance of a pardon for his clients.

The defense attorney said today, however, that a pardon would be necessary to restore the citizenship rights of the convicted four.

"It is my understanding," Darrow said, "that they could not vote or hold office anywhere in the United States unless pardoned."

NAVY BILL, 44 TO 21

than its international agreements call for.

With the disarmament conference now on at Geneva, friends of the measure said they regarded it as a means of increasing American "bargaining power" there and an indication that the United States would take full advantage of its treaty privileges.

The measure awaits an uncertain fate in the House, where the naval committee some time ago favored a similar bill but decided not to press it for the present.

Roll Call on Bill.

The roll call on the Navy bill was:

Conference on Crime Is Called in Capital

(Associated Press.)

The National Crime Commission yesterday called a general conference for the study of the crime situation to meet in Washington some time in October.

J. W. Allen, of Boston, chairman of the commission, said that representatives from all of the important organizations dealing in any way with crime problems would be asked to attend.

Ann Harding and Husband Meet in Reno; Suit Filed

Actress Arrives in Plane and Couple Embrace Affectionately.

Reno, Nev., May 6 (A.P.).—Scarcely four hours after they had greeted each other with an affectionate embrace, Ann Harding, noted film star, filed suit here today to divorce Harry Bannister, who she wants to free so he may pursue a career of his own.

Miss Harding's complaint, which was prepared after her arrival here this morning from Hollywood, simply charged cruelty. It gave no details, except that she and Bannister were married in New York City on October 21, 1926.

The court was asked to approve an agreement which arranges custody of the couple's 4-year-old daughter, Jane. Terms of the agreement were not disclosed.

William Woodburn, attorney for Miss Harding, said he hoped to have the case set for trial early tomorrow in one of the two departments of the District Court.

Although she has never resided here, filing of the divorce complaint by the actress was made possible under a provision in the Nevada divorce laws which permits either party to file suit, regardless of which has established residence. Bannister has made this State his home since March 23.

It was nearly seven weeks ago that Miss Harding and Bannister decided on a Reno divorce as the only way in which he might reestablish himself as an actor and not be overshadowed by his wife's name.

And already their plan has brought Bannister several offers to appear in films both here and abroad, he indicated today.

One "particularly attractive proposition," he said, has been made to him by a London producer, but before deciding whether to accept it he will go first to Hollywood and then to New York to consider other offerings.

A large crowd was at the airport to greet Miss Harding when she arrived. They got only a hurried glimpse of her, however, for her ship was taxied into a hangar before she hopped out of it and into the arms of Bannister. They left immediately by motor car.

Two Sides, Yes and No, Rise In Mussolini Prescription

By JOHN J. DALY

THERE seems to be some doubt as to what this country actually needs.

Dave Reed says it needs a Mussolini.

Hiram Johnson says in reply: "I deny, sir, that we need a Mussolini."

Here, then, are the two sides to the question.

Either we need a Mussolini or we do not need a Mussolini.

If we need a Mussolini, where are we going to get him—and what would we do with him, or to him, and what would he do to us, or with us—after we got him?

If we do not need a Mussolini, and we do need courage, as Dave Reed further says, how are we going to have the courage if we do not have a Mussolini, since they go together, like beef and mustard?

We do and we do not need a Mussolini, depending on the way you look at it.

* * * *

WE need courage. We need vision. We need patience—mostly with Congress. We need faith—in Massachusetts and 47 other States. We need hope—hoping for the best. We need charity—with charity for all and malice toward none.

We need, alas, as President Hoover says, to balance the budget; but while we are balancing the budget we need bread and butter, and shoes, and socks and shirts, and shelter over our heads, though this is the spring and summer season and park benches are well ventilated. Then, for the real enjoyment of life, we need what Tom Marshall always claimed we need—a good 5-cent cigar.

The question now arises: Could a Mussolini give us these things? Could he? Would he? And if he should, where would he get them? And if he could get them why could not we—high-born Americans that we are, with all the so-called Yankee thrift and ingenuity—go and get them for ourselves? Why?

* * * *

PARAPHRASING the popular ditty that once swept the Nation:

Yes, we'll have no Mussolinis
We'll have no Mussolinis today.
We have Borah, and Brookhart,
And Norris, who look smart,
And Roosevelt, and Ritchie, and, say!
We've got our Kingfish by the dozens,
J. Ham Lewis, La Follette, and Couzens,
So, yes, we'll have no Mussolinis,
We'll have no Mussolinis today.

Yes, we'll have no Mussolinis.
We'll have no Mussolinis today.
We have Wagner and Moses,
And they smell like roses
Compared to spaghetti, hey-hey!
We've got Jim Watson and Jim Davis
And those two can save us,
So, yes, we'll have no Mussolinis,
We'll have no Mussolinis today.

2 Children Are Burned To Death in Hill Cabin

Romney, W. Va., May 6 (A.P.).—Two children were burned to death in a fire that destroyed their mountain home near Okonoko, Berkeley County.

The children, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Day, 18 months and 3 years old, were alone in the dwelling. The bodies were found in the ruins. State police learned of the tragedy today.

FOX AVERS HISTORY REVEALS OURSELVES

Teachers Association Gives Dinner as Part of Social Science Meetings.

"We must read history to know ourselves," Dr. Dixon Ryan Fox, of Columbia University, said last night when he addressed the dinner of the Association of History Teachers of the Middle States and Maryland at the Raleigh Hotel.

The dinner was part of the twenty-ninth spring meeting of the association held in conjunction with the round table of the teachers of the social sciences of Washington.

Dr. Fox was introduced by Miss Mildred Coughlin, president of the association. His subject was "The Schoolboys' View of Washington." He described the various historians' interpretations of Gen. Washington from post-revolutionary times until the present.

The first meeting of the association was held in Stockton Hall of George Washington University yesterday afternoon. The teachers were greeted by Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, president of the university.

The theme of the meeting was "Patriotism in the Schools." President Coughlin spoke on "History and Patriotism," and Mrs. L. D. Hall, of Eastern High School, spoke on "Patriotism, Real and Superficial."

Two sessions will be held today, one in the morning at Stockton Hall, and another in the afternoon in Corcoran Hall, when David Lawrence, of the United States Daily, will speak.

Portsmouth Burial Given Mrs. Pollard

Wife of Virginia's Governor Is Laid to Rest Near Girlhood Home.

Portsmouth, Va., May 6 (A.P.).—Mrs. Grace Phillips Pollard, wife of Gov. John Garland Pollard, was buried here today in a cemetery near her girlhood home. Services were held in the governor's mansion, Richmond, conducted by Dr. W. A. R. Goodwin, rector of the Bruton Parish Church, Williamsburg, of which she was a member, and the Rev. W. C. James, pastor of the Williamsburg Baptist Church, of which Gov. Pollard is a member.

Mrs. Pollard died of arthritis Wednesday, after an illness of several years, which became acute several weeks ago.

Hundreds of friends of the Pollard family attended the funeral, among them being many of those who had been members of Gov. Pollard's classes at William and Mary. During the funeral State offices were closed, and flags on State buildings were at half mast.

A. P. CLAYTON FUNERAL.

Funeral services for Alexander Patton Clayton, former auditor for the Federal Farm Loan Bureau, will be held at 10 o'clock this morning at his residence at 4601 Stanford street, Chevy Chase, Md. He was 42 years old.

Mr. Clayton, who had seen service in the United States Marine Corps, died Wednesday. He was a member of Lafayette Masonic Lodge. His widow, Mrs. Ethel Howard Clayton, and two sisters, Mrs. F. M. Ryburn, of Dallas, Tex., and Miss Esther Clayton, of Washington, survive him.

CHARLES W. DUFFEY RITES.

Funeral Services to be Conducted Today for Alexandria Man.

Funeral services for Charles W. Duffey, who died suddenly Thursday, will be conducted at 5 o'clock this afternoon at the residence, 203 South Fairfax street, Alexandria, by the Rev. Ernest W. Aaron, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and the Rev. Percy Foster Hall, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

Interment will be in the Presbyterian cemetery.

Bank Held Up Despite 'Vigilance Day' Parade

Helena, Mont., May 6 (A.P.).—The East Helena State Bank was robbed of $800 in gold and $1,000 in currency today by a robber who locked the president, J. R. Liddy, and a customer in the vault and escaped in a stolen truck.

"Vigilance Day" parade was in progress at the time.

CHOIR AT CATHEDRAL IS OPEN FOR PRAYER

New Schedule of Services Announced; Pilgrimage to Include Inspection.

The choir and sanctuary of the Washington Cathedral, which were opened to the public for worship on Ascension Day, will be open daily for prayer, meditations and quiet pilgrimage.

Members of the staff of pilgrim aids and vergers will be on duty to welcome visitors. A member of the cathedral clergy staff will give his full time to this work. Week-day pilgrimages will include inspection of the choir and sanctuary.

Until further notice the 11 a. m. celebration of the Holy Communion and sermon, and the people's evensong and sermon at 4 o'clock on Sundays will be held in the great choir and sanctuary, followed by pilgrimages under the direction of Canon John W. Gummere. The 7:30 a. m. celebration of the Holy Communion and the 10 a. m. service of morning prayer and litany will be held in the Bethlehem Chapel on Sundays.

The week-day services at 7:30 a. m. and 4:30 p. m. will conform to the following schedule: Mondays in the Chapel of the Resurrection: Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays in the Bethlehem Chapel, and Saturdays in the Chapel of St. Joseph of Arimathea. There will be an additional celebration of the Holy Communion at 9:30 a. m. on Thursdays in the Chapel of the Resurrection.

According to the annual report of the National Cathedral Association, made public this week, 236,505 pilgrims and worshipers were counted entering the Bethlehem Chapel of the cathedral from May 1, 1931, to May 1, 1932.

Ferguson to Head River Commission

Engineer Colonel Nominated for Mississippi Post to Succeed Jackson.

(Associated Press.)

Col. Harley B. Ferguson, Army division engineer at Norfolk, Va., was nominated yesterday for the presidency of the Mississippi River Commission.

Col. Ferguson will succeed Brig. Gen. Thomas H. Jackson at the river commission's headquarters at Vicksburg, Miss.

A native of North Carolina, Col. Ferguson is a brother of Homer Ferguson, president of the Newport News Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Co. at Newport News.

He was graduated from the United States Military Academy at West Point in 1897, and in 1918 was appointed a brigadier general in the Army. He received his permanent promotion to colonel of engineers in the Regular Army in 1920.

Feed your plants
—then watch them grow

YOU must feed your flowers if you want them to grow and bloom. Tiny grass plants, too, must be fed if they are to form a fast-spreading carpet that withstands drought and the tramp of feet. But no one food exactly suited to the needs of grass meets the very different needs of flowers, shrubs and vegetables. That's why we have two plant foods—both outstandingly rich in the most important and most expensive element, Nitrogen.

V-C Fairway GRASS FOOD

V-C Fairway Grass Food is a rich blend of the precise elements grass needs—made for grass exclusively by an old experienced plant food company.

Feed your lawn with this clean, rich food that the grass will relish and that neither you nor your neighbors will notice. Then watch the turf grow fast—thick and green and velvety. Anybody can do the work. V-C Fairway is a dry and granulated powder, ready for use, in bags, easily handled. Carries no weed seeds, no insect pests, no plant diseases. Moderately priced.

BloomAid

BloomAid is a blend-in-one of the several chemical foods that are needed for nourishing flowers—and trees and shrubs and vegetables.

It is ready to be used, all dry and clean and easy to handle. On the dirt that you loosen around the roots of each plant a little BloomAid is scattered, then raked in. Every last grain of its wholesome richness will nourish growth and blooms.

For garden use, and for feeding shrubs, trees, vegetables, BloomAid comes as a dry and granulated powder, in bags, 5 lbs. to 100 lbs. For potted plants and window boxes BloomAid Tablets are preferred.

THE SENATE TAX BILL.

It is no credit to the Senate finance committee that a lecture from Secretary of the Treasury Mills was required to bring order out of the chaotic tax bill. But the public is thankful that the committee had the good sense to agree to Secretary Mills' compromise when the adverse effect of its jangling was brought to its attention. The committee has taken two weeks to write its bill since the hearings were closed. Decisions have been repeatedly upset. Items were eliminated and reinserted with such frequency that the public has only the impression of a divided body floundering about in a hopeless quandary.

Apparently the spark which was kindled in President Hoover's message lighted a fire under the committee. The vital problem of balancing the budget and restoring the confidence of the people has been subordinated to the demands of individual senators and to passing whims which seemed to take the committee by storm. As the bill stood yesterday morning it was a jumble of incongruities which would have worked severe hardships upon some classes of taxpayers without balancing the budget. Double taxation and even levies against losses were contained in several paragraphs. Nearly every member of the committee had obtained some concessions, but no one was satisfied with the bill, least of all the public. Thanks to the President's stern message and the compromise spirit injected by Secretary Mills the situation seems to have changed with dramatic suddenness.

As it stands the bill has the overwhelming support of the committee and will be reported out early next week. It is by no means a perfect bill, but it is a substantial improvement over the measure passed by the House. Several items in the House bill were framed during the frantic hours following the defeat of the sales tax and went through without adequate consideration. The Senate finance committee has had time to iron out many of these crudities. The tax on capital losses was mitigated; the penalty for submitting consolidated returns was eliminated; the stock and bond transfer taxes were reduced within reason, and many administrative improvements were made.

It is notable too that the committee eliminated several excise taxes. Apparently this was done on the theory that business should not be discouraged any more than is absolutely necessary. Even though taxes are drastic they are not insupportable when they fall upon net incomes and profits. As the finance committee bill now stands it is an attempt to impose the burden where it will be least oppressive.

One serious difficulty remains. Four important tariff items are still in the bill. These are certain to provoke a fight on the floor of the Senate and may delay enactment of the measure. From the protection standpoint some of these duties are justified, but they are not important as sources of revenue.

Confidence now hangs upon action of the Senate. Within the next few weeks that body will be put to a severe test. It remains to be seen whether it will respond to the universal demand to pass the tax bill and reduce useless expenditures, or stampede as the House has done. President Hoover's determined stand for economy, reasonable taxes and common sense legislation on financial conditions has notably improved sentiment throughout the Nation. The duty of Congress is to measure up to the task, to meet the issue squarely and with business-like precision. When conditions in Washington warrant the return of confidence, business, industry and the people in general will proceed with the work of reconstruction.

MUSCLE SHOALS.

Muscle Shoals, a 12-year-old dilemma on Capitol Hill, has returned to plague Congress once more. Nothing has changed the situation since President Hoover vetoed the Norris bill providing for Government operation of the Muscle Shoals plant. Yet the House has turned over to the Senate a measure providing a similar solution. It seems that no headway is ever made in dealing with Muscle Shoals.

The House bill is a hodge-podge affair calculated to appeal to both sides of the controversy without satisfying either. It would create a board and allow it 18 months to lease the nitrate plants under very rigid restrictions. If the plant should not be leased at the expiration of that time, the board would be authorized to operate it for the production chiefly of fertilizer. The leasing provision is only a camouflage. No commercial firm is likely to take the risk of such a venture under the stringent conditions laid down by the bill.

In the last analysis, therefore, the measure provides for Government operation of the complete Muscle Shoals plant. No provision is made for leasing the power plants, so that if the measure should become law the Government would operate them under any circumstances. Taxpayers would also be called upon to finance the construction of the Cove Creek dam "when it is found that additional power is required." In short, the bill on which the Democratic House has placed its stamp of approval, is a disguised venture in socialism.

All argument for Government operation of these plants has been invalidated because of the development of the synthetic nitrogen industry in the United States. Private enterprise now provides an ample supply of this vital commodity for defense purposes. The only excuse for putting the Government into that business at Muscle Shoals would be to harass private industry by subsidizing a socialistic organization from the Federal Treasury.

The manner in which Congress has handled, or failed to handle, the Muscle Shoals problem during the last 12 years is sufficient indication of the impracticability of Government enterprises. Congress is utterly incapable of making an intelligent business decision with regard to these once valuable plants. Is there any reason to suppose that they would be efficiently operated with Congress serving as the board of directors? In trying to foist socialism upon the country in this instance the so-called Progressives have given a most enlightening demonstration of the hopeless red tape and inaction which their scheme involves.

CHAIRMAN O'CONNOR.

Announcement that the President has sent to the Senate the renomination of Chairman T. V. O'Connor of the Shipping Board will be received with satisfaction by everyone interested in the development of American shipping.

Chairman O'Connor's service with the Board goes back to 1921, and therefore covers practically the entire post-war renaissance of the American merchant marine. In little more than a decade, and in the face of almost insuperable obstacles, the Shipping Board, carrying out the policies laid down by Congress, has placed on the sea the second largest merchant marine in the world—a feat unique in the annals of shipping. The magnitude of the task, the energy with which the work has been carried on, and the successful outcome all testify to the great ability of the men immediately responsible for reestablishing our commercial position at sea. That Chairman O'Connor's able and courageous leadership has been a prime factor in this work is shown by the fact that he has earned and held the confidence of three Presidents of the United States.

American merchant shipping, in common with other leading industries, is feeling the effects of the widespread depression in international trade. American citizens who have purchased Shipping Board tonnage are faced with unprecedented hardships incident to the great falling off in cargo and passenger traffic. The Government's equities in the lines disposed of must be safeguarded. At the same time reasonable leniency must be shown by the Shipping Board in the case of hard-pressed shipowners who find difficulty in meeting their obligations to the Government. Nothing must be done to destroy or impair the splendid results already achieved.

In these trying circumstances, with the American merchant marine struggling valiantly to weather the economic storm, all who have followed shipping developments in this country during the post-war period will applaud the action of the President in keeping at the head of the Shipping Board a man who has been the outstanding leader in a peculiarly difficult field of activity.

CROOKED HUMANS.

George W. Kirchwey, former warden of Sing Sing and former dean of Columbia University Law School, whose name has been famous for three or four decades in America for social idealism, is now 77 years of age, but he is not yet discouraged. The passing of the relentless seasons may have brought him wisdom of other sorts, but it has not affected his elementary conviction that universal humanity is loving, just and good at heart, and that the phenomena of crime are but the unfortunate results of unhappy environmental circumstances. To him there is no such thing as innate sinfulness, no such thing as instinctive criminal impulse. Men are all alike; some are more fortunate than others.

Addressing a popular forum recently, Dr. Kirchwey said: "The only difference between a bad kid and a good kid is that the bad kid has only a little more pep than the good kid. The bad kid wants to live more, more dizzily, ardently, and thrillingly than the average kid." A youngster who commits a crime and is sent to a reformatory, he likened to a youngster sent to a preparatory school to study for college. Reformatories, he declared, are training establishments for penitentiaries and the electric chair. He suggested "preventive work" to stop "the drift of childhood into criminality," but he did not furnish his publicity agent with a blue print of the "preventive work" he proposed.

Frankly, much of this is sheer nonsense. There is no science in it. Dr. Kirchwey's optimism blinds him to facts too pathetically obvious to most of his contemporaries to be smiled away with cheerful bromides on the essential grandeur of the human soul. The truth is that numbers of human souls are created warped and distorted, and to people of this type lawlessness is just as natural as breathing. Criminals are born as surely as poets are. Granted that environment frequently provides opportunity and experience, it still remains a demonstrable verity that environment does not create crime—there are individuals who will prefer starvation to the sin of theft; annihilation to the sin of murder. Nothing in the world can make an honorable man a professional philanderer. Nothing can make an inherently decent woman a creature of the city streets. The storms of life beat in vain on thousands of human hearts, and this, rather than a sentimental denial of the inborn character of anarchy, is the thing about which a philosopher may rejoice.

Reformatories may be good or evil. There are some that are undeniably helpful. Not all, by any means, are the pits of iniquity Dr. Kirchwey seems to imagine them. But even the vilest academy of crime can not permanently cripple the conscience of a boy or girl intended by nature to be straight.

"Preventive work" in behalf of tempted childhood may be of some avail, but the best correction for crime is the rigid enforcement of the law, the just punishment of confirmed criminal thought and action, and the rejection of sophistries which are treason to the welfare of the race.

MURDER OF M. DOUMER.

The world is shocked by the assassination of President Doumer of France. This aged patriot, who gave four sons to his country and who has been indefatigable in its service as member of the Chamber of Deputies, finance minister and finally as president, is the last man in France who might be supposed to have provoked assassins to do their deadly work.

The first reports regarding the assailant indicate that he is a zealot who belonged to the large class of Russian emigres residing in Paris. Further search may reveal that a Communist plot is at the bottom of the attack. No sane Russian could have found fault with the attitude of France or the French people toward the harassed people who have been driven out of Russia by the Communists. It is quite possible, however, that Communists, who are adepts in such deviltry, really inspired the assassin.

FILIPINOS IN AMERICA

By VICENTE VILLAMIN.

One of the privileges which Filipinos enjoy by reason of their country being under the American flag is free entry and travel in the United States. This hospitality has been availed of by no less than 100,000 of them during the last 30 years.

There are today around 50,000 Filipinos in the United States. It is conservative to say that 99 per cent of them do not have the intention to remain here permanently. Approximately 40,000 of them are on the Pacific Coast, mostly in California, where delightful climate, natural beauty and better opportunity hold them.

In the beginning Filipinos of the student class came, followed by those who have served in the American Navy, and later by common laborers and youthful adventurers. The students of yesteryear are now leaders in their country. The Filipinos who have remained in America have not registered success of outstanding character. Theirs has been a life of trial and suffering.

Most of the Filipinos on the Pacific Coast came from Hawaii, whither the Hawaiian sugar planters have brought them as contract laborers. They are engaged as farmhands, domestics and odd workers. Their employment is mostly temporary or seasonal.

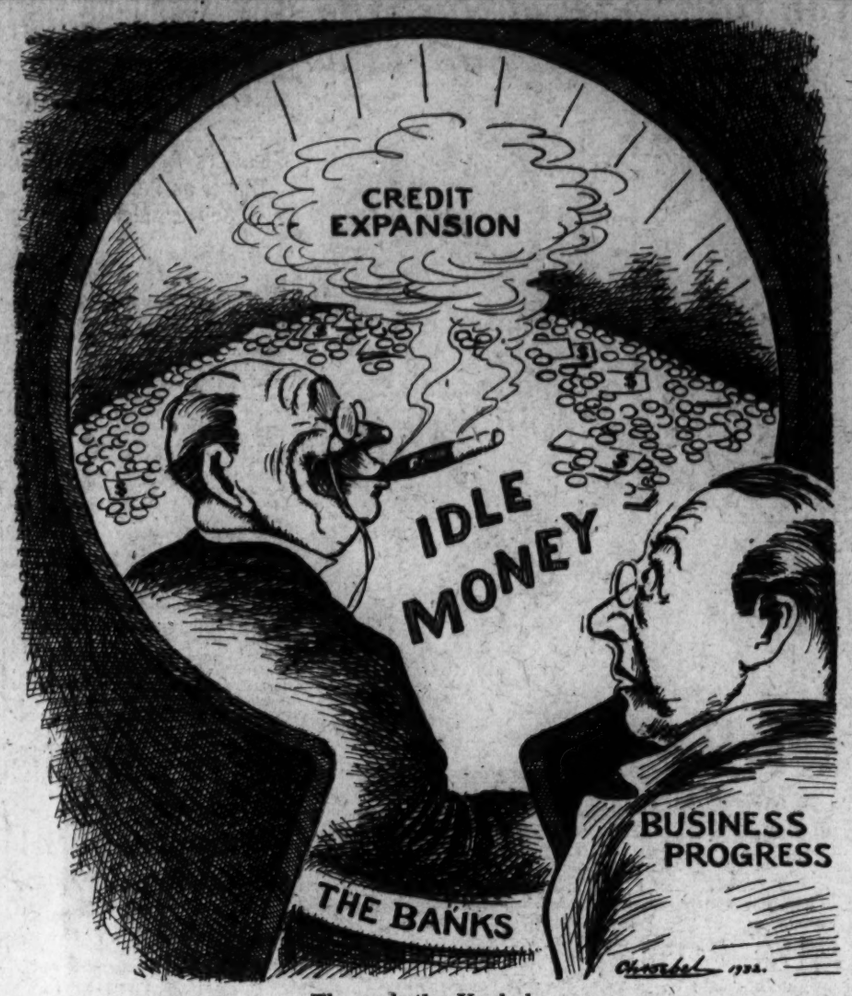
The Filipino worker can not fail to be an economic asset to his community. He is not a miser, he spends his earnings locally, he does not own real property and his remittances to his country are infinitesimal. This can not be said of the Chinese and Japanese, whose habit of thrift is proverbial.

Compared with other nationalities of the same class, the Filipinos on the Coast have the best record for law observance, intelligence and conviviality. In farm work, described as back-bending and stoop work, the Filipino is preferred to any other worker. This is the kind of work that Americans have given up long ago in favor of the Mexicans and Orientals on account of its laboriousness.

A situation has arisen where it has become a sound policy to control and regulate the migration of Filipinos to America. Such policy is demanded by the best interests of the Filipino immigrants themselves, the general interests of the Philippines and the welfare of those States where the number of Filipinos is considered too large. This triangular interest should be the basis of cooperative action for the proper solution of the question.

Unfortunately, the Filipino migration question has been made an integral part of the highly controversial question of Philippine independence, rendering it more difficult of dispassionate comprehension and effective treatment. The matter has thus been converted from an economic and labor question to one of politics, thereby placing it beyond the purview of administrative consideration.

The Philippine government is not without power to control emigration. With the cooperation of voluntary trade and labor organizations and the State and Federal governments an arrangement that is fair to all concerned is not impossible of achievement. The Filipino migration question should be divorced from politics.



Through the Keyhole.

POST HASTE

The most remarkable thing about the President's message to Congress is that he could diagram the situation again with such restraint and avoid all cuss words.

Every depression develops demands for inflation, fiat money, free silver. President Grant began saving the gold standard in 1874; it will be saved again.

When congressional oratory babbles of revolution and dictatorship the silly season has reached its peak and things may be expected to get better.

Shades of the panics of '73 and '93 are laughing in their shrouds at the frightened rabbits who think this country can not recover.

Read a little history over the week-end and recall how much worse times have been and what came after without resort to any quack remedies.

Just one example: Union Pacific, still paying 10 per cent, is selling around $50; in 1896 the stock went down to 4 cents on the dollar.

If the House should be sufficiently exposed to catch the senatorial change of mind, we'll have that sales tax back yet.

Speaking of economy, so much of the Government social service is now supplied by radio, agricultural journals and household magazines that it would hardly be missed.

Delay in deciding on 3-cent postage is due to the Senate's idea of having one G. Washington's picture on the stamp, while the House favors the Hon. Sol Bloom.

The House evidently thinks it made such a good record those first months that it can play hookey the rest of the session.

The lowest death rate in the United States this year on record seems to confirm the old saying of the bountiful era that we dig our graves with our teeth.

Senator Thomas finds that publicity from his filibuster of last year has waned, so he now threatens to consume three months in offering 1,000 amendments to the tax bill if it does not contain a tariff on oil. Here is real, unselfish patriotism.

To refute any impression that Gov. Roosevelt is not friendly to Al Smith, Jim Montague points out that he has already made two speeches for him.

Considerable improvement was noticeable on the New York Stock Exchange Thursday; it was conducted by six of the messenger boys.

If that atom was all it was cracked up to be it would be pulling a railroad train by this time.

PAUL HUDSON.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

IN THE END.

If in the end all things prove well,
What matter failures here and there,
Or hours of anguish and despair,
Or the rough ground on which we fell?

If out of trial's darkening spell
We come at last to sunsets fair
And find the peace which follows care,
We'll have adventurous tales to tell.

'Tis this which adds to life its zest:
The future's an unwritten book,
And into it 'tis vain to look.
One never knows what's worst or best.
Upon our cares we'll proudly dwell,

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY DEAR LOUISE: This much-praised quality called charm is largely a matter of making the other fellow feel pleased with himself.

As a man thinks he is at peace with God because he is at peace with himself, so he thinks a woman charming because he feels at his best in her presence.

Looking back at my own boyhood, I realize now that the girls and adults who ranked highest in my estimation possessed no unusual excellence except the knack of making me feel at ease.

That knack is a social grace that will pay you regular dividends, but you can't develop it until you learn to feel at ease yourself.

I can't teach you how to do that, for self-assurance is a product of vanity or experience; but I can help you in one particular.

Don't talk to cover your embarrassment.

Of the many things that add to an embarrassed person's misery, nothing causes greater suffering than a tongue that has got out of control and is wagging in meaningless frenzy while the mind remains in a helpless daze.

Successful business men win many a point by keeping still and making the other fellow do the talking. In silence they feel the security of one who saves his ammunition, while the other fellow blazes away in a frenzy of uncertainty until his gun is empty and his cause lost.

It is cruel, but it is effective.

The swimmer who surrenders to momentary panic struggles desperately to save himself and makes defeat certain by exhausting his energy. Another threatened by panic, relaxes and finds new courage in the knowledge that he has strength yet unspent.

That is the idea. Put your trust in speech and every word weakens your defense. Keep silent and you have a reserve to give you confidence.

You can't use this system when the other fellow is embarrassed, too. Adding to his suffering won't lessen your own.

But when the other fellow or the crowd seems at ease and you are rattled or scared, just hold your tongue and think to yourself; "whether you enjoy it or suffer, you shall do the talking while I relax and accumulate self-confidence."

Girls chatter and giggle only because they are embarrassed, and the more they do it the more their embarrassment grows.

When in doubt, my dear, keep still. If that doesn't relieve your stage fright, it will at least conceal it. Love, DAD.

PRO AND CON

Experience Not Informing.
Commercial Bulletin.

Japan will perhaps learn from her experience in trying to stabilize the silk market that such actions are costly and unprofitable, but some of our legislators do not learn common sense so easily. In spite of our experience with the Farm Board and the loss to wool growers as well as to the Government in meddling with the marketing of wool, many congressmen will be found ready to vote for appropriations to stabilize the market for potatoes, spinach or any other product if votes can be gained by such action.

Sometimes we are forced to the uncharitable belief that most of our congressmen are either ignorant about political economy, or that they care more for votes for reelection than for the welfare of their country.

We may yet have a bill introduced in Congress for the Government to buy from former service men at cost any bonds and stocks they bought in the stock boom of 1929.

Congressional Brains.
Cleveland Press.

Senator Lynn Frazier intriduces into the Congressional Record what purports to be a scientific study of the heads of 18 senators and 71 representatives. A Dr. Arthur MacDonald of Washington, selecting the craniums of the senators and representatives at random, finds that a senator's brain averages in weight 52 ounces, a representative's 50. Since his estimates are arrived at by measuring the skulls, the question arises, how does the doctor know how much of a lawmaker's head is composed of brain and how much of bone?

Being unscientific, we prefer to stick to the time-honored method of testing brains of congressmen. This is by their votes.

"Patriots."
Louisville Courier-Journal.

The record of the House of Representatives in the matter of effecting economies in the operation of the Federal Government is the history of a disgraceful episode. Facing a current deficit of more than $2,000,000,000, having so far failed to agree on a taxation program to balance the budget, and confronted with the necessity of cutting governmental costs if this Nation is to escape bankruptcy, the congressmen make a puny gesture in the direction of economy. Given a bill by a special committee which proposed reducing those expenses by $210,000,000, three-fourths of the "patriots" in the lower house combine to emasculate the measure and finally enact it with little more than one-fifth of its proposed economies remaining.

Travesty in Congress.
Cincinnati Enquirer.

The emasculation of the economy bill by the House, apparently now dominated by mad mutilators of insurgent propensities, presents to the country a picture weird, grotesque and insincere. As it at present stands the economy caricature is a travesty. Politics, not sound principles, controls the destinies of the people, and hope dies in the hearts of the taxpayers of the Nation.

So It Seems.
Louisville Courier Journal.

The bill to abolish nepotism in Congress will have about as much chance of passing as any economy bill.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Former Russian General Defends White Comrades and Charges Reds With Attack Upon President Doumer.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The whole civilized world has heard with dismay the news of the murderous assault on the President of the French Republic.

But the Russian emigres feel it most. That the head of a nation that has not only extended its hospitality but also helped in other ways the numerous Russian exiles living in France should be attacked by a Russian is a bitter blow to them.

It should be clear to every one that there is some dreadful lie behind this murder, but not every one knows the real truth. And this is the point that it is necessary to explain.

France has the largest contingent of the White Russian exiles, and the French government with the president at its head has always shown them good will.

The bolsheviks were always fighting this in the most energetic manner, as they were afraid of the influence of the Russian emigres on the public opinion.

Many times agents of the G. P. U. have committed different provocative acts which they always tried to attribute to Russian emigres.

However, they have had no success. This time they have dealt a decisive blow, a blow which they have threatened to give for a long time.

They have committed a crime which has been thought out with diabolical finesse and which can not but fall as a stain on loyal White Russians.

Every one clearly understands that it would be impossible for the emigres, after receiving such kind attention from the French government, to repay it by committing such an outrage.

This new crime should be attributed wholly to the Communistic power, which has ruined Russia and is trying hard to ruin the whole world. This crime was necessary only to this power and is needed only for its plans.

The assassination of the President of the French Republic is the blow which the Moscow murderers had threatened to inflict.

W. LWANDOWSKY,
Former General of the Russian Imperial Army.

Timely Rap at Rainbow-Chasing Americans Who Yearn to Save Every Country Except Their Own.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I noticed a strong editorial in the Saturday Evening Post of April 30. It deals with the fourth international—the Americans who are yearning to butt into the affairs of foreign countries, with the object of saving every country except their own. They are pacifists, dreamers, rainbow-chasers of all sorts. The Post editorial winds up as follows:

"There would be many good people, many sincere people, in this fourth international, but take them by and large, their hearts and minds are on a world tour. They are concerned first of all with world problems, with promulgating their world-saving ideals, while the old ideals of America are being dragged in the mire. They are busying themselves with disarmament, when prudent Americans are beginning to arm against the kidnaper and the bandit. They are inveighing against armored cruisers, while no messenger can travel safely from bank to bank except in an armored car. They are prattling about ending war between nations, when their own country is a battle ground between disorganized honest men and organized criminals, who bomb, loot and pillage almost at will. They demand an International Court of Justice, while their own legal system is the criminal's first line of defense. They are complacently in the forefront of patriotic celebrations such as the Washington bicentenary, while alien reds are attacking and undermining the foundations of the Government for which Washington and his ragged soldiers fought. They are always on the platform, in the press, and in Geneva—anywhere except in the trenches where the real, not the sham, battle is raging. They should come back home and down to earth. America needs fighting idealists right now who are willing to soil their hands by grasping our dirty problems, and needs them more than any far-off and romantic-looking people on the face of the earth."

W. P. FURNESS.

Reader Says Congressmen Should Cut Their Own Expenses.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Does it not seem a hard thing that a possible reduction of the pay of Government clerks should be even contemplated by congressmen who pay themselves $10,000 a year, plus mileage that in very many instances is far in excess of what their traveling expenses cost them?

"Charity begins at home," but that does not mean that "home" is to be kept snug and comfortable and others are to be made to suffer want and hardship.

Why should not Congress appoint a committee to investigate the matter of mileage and recommend the payment of only the actual traveling expenses in railroad fare and Pullman charges? A. T.

Alien War Veterans Should Share Rewards, Says Detroit Reader.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Neutral alien veterans of the World War who are now citizens of the United States should be entitled to the benefits of the World War adjusted compensation certificates. These veterans were willing to become citizens during the war, but were not given the chance. If they were good enough to become soldiers, they are good enough to share the rewards. M. P. LUCAS.

Mrs. Hoover Going to New Canaan, Conn., Today to Attend Marriage of Miss Peggy Rickard.

MRS. HOOVER, WHO WAS in Elmira, N. Y., yesterday, will go to New Canaan, Conn., today to attend the marriage of Miss Peggy Rickard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Rickard, of New York, to Mr. Graham Hoyt, of New York. The wedding will take place at noon today and Mrs. Hoover will be back in Washington tomorrow morning. Miss Rickard has been a frequent visitor to the White House with her parents in this administration, and also at the presidential camp on the Rapidan.

President and Mrs. Hoover will be the guests in whose honor the Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Ray Lyman Wilbur will entertain at dinner on Tuesday evening in the Pan-American room of the Mayflower.

The Vice President, Mr. Charles Curtis, was the guest in whose honor Mrs. M. Webster Dawley entertained at dinner last evening in her home on Forest lane. The other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Gann, Commander O. G. Dodge, Mrs. Colby Dodge, Baron and Baroness von Below and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Mack.

The Spanish Ambassador, Senor Don Juan Francisco de Cardenas, entertained yesterday afternoon at a tea dance for the cadets of the Spanish training ship Juan Sebastian El Cano.

Mrs. William E. Borah, wife of Senator Borah, and her niece, Miss Mary Lueddemann, have returned to their apartment at 2101 Connecticut avenue, after passing a week in Atlantic City and New York. Miss Lueddemann, who has been visiting her aunt in Washington for several weeks, will leave next week to return to her home in Portland, Oreg.

Musical Program Is Given At Mrs. Hiram Bingham's Home.

Mrs. Hiram Bingham, wife of Senator Bingham, entertained yesterday afternoon at a tea followed by a musical program in her apartment on Sixteenth street.

Senator and Mrs. Daniel O. Hastings left yesterday for their farm near Dover, Del., where they will have as their guests for the week-end Senator and Mrs. Austen and Senator and Mrs. Arthur Vandenberg.

Abdol Vahab Bader, First Secretary of the Persian Legation, is in New York for an indefinite stay at the Hotel Delmonico.

Miss Laila Harrison Lynn will be maid of honor and the only attendant at the marriage of her cousin, Miss Elizabeth Powell Dunlop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Laird Dunlop, jr., to Mr. Oliver Mallory Walker, son of Mrs. E. B. Walker, of Birmingham, Ala. The wedding will take place Saturday afternoon, June 11, the ceremony being performed in the home of the bride's parents, at 4 o'clock, in the presence of only the members of the two families. A large reception will follow at 4:30 o'clock in the Mayflower Hotel.

Invitations to the wedding will be issued next week.

Mrs. George R. McLendon is the guest of the former Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aviation and Mrs. William P. MacCracken, jr., in their apartment at Wardman Park Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Humphrey Daniel have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Eleanor Dimitry Daniel, to Mr. Baldwin Frederick Cook. The wedding will take place in the early fall.

Mr. Cook is the only son of Col. C. Fred Cook and Mrs. Cook. Col. Cook was grand master of Masons in the District of Columbia last year.

The bride-elect is a graduate of the Mary Baldwin Seminary of Staunton, Va. She made her debut two seasons ago. Her parents are both connected with old distinguished Virginia families.

Miss Marguerite E. Orme Will Be Married Today.

The marriage of Miss Marguerite Elizabeth Orme, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James William Orme, to Mr. Louis Addison Dent, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Addison Dent, will take place this morning at 11 o'clock in St. Patrick's Church, with the Rev. John J. Fannon, pastor of the Church of the Nativity, officiating. The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, will wear a gown of white satin worn by her mother at her marriage. It is fashioned along princess lines, with a long, full skirt, the circular train made in one with the skirt. The close-fitting cap is Alencon lace, caught with orange blossoms. She will carry gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Miss Kathleen Walsh Orme, sister of the bride, will be the maid of honor and only attendant. She will wear a frock of pale pink crepe, made on long lines, with a short jacket. Her hat will be a picture model, to match the frock, and she will carry pink sweet peas. Mr. Edward Addison Dent will be best man, and the ushers will be Mr. Charles Henry Orme, Mr. James William Orme 3d, Mr. Charles Perry Miller, jr., Mr. Burton Francis Miller, Mr. Robert Lee Livingston, jr., Mr. John Addison Giesecking, jr., and Mr. Raleigh Harlow Luckett.

A wedding breakfast will follow the ceremony at 12 o'clock at the residence of the bride's parents. Mrs. Orme and Mrs. Dent will receive the guests together, the former wearing a gown of dark blue lace and georgette crepe, and the latter a gown of beige georgette. Mr. Dent and his bride will leave for a wedding trip. On their return to Washington, around June 1, they will reside with the bride's parents through the summer.

Mr. Dana V. Phillips to Wed Miss Alicia C. Jones Today.

The marriage of Miss Alicia C. Jones, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Walter C. Jones, to Mr. Dana V Phillips, of Boston, will take place this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Washington Cathedral. Miss Jones will be the first bride to be married in the Sanctuary, which was opened to the public on Ascension Day. Canon Gummere will officiate.

Col. and Mrs. Jones entertained the bridal party at the dinner dance at the Shoreham last evening, their guests including Mr. and Mrs. W. E. H. Phillips, of Boston, parents of the groom; Miss Sylvia Simmers, maid of honor; Mr. Harwood L. Jones, of California, brother of the bride, who will be best man; Miss Barbara Jones, Miss Dolores Carrol and Mrs. Knowles Little, bridesmaids; Mr. Arthur Bates, of Montclair; Mr. Laurence Githens, of Needham, Mass., and Mr. Thomas Adams, of Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., who will be ushers; Mrs. Burr A. Church, of Newton Center, Mass.; Miss Catherine Adams, of Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., and Mr. Knowles Little.

Miss Evelyn Willing, of Mount Holly, Va., has joined Mrs. Robert Dean McFadon and her daughter, who came here from Chicago a few days ago, at Wardman Park Hotel.

The junior group of the American Association of University Women is sponsoring a supper book review tomorrow evening at the clubhouse on I street. Mrs. Lowell Mellett, a well known novelist, will give a short talk on "Novel Writing in Washington." Miss Janerio Brooks will be hostess and introduce the speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Warren have left for California, where they were called by the death of Mrs. Warren's father, Mr. William H. Bliss.

More than 300 women from all sections of the United States attended the luncheon given by the Association of Childhood Education in the grand ballroom of the Willard yesterday. These women have attended the various conferences held during the past week and were received by President Hoover yesterday.

The guests of honor at the affair were Miss Sarah Marble, Miss Mary Leath, Miss Leila Caldren, Miss Mary Shute, Miss Rowena Hanson, Mrs. Resselee R. Dudley, Miss Catherine Watkins, Miss Matilda Hahn, Miss Julia Wade Abbot, Miss Edna Dean Baker, Dr. Mary Davis, Miss Ella Ruth Boyde, Miss Elizabeth Manwell, Dr. Julia Hahn, and Miss Jennie Wahlert.

Children to Participate In Bicentennial "Levee."

Members of the Capitol Society of the Children of the American Revolution, under the direction of Mrs. Henry Fenno Sawtelle, will dance a minuet on the steps of the United States Capitol tonight, in company with four other well-known dance groups of the city, in commemoration of the "levee" held by President and Mrs. Washington at the time of the first inauguration. The reception by the presidential party, including members of Washington's first Cabinet, and distinguished men and women of early American history, and the ball on the Plaza will open at 8 o'clock, and following the pageant processional of the President and his entourage, the program of dances will open with a minuet to be danced by fourteen dancers of the Carmody Studio, directed by Miss Margaret Carmody.

The Carmody dancers are Misses Hazel Lee, Judith Mooers, Marion Walsh, Betty Vetter, Caroline Waterman, Eleanor Jordan, Betty Lou Parron, Helen Lewis, Evelyn Brennan, Patricia Colomer, Josephine Faulkner, Lucy Stadler, Dorothy Stadler and Constance Supplee. The Helen Griffith Dancers will appear in a delightful gavotte of colonial days, directed by Miss Griffith, and comprising, among the dancers, Misses Adele Whiteside, Ruth Quinn, Dorothy Ross, Nancy Hall, Faith Shesong, Dorothy Sutton, Maurine Stuart, Carolyn Ames, Mary Beth Adams, Elizabeth Schirmer, Dorothy Rose and Ruth Marlowe.

Eight dancers from Thomson Community Center, under the direction of Mrs. Jeanette P. Tolford, will present a minuet, such as was danced before Martha Washington, and those taking part in this number will be Misses Edith Berkenshaw, Viola Palmer, Mary Osin, Peggy Hoffman, Helen Bronson, Mary Beulah Warder, Eula Feimster and Alva Hudson.

An old-fashioned "square dance" will be the next feature on the steps, and in this dance will be seen Miss Ivy Randall, Margaret Wetmore, Marjorie Oleson, Betty Crossen, Helen McLaren, and Helene Foote, also Louis Sasser, Kimball Scribner, Campbell Oliphant, Wilson Clark, Hugh Ferry and Dick Stewart.

In Mrs. Sawtelle's "set" will dance Miss Mary Darnaby Scott and Wilson Lansford, Miss Ann Woodward and Dallas Bart, Miss Sallie Steele and Hamilton Colt, Miss Barbara Bullard and Robert Mickey.

All the dancers will appear in picturesque costumes of the first administration. The final numbers of the program of the occasion will be a drill by the Daughters of America, who will march to the strains of "The Old Rugged Cross," under the direction of Mrs. Mabel G. Downing, down the wide Capitol steps onto the plaza and give their drill in the dancing area.

Throughout the evening, at intervals between the special dances on the steps, the public will dance on the plaza to present-day music by the U. S. Army Band orchestra. The members of the District of Columbia Bicentennial Commission will serve as a special reception and floor committee for the unique reception and ball.

The public has been invited to attend this reception and ball. Colonial costume is requested.

Senator Gore Addresses Women's Democratic Club.

A large and interesting company attended the dinner which the Woman's National Democratic Club gave last evening in compliment to Senator Thomas P. Gore, of Oklahoma. He was accompanied by Mrs. Gore. Miss Mary E. Bakewell introduced the senator after dinner when he spoke on "Rugged Individualism." Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Herrick and Mrs. Charles Hamlin were among those at the speaker's table.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

Expert Answers Readers' Questions.

MISS B. D. S.: White henna is carbonate of magnesia in chalk form. This is used to bleach dark hairs on arms, legs or upper lips. It is mixed with hydrogen of peroxide and a few drops of ammonia to form a thick, smooth paste. It is allowed to remain for some time until fairly hard, then it is sponged off. Massage with a nourishing cream should follow, since most bleaches are drying. My bulletin on superfluous hair is yours for the asking. Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for it.

Elsie Pierce.

Joan: Exercise is the best leveler in the world and the same exercises that reduce overdeveloped parts will also develop underweight parts. Arm flinging exercises, swimming, golf and tennis are excellent to develop the bust. Walking, particularly walking upstairs, kicking a pillow suspended in the doorway, dancing and swimming should also help to develop your legs. (I have a bulletin called "Beautiful Legs—Always in Vogue," which should help you. Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for it.) To reduce hips and thighs, running in place and squatting exercises are good. To make your face appear rounder, apply rouge well out on your cheeks and comb your hair low on your forehead and fluffed behind your ears. If your features are quite regular, a center part and hair worn quite low, covering the neck, will make the face appear much rounder. The only way to actually fill out your face is to gain weight.

L. A. K.: You are decidedly underweight, and if you would gain I am sure you would develop the parts you wish.

E. S.: "Pink tooth brush" is a signal for you to visit your dentist. The bleeding may indicate a very slight gum disturbance, or a pyorrhea condition. Your dentist will tell you readily whether you need much treatment or not. Sometimes the removal of tartar and a few gum treatments are sufficient to set things right. Do see your dentist soon. In addition to treating your gums, he will probably tell you how to massage the gums at home, yourself, how to brush the teeth so that the gums also get the benefit of brushing. He will very likely give you important pointers on diet, &c.

* * * *

G. G.: Hair that is naturally curly may be set without the aid of a water waving solution, after the shampoo, while the hair is quite damp. But hair that is naturally very straight, usually requires the aid of a wave-setting lotion.

* * * *

"Fat Emma:" Reduction by sane diet and exercise are the only methods which I sanction. The thyroid treatment you mention should not be taken promiscuously. Consult your physician before taking any internal treatment or medicines.

BIDDING A DEFENSIVE GRAND SLAM.

WHILE the bidding of Grand Slams is not generally recommended at the Contract table, hands occasionally are dealt which clearly require this spectacular bid, with the rich bonuses for its fulfillment. The bidding of a defensive Grand Slam is, perhaps, more clearly indicated. Such a bid is reached only because the other side has continued their bidding to a Slam contract and a player is confronted with the choice as to which penalty he prefers—to permit the opponents to make a Slam with its bonuses, or to take a penalty loss in lieu thereof.

This was the question involved in Hand No. 10 in the World Bridge Olympic, played April 1 in 33 countries throughout the world, under the auspices of the National Bridge Association. The North and South par was seven clubs, bid and made, or, if opponents refused to permit them to play the hand at a Grand Slam in clubs, then the defeat of the East and West players by six tricks at a contract of seven diamonds doubled. Inasmuch as East and West were not vulnerable, the bid of seven diamonds represented an actual gain for them over what they would have been penalized if they had permitted North and South's seven club bid to go uncontested. The hand and preferred bidding were:

North—Dealer.

North and South vulnerable.

	♠ K ♡ A 6 2 ◇ 4 3 ♣ A K J 10 7 6 4
♠ 10 7 5 3 ♡ 10 9 4 3 ◇ K 7 6 2 ♣ 8	N W E S	♠ Q 6 4 2 ♡ 7 5 ◇ A Q J 10 9 8 5 ♣ —
	♠ A J 9 8 ♡ K Q J 8 ◇ — ♣ Q 9 5 3 2

The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
		1♣(1)	1◇
2◇(2)	Pass	3♣(3)	3◇(4)
6♣(5)	6◇(6)	7♣(7)	Pass
Pass	7◇(8)	Dbl.	Pass
Pass	Pass

1—The best bid for North is a bid of one club only.
3—North shows a good club suit on his Rebid—no need to hurry the bidding by a higher bid.
5—The Small Slam bid is obvious.
6—West believes the penalty at diamonds will cost less than a vulnerable Slam.
7—North is absolutely assured of a Grand Slam. South by his bidding is positively marked with the Ace of Spades, the King of hearts and a void in diamonds.
8—West feels sure that East holds no other strength than his powerful diamond suit and that the adverse Grand Slam is assured. Consequently, he prefers to take a nonvulnerable penalty in preference.

With East playing the contract at seven diamonds, it requires excellent defensive play for North and South to win 6 tricks. South, of course, on the bidding could not open a club, but selected instead his heart suit in preference, choosing the King as the card. North overtook with the Ace of hearts in order to lead the singleton spade King to pave the way for an opportunity to ruff a spade, when his partner obtained the lead. The bidding clearly marked the location of the spade Ace in South's hand. After laying down the spade King, North returned a heart, which South won and led the nine of Spades to give his partner an opportunity to ruff that suit. North and South thus won two heart tricks, three spade tricks and one spade ruff, because East was later compelled to surrender 2 tricks in spades to South's tenace holding.

TODAY'S POINTER.

Acceptance of even a spectacular penalty of 1,400 points is justified in defending a Grand Slam bid, if the players are satisfied that they have no defense against the contract.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

A lovely boudoir negligee with sleeves that form a butterfly cape when thrown back over the shoulders. (A Dahray Design.)

NEW YORK, May 6.—Just how often does one have to have a new negligee?

I say as often as one needs something to remind one of, oh, lots of things!

Because a negligee is so very personal, so very "intime" and so very comforting—doing to one's soul what a beautiful morocco leather box lined in blue velvet does to a diamond. Oh, the diamond and the soul are there, to be sure—but oh, how the box enhances their beauty!

That's what a negligee does to a woman. And that is why a woman can't have too many negligees. For there are so many moments in our lives when we need self smoothing! The time and the place are—any time, and in one's own home. Wrapped in a negligee, relaxing and being lovely—there simply is nothing like it for any woman.

So every now and then I design a negligee for clever fingers to make, since one simply has to have loveliness, whether the wardrobe budget stretches far or no. The one I designed today, for instance. This is so very easily made—so gracefully lovely, and so very elegant looking and feeling. One keeps the sleeves over the arms when in a sleeve-over-arm mood—one throws them back over the shoulders and lets them hang as a butterfly cape in two points when in that mood. And one counts so proudly the pennies and dollars saved by the making of this with one's own clever fingers—after carefully, carefully shopping for good materials at reduced prices.

* * * *

And how would you like to make the one I sketched for you today? It's so very easy to make and so lovely to wear—takes not too much material, too, and scarcely any fitting and cutting and sewing. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare's Department of The Washington Post if you would like to just see the illustrated directions for making this in the leaflet that just this minute came back from Mr. Printer's.

You will love it—and can put the leaflet away until you have the time or the pennies to make the negligee, you know. Lovely it would be for a gift, too—better send for the leaflet this minute, before it slips your mind.

Those rough crepes that look like woolens—the most popular are one in a spongy silk; another in a heavy sheer silk, shot through with thick and thin threads of the same color like the weave of shantung; and a silk-and-wool crumpled crepe of fine quality. Nice, all these—and the vogue being for heavy-appearing yet lightweight materials, these three silk materials are specially interesting.

The Beauty Sorceress.

"I know you will get a good tan (ning) if you keep on calling me that! But if you bee-have, I'll tell you. I would be faithful with cocoa butter or cocoanut oil, anointing my skin wherever the sun would touch it except on my face, before exposure. And not so much of it, either, that ants and flies and such animules would think I was a juicy flower to be nourished on. Then I would watch, and when certain more exposed parts would get too brown, so they no longer looked appealingly golden, but duskily, duskily dull, I would cover these, and go on with the rest.

"'Nif you behave yourself I'll tell you more about this next week."

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

THE CHRONIC SULKER.

MY DEAR FRANCES McCONALD:

I am 35 and my husband 45, married 10 years, and have three children, whom I adore. My husband is morally very fine and, like his type, utterly intolerant in all his views. He is what is known as a good provider, but hasn't a spark of spontaneous generosity. Of course, in this present stress and strain we are more or less curtailed, which I expect. But to get to the problem—his mother brought him up thoroughly convinced that he was a proud and sensitive soul, and oh, how he glories in it! His pride is the only thing in the world, and everyone's happiness goes before it. For something trivial he will have a long temperamental debauch, stop speaking for a week. Then, with "peace at any price" strong within me, I apologize contritely once, or maybe twice, and his highness comes around. I can't stand the unpleasant atmosphere created and have no "pride." I am naturally high strung and would love the luxury of telling him what I think, but honestly wouldn't dare, and have schooled myself to a most beautiful control.

When we were first married and had any unpleasantness, I would wait for some sign from him, but none was ever forthcoming, and I refused to admit I was always wrong, and the spells of silence went on. I am always wrong, although the funny thing is I have loads of friends and he has none. I started to leave him once, but realized the struggle it would be and decided on this—always to apologize; also built up an independent existence and filled my time with interesting things, and kept him serene. Now, however, last month he stopped speaking when I remonstrated with him about not shaving when we had guests for dinner. I told him I was sorry (although he criticizes me on any occasion.) He ignored me and still never speaks. I am at the end of my string. You can imagine how much love I have for him, and now I simply can't beg him to declare an armistice again. It simply isn't in my heart to do it, and I'm licked, and now it is getting me physically. I'm at my wit's end, honestly. Don't you think I have the idea I am perfect, but I have surely tried—and failed. Another thing that is most incongruous, I really believe in his funny way he loves me, while my all-consuming desire is to be free of him. Please help me with some unbiased advice. CYNTHIA.

Having ceased to care for the man, it should not be difficult for you to adjust yourself to his near-psychosis and live your life as if he were some slightly erratic guest at your table. In fact his disinclination to be chatty should simplify your problem of no longer caring for him.

Of course such a situation is far from pleasant. But it is better than going out to face the world with three children. You can and should ignore his conduct, just as you would be forced to ignore many things in others were you forced to wrest a living from the cold grim world.

When first he practiced this system of intimidating you, he was successful. He therefore resorted to it more and more frequently to gain his own way and prevent your interference with his plans. Now it is a habit which it is doubtful he could ever break. Especially as the type that indulges in fits of silence and sulks is quite often a type predisposed to erratic mental habit, and quite powerless to help themselves. The only means of reaching such people is through their own discomfort. If such conduct furthers their interests they may be counted upon to perform. If however they find that certain definite inconveniences or embarrassment is their sole reward, they soon see reason. Providing the strange behavior is not actually caused by definite mental disturbance. If these sulkers knew that alienists class them all as "potential" they might snap right out of their corners without further coaxing from sympathetic bystanders. We asked an alienist about a certain man once who went in for this sulking in a big way. And the scientist informed us frankly that the "subject" was not good matrimonial material and explained why. What he told us we might look for has been borne out in the man's life. He said among other things that just as certain "cases" advance to a stage where it is impossible to communicate with them at all for weeks, so certain persons not even suspected of any erratic tendency, suffer no inconvenience or embarrassment from this "not speaking" program, simply because they are withdrawn from their surroundings quite as the mental patient with recognized psychosis.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

A THRIFTY MAN.

THE human body is a model for the thrifty man. The latter knows the wisdom of living within his income and laying up resources against hard times. He might have learned his wisdom from his own body. Be he ever so thrifty, he will not live up to the pattern that his body has followed since his birth.

Here are some illustrations taken from Cannon's "Wisdom of the Body:"

A man weighing 150 pounds has about 100 pounds of water in his tissues. Of this a certain part is incorporated into his structures and is an essential part thereof. But, in addition to that, his tissues are flooded with an excess of water held there for emergencies. He can lose 10 per cent of his water, or about 10 pints, and be in no hurry to replenish the loss and suffer no particular harm.

To carry on the work of the body a certain amount of sugar in the blood is required. We call this amount 100. If the amount rises to 180 the excess flows over and is eliminated by the kidneys. It can fall to 70 without doing great harm. If it falls to 45 convulsions begin. In addition to the sugar in the blood a great reserve of sugar, made for the purpose in glycogen, is stored in several appropriate warehouses in the body. A man can starve for days without totally exhausting the supplies in these glycogen warehouses.

The body needs fats for its daily work. The excess is converted into lecithin, a storage form comparable to glycogen. Every one knows of how globules of fat which, taken together, make layers, pads, and rolls, are stored around the body for use in hard times.

Physical work requires proteins, both for repair of worn tissues and for fuel. The excess of protein is stored in the liver cells as protein granules. When the food supply runs short the body checks on these granules to supply the daily needs. The body needs a considerable amount of lime. If we set the level of this need at 10, we find that it can be drawn down to the 7 level without doing harm. Below that there are varying manifestations of lime hunger. At level 5 convulsions start. The great reservoir for the storage of rather loose lime is in the shafts of large bones—near the heads thereof. In fact, nature has provided a way of storing a surplus of everything we need except oxygen.

Since air is everywhere, and since this mixture of gases is one-fifth oxygen, it seemed that there was no need of having any gas bags filled with oxygen to be held in reserve. In man's specifications there is no provision for storing up oxygen. It is true that the lungs are never more than one-fifth emptied, and that the blood carries to the tissues more than four times as much oxygen as it surrenders, and that the tissues contain a little more oxygen than they need. But it is also true that the margin of oxygen safety is very much narrower than is any other. Therefore, men quickly become breathless on exertion. Even after they are through exerting their tissues remain in air debt for several minutes, as shown by a period of somewhat rapid pulse and disturbed breathing.

Should we ever train ourselves to fly at very high altitudes or should we go on frequent excursions to Mars, we would first have to acquire a capacity for storing oxygen comparable with that we now have for storing sugar, fats, water, lime and salt.

THE NEED OF SALT.

J. H. writes: What effect will salt have on the human body? Is it helpful, and will it cause hardening of the arteries in a person 62 years old?

REPLY.

Salt is one of the constituents of the body. If we do not get enough of it we suffer. Salt hunger is terrible.

On the other hand, too much salt is harmful. It is sometimes charged with part of the responsibility for hardening of the arteries, though the proof is not good.

What Today Means to You

"TAURUS."

IF May 7 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:10 a. m. to 11:45 a. m., from 2:30 p. m. to 4 p. m. and from 10 p. m. to 11 p. m. The danger periods are from 8 a. m. to 9:30 a. m. and from 6 p. m. to 7:35 p. m.

Very disturbing planetary conditions are augured for May 7, and the complexion of many preconceived plans or set ideas will change color through startling disclosures of the day. Attention will be called to financial matters, and quick thought and action will be called to save the loss of property or investments.

The child born on this May 7 will have reason to thank its lucky stars, as the planetary aspects on this date are most favorable. Neither character nor brain will be lacking, and life has many rich opportunities in store for it. It will earn the love of all its associates.

Your character, if born on May 7, is not made up of temperamental frills. You are always your natural, unaffected self, as you do not know how to put on any bright trappings of make-believe in order to attract. This, however, is not necessary for your naive ways are different and refreshing. Your artless way of calling a spade a spade both shocks and pleases, and you are always unconsciously selling your personality without any forced effort on your part.

You are not a drone by nature, and whether it be necessary to earn your salt or not, you will not be an idler. Many times you will put away your toys of amusement in order to concentrate on some longed-for goal. You are interested in scientific subjects, and in a sense of the word will be a student all your life—never too old to learn. You do not hoard your knowledge, but make use of it in your everyday contacts, conversation and travels. It rather pleases you, in fact, to spill information wherever there is a likelihood of its soaking in.

You are impassioned on the heart more than the physical side, and should seek intellectual companionship above all else in your marriage partner.

Successful People Born on May 7:

1. Robert Browning, poet.
2. Lord Rosebery, English statesman.
3. Joe Cannon, former Speaker of Congress.
4. William Bainbridge, naval officer.
5. Anton Seidl, musician.
6. Col. Albert L. Mills, superintendent of U. S. Military Academy, West Point, N. Y.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

UNDER the new rules and regulations of the Federal Radio Commission, only the applicant or his attorney is allowed to appear before the Federal Radio Commission or examiner.

Under the old rules, any agent or any one with power of attorney could appear. A strict enforcement of the new rule will prevent many congressmen from appearing before the commission to plead the cause of their constituents, as many members of Congress who are not lawyers have been doing up to this time. It has been the custom for members of Congress, regardless of their profession, to appear before examiners and the commission in behalf of applicants for radio facilities in their districts.

The fifty-eighth running of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs—the race which packs more thrills into two minutes than any other event of the American turf—will be described from the track today. Ted Husing will be at the microphone for Columbia, and WMAL is scheduled to begin its word picture of the race, beginning at 5:45 p. m. Station WRC, because of the "Amos 'n' Andy" program, is not expected to broadcast the account given by Graham McNamee and Clem McCarthy over the WEAF network, beginning at the same hour.

LISTENERS will have an opportunity to appraise the radio acoustics of the new edifice tomorrow afternoon when the Marine Band Orchestra, first large musical organization to be heard in the great choir and sanctuary will take part in the Washington Cathedral Mother's Day service in honor of George Washington's mother (WMAL, 4 p. m.).

Capt. Taylor Branson will conduct the orchestra and Edgar Priest will be at the organ. The Cathedral Choir, the singing of which brought forth so much praise at the opening exercises last Thursday, will likewise have an important part in tomorrow's service. The choir has never been heard to better advantage than when it sang in the new section of the cathedral. The acoustics are marvelous for musical offerings and make the choir sound almost twice as large as it really is.

When the United States Army Band, directed by Capt. William J. Stannard, inaugurates a new night-time series over the Columbia chain tonight (WMAL, 8:30 o'clock), it will be the first of the three service bands to have a regular evening schedule in many, many months. Leonard Davis, WMAL announcer-barytone, will be soloist and has chosen "Mother o' Mine" as a special tribute of Mother's Day.

Some drawbacks to the perfecting of television as foreseen by Thomas P. Littlepage, vice president of the Washington Chamber of Commerce:

"When television comes about in a perfect state, all business offices throughout the United States will have to close during the world series baseball games," Mr. Littlepage declared, "and the matrimonial photographs will lose a lot of business because the fellow out in Indiana can call up the lady that he had met through advertising and look her over before he sends her money to come out and hit the altar trail.

"The husband will not be able to get away with 'being at a board of directors' meeting' when he calls up his wife, when, as a matter of fact, he is sitting around with a bunch of congenial friends, with red and blue chips on the table."

THE Maryland Collegians heard every Sunday over Station WOL at 6 o'clock, originated at the University of Maryland. Under the direction of Don Murray the band has become quite popular, playing for the Kappa Alpha minstrel and most of the formal dances given at the university. Starting with four boys, the band now numbers nine musicians and a vocalist.

Gov. Max O. Gardner of North Carolina, who attracted Nation-wide attention at the recent stage executives' conference by his views on State budget cuts, will be heard tonight (WMAL, 9:15 o'clock). His radio talk will be entitled, "Retrenchment and Reform in State Government."

Leola Turner, dramatic soprano of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, will be the guest artist on the Civic Concerts Service program from the Chicago studios at 7:15 o'clock tonight over WRC. Miss Turner will include in her program an aria from Verdi's "Vespri Siciliani," "Gavotte," by Phillips; "Night," by Brown, and Richard Strauss' "Serenade."

Lawrence Tibbett has signed up for an additional four weeks on the radio at $4,000 a week.

Phil Cook will conclude his contract in July, which was a long one as radio engagements go, having covered a period of two and one-half years.

"I HAVE written to four or five artists and to orchestra leaders in response to their invitation to request selections," a Pennsylvanian complains to the New York Times. "My requests for good music have never been granted. I notice, however, that the programs contain the same selections repeated day after day. That is tiresome to listeners. What is the use of asking for good music? Why protest when the easiest thing to do is to tune out?"

"The two words, 'tune out,' express the great power with which the radio audience is endowed. The listener is more powerful than the broadcaster," comments Orrin Dunlap, jr., radio editor of the Times. "No matter whether the transmitter is rated at 100,000 watts, the listener still has the greatest power, which he can exercise with his little finger by merely pushing a tiny switch. Then all the electric energy in space is powerless to make itself heard. If listeners' letters tell the true story, then today many watts and many words are being wasted in the emptiness of space.

"There is nothing the broadcasters can do about it except stop violating the etiquette of the air. When the listener exercises his power and turns to a certain wave to welcome an entertainer to the home, that songster or musician often loses a friend when he steps aside and turns the wave over to a talkative announcer, who tries to sell him something. That is what listeners resent. That is why more radio sets are silent today. The audience reports it is sick and tired of all the unnecessary chatter and ballyhoo."

WMAL notes—Guy Lombardo's final broadcast of the season from the Roosevelt Hotel in New York was ended by an ovation from those dancing to the famous rhythm... Norman Brokenshire is left-handed... When Nat Brusiloff is not playing his violin during a program he holds the instrument and its bow in one hand, and waves a baton with the other... The Royal Hawaiian Girls Glee Club heard in Columbia's recent broadcast from Honolulu, will come to the United States in 1933 for the Chicago World's Fair...Singin' Sam inevitably gathers a crowd in the Columbia reception room when he starts to tell a Negro dialect story...He has a store of anecdotes gathered in the days when he was trouping up and down the Mississippi as a minstrel man...Ted Brewer has a trunk specially equipped to carry 21 different musical instruments...He is master of all of them.

Fifth Avenue Fashions

The molded line of this slender model hugs the figure to well below the hips, where it starts to widen so as to have a comfortably full flaring hemline.

Its unbroken line from the shoulder to hem does away with any conflicting lines to the outer garment, that so often entirely ruins an otherwise perfectly charming appearance.

It's easily made! A few seams to join! The hem may be finished with picot-edge or binding.

Style No. 2668 may be had in sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Size 36 requires 2¾ yards of 39-inch material with 2 yards of binding.

Dr. A. R. Bird to Discuss "Hope of His Calling"

Dr. Andrew Reid Bird, minister of the Church of the Pilgrims, will preach tomorrow morning on "The Hope of His Calling." In the evening at 7:30 o'clock there will be an organ recital, with the worship service at 7:45 o'clock, at which Dr. Bird will again preach.

Advice on Gardening

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

MY evergreens have grown too tall. Is it possible to transplant them? These trees are ten years old and very spindly.
F. B. W.

Spruces and pines unless moved early in the spring are best transplanted in August or September. In the case of trees ten years old, I would suggest consulting a landscape gardener. Such old trees will require careful handling. In any case see that they are lifted with huge balls of soil about their roots.

Please tell me how to start seedlings in a cigar box. J. E. B.

Fill box with good loam. Pack the soil in the corners and along the sides with your hands, because if you do not it will settle there more than in the middle and the waterings may wash down the soil, uncovering and often taking the seed with it. Make drills 2 inches apart, using a ruler as a marker, merely pressing it into the soil for a quarter of an inch or so. Sow the seed thinly and evenly in the drills, and cover lightly by rubbing a little soil between your hands. The layer of soil must be as deep as the diameter of the seeds. Some authorities use sand to cover seed and some advocate dry spagnum moss. Water the planted seed through a piece of newspaper and use only a very fine spray when doing this. Cover the box with a loose-fitting pane of glass to keep a more humid atmosphere, thus reducing evaporation from the soil. Every day remove the glass and wipe off the undersurface where the moisture will have condensed. Place the box where it will receive all the light possible, but shade it from the direct sunlight.

H. E. S.

Unless your sedum is crowded there is no reason for dividing it? To propagate a sedum all that is necessary is to cut off a piece and root it in good soil. You can also increase your stock from seed. Sedums prefer a sandy soil and perfect drainage in winter, and while they do best in strong sun, they can be coaxed into growth in the shade.

What could I plant in a cemetery urn besides the usual mixed planting of geraniums and variegated vines? Would rock plants do well? How about tulips? MRS. T. V.

Rock plants would hardly be suitable for a cemetery urn unless you choose sedum acre. That might do, though it would not be particularly effective. Any spring flowering bulbs planted in October would bloom in the spring. English ivy would be a good choice if your urn is in a shady place where it will be watered regularly. Ivy is always desirable. If in the sun an urn of rosy morn or rose of heaven petunias would be beautiful. Of course, dead flowers would have to be removed and the plants watered. In some of our larger cemeteries myrtle is used for covering graves and planting in urns.

I have a gardenia which is through flowering. How shall I care for the plant in summer? RENA P. H. D.

Plunge pot outdoors in partial shade, and be careful not to overwater. Good drainage is essential, as plants resent sour soil. Take the plant indoors in late September and keep in a light, well-ventilated place. A gardenia is hard to manage in the house.

RECIPES INVOLVING CHERRIES SOUGHT

Prizes to Be Awarded for Delicacies Made by Readers.

Cherry time is here again. Not only the Japanese cherry trees on the Speedway, noted more for their blossoms than their fruit, but trees which will yield their luscious treasures to refresh spring palates.

Therefore, the homemakers who read the Saturday Food Page in The Washington Post are invited to send in cherry recipes. Prize winners will be selected from these recipes.

"POST" EGGS.
(Awarded Book Prize.)

½ cup M. B. Frazier nut meats (preferably pecans)
1 pound XXXX sugar (Sanitary Grocery Co.)
1 large tablespoon Land o' Lake butter (Sanitary Grocery Co.)

Sift sugar in a large bowl, cream in liquid from bottle of cherries, put in cherries, chopped fine, and cream in butter until soft and smooth; first cut it with knife and fork and then cream it with hand. Add nuts. Divide into six equal parts, shaping each like an egg, at the same time pushing the nuts in so surface will be smooth. Put on buttered plate and set aside to dry. When surface is hard, dip in melted chocolate repeatedly until covered (a fine steel knitting needle stuck through the egg is a good way to accomplish this). Place on parafin paper to dry.

MISS KATHLEEN REICH.
3801 Yuma street northwest.

LEMON CAKE-TOP PUDDING.
(Awarded Book Prize.)

1 cup sugar (Sanitary)
3 tablespoons flour (Sanico)
3 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
2 egg yolks (Sanico)
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon melted butter (Land o' Lakes)
2 egg whites (Sanico)

Mix ingredients in order given, folding stiffly beaten egg whites in last. Bake either in individual custard cups or in one large baking dish, set in pan of water as in baking custard.

The result is a dessert with a spongy, pleasantly flavored top with a rich lemon custard beneath.

MISS EDNA WINDENBURG.
Kensington, Md.

FROZEN MOUGAL MOUSSE.
(Honorable Mention.)

½ pound shelled almonds
1½ cups sugar (Sanitary Store)
4 eggs (Sanico)
1 pint whole milk
1 pint whipping cream
1 teaspoon vanilla

Blanch and delicately brown one-half pound shelled almonds, add to these one cup of sugar, cook slowly in an iron skillet, stirring the sugar until melted or "caramelized" to a coffee color. Take from fire and pour on a buttered plate to cool. When cold pound to a powder and add to a boiled custard made of the eggs, ½ cup sugar and pint of milk. When thoroughly cold, add the pint of cream whipped stiff and teaspoonful of vanilla. Put in trays of electric refrigerator and let stand four to six hours.

MRS. JAMES F. DUNLOP.
208 Hammond court northwest.

COFFEE SALAD BISCUIT.
(Honorable Mention.)

2-3 cup Swing's Town Club coffee
2 cups Washington self-rising flour
3 tablespoons shortening

To the sifted flour add the shortening, cut it in thoroughly, then add the coffee. Roll out lightly on a floured board and cut into tiny biscuits. Bake in a very hot oven 10 minutes. These have a delicious flavor and provide a good way to use up left-over coffee.

MRS. D. B. ZIMMER.
802 Philadelphia avenue, Silver Spring, Md.

BAVARIAN CREAM.
(Honorable Mention.)

¾ tablespoon of granulated gelatine
¼ cup cold water
1 cup shredded pineapple (Sanitary), or 1 cup crushed strawberries (Sanitary)
1½ cups of liquid—fruit juice plus water
½ cup sugar
Few grains salt
2 tablespoons of lemon juice
1 cup or more whipped cream

Mix the gelatine and cold water and let it stand until the water is absorbed. Drain the sirup from the pineapple and add enough water to make one and one-half cups. Heat the pineapple, sirup and water to the boiling temperature. Then pour it over the gelatine mixture. Stir until the gelatine is entirely dissolved. Add the sugar and salt and continue stirring until they are dissolved. Add the lemon juice. Cover and set aside in a cold place until the mixture begins to stiffen. Then fold in the whipped cream and pineapple. Chill thoroughly and serve on top of sliced angel food cake, or increase the proportion of gelatine to one tablespoon and serve from molds as a dessert with cake.

RECIPES FOR WEEK-END AND REQUESTED RECIPES.

SATURDAY afternoon again, with the column planned for the week-end and recipes for tomorrow's menu cards and requested recipes here in a little pile near this "writing elbow." So to business and at once after first wishing you all a perfectly dandy week-end.

Green Soup.

2 bunches watercress.
2 potatoes, diced.
2 egg yolks, hard-cooked and riced.
2 slices bread.
2 tablespoonfuls butter.

Cook watercress until almost done, add the potatoes and cook until soft. Press mixture through sieve and add the puree to water in which it was cooked. Brown the bread slightly in half the butter and then cut into small cubes. Add the riced egg yolks and remaining butter to the soup, season to taste with salt and pepper and add the cubed bread. Serve hot.

Chicken Potpie.

Cut the chicken into individual servings, cover with boiling water and simmer, covered, until tender. Add salt when chicken is half cooked. Cook the dumplings with the stew, thicken the gravy and season. A richer potpie may be made by removing the pieces of chicken, browning them in chicken fat or butter and then returning them to the pot before adding the dumplings.

Dumplings.

3 teaspoonfuls of baking powder.
¼ teaspoonful salt.
1 tablespoonful butter.
¾ cupful milk—approximately.

Mix the sifted flour, baking powder and salt and cut the butter well into them with two knives. Add the milk gradually as for biscuits, cutting it in with a knife. The milk should be sufficient to make a soft dough. Take up by tablespoonfuls and add to the stew, allowing the dumplings to rest on the meat. Cover closely and steam for exactly 12 minutes and do not remove the cover during this period. Be sure liquid is boiling during the entire time. Serve at once, removing dumplings to the outer edge of the warmed platter and place the stew in the middle.

Apricot Whip.

2 egg whites
1 cupful powdered sugar
Dash of salt
1 tablespoonful lemon juice
1½ cupfuls apricot puree

Beat the egg whites until stiff, add sugar, salt and lemon juice, beating all the while with rotary beater. Add apricot puree, beat again. Serve in parfait glasses and garnish with whipped cream and cherry.

Now, the request recipes.

Croutons.
(For "Mrs. R. V. M.")

Cut bread in three-quarter inch cubes. Place on baking sheet in a moderate oven and turn frequently until a golden brown on all sides. They may also be fried in deep, hot fat for one minute or pan-fried for two minutes.

Macedoine Loaf.
(For "Mrs. George S. T.")

1 cupful macaroni—cooked and cut in half-inch pieces
½ cupful cold chicken—cooked and cubed.
2 eggs—separated
½ cupful mushroom caps—cut in strips
3 teaspoonfuls pimiento—cut in small pieces
½ cupful heavy cream—beaten stiff
1½ teaspoonfuls butter
1½ teaspoonfuls flour
½ cupful bread crumbs
1 teaspoonful parsley—chopped fine
1½ teaspoonfuls salt
½ cupful milk

Melt the butter, add the flour and stir until thoroughly blended. Then pour the milk on gradually, stirring constantly. Bring to the boiling point and add the breadcrumbs, the well-beaten egg yolks, macaroni, chicken, mushroom caps, pimiento, cream, salt and parsley. Stir until well mixed and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Line mold with buttered paper, pour mixture into it and cover with buttered paper. Bake until firm. Garnish with parsley and serve with white or tomato sauce to which sliced, sauteed mushroom caps have been added.

Banana Custard.
(For "Miss Louise M.")

Beat the yolks of three eggs slightly, add four tablespoonfuls sugar and a pinch of salt. Stir constantly while adding slowly one pint of scalded milk. Cook in double boiler, stirring until mixture thickens. Strain immediately, chill and flavor with one-half teaspoonful vanilla, and then pour over bananas, which have been sliced and arranged in sherbet glasses. Chill and just before serving make a meringue of the whites of three eggs to which have been added two tablespoonfuls powdered sugar; place on the custard and top with a maraschino cherry. If custard is cooked too long it will curdle. Should this happen it can be restored to a smooth consistency by beating with an egg beater.

Answers to Readers.

Dear Miss Carey: I am coming to you once more for help. I have been following your diet carefully and have reduced almost to normal—only ten more pounds to lose. I feel much better, and look better, too. But here is my problem—I have a slight double chin. Will it disappear when I have reduced more or will I have to get rid of it in some other way? I will never be fat again if I can help it.

A READER.

A double chin!—that bugaboo of all women, at every age and in every clime. We may put up with a bulging waist or, by means of clever dress, disguise too broad hips, but in a double chin we meet our Waterloo. It marks, as it were, the passing of youth and beauty. At least, we think it does. But it doesn't necessarily. There are many things we can do by way of correction or remedy and thus regain the poise and confidence in our appearance that we thought to have been lost forever.

I have no doubt that you will be very successful, my dear reader, for your perseverance in watching your diet and your calories until you have come within clear sight of your goal is going to be a strong ally now. For that is all that is necessary, you know, once we have learned the right thing to do. Stick to your plan every day of every week, never excusing yourself for any reason whatever.

The first thing is to keep the muscles of the face and chin firm. Very often sagging muscles are more to blame for the calamity of a double chin than overfleshiness. Massage is most helpful in this regard—expert massage, if possible—in connection with proper skin foods and astringents. Then, correct posture. Always hold your head erect and keep your shoulders squared—think of yourself as being held up by means of a hook on top of your head. Keep your head up whether you are reading, walking or talking—always up!

Correct diet will aid also, of course, especially when it is really layers of fat which are responsible for double or even triple rows of chins.

Let us hear from you again and don't give up until you have reached your desired weight.

Nancy Carey

RICE CORN PUDDING RECIPE WINS PRIZE

Mrs. Edgar S. Pickett Gets $5 for New Touches in Delicacy.

Good old rice corn pudding with a wrinkle that is guaranteed to make it taste better than the kind even your mother used to make hit the gong for the $5 prize in The Post recipe contest this week.

Mrs. Edgar S. Pickett, of 220 Avenue C, District Heights, Md., is the originator of this old-fashioned dessert with a modern touch. Like others who have won the contest prize, Mrs. Pickett has been careful to observe the requirement to include in her recipe some food stuff advertised on this page.

Take a glance at this, and then get busy and try it yourself:

RICE CORN PUDDING.
(Awarded $5 Prize).

1 can Peter Pan corn
2 cups cooked White House rice
2 cups or 1 pint can Sealect evaporated milk
2 Sanico fresh eggs
2 tablespoons Land o'Lakes butter
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Beat two eggs with a Dover beater; add two cups of rice, two cups of milk, two tablespoons of melted butter, one teaspoonful of salt and one-half teaspoonful of pepper. One tablespoonful of sugar may be added if desired. Bake in a moderate oven until a knife

Market Meanderings

By MILDRED REED BUNDY

Shop Featuring Specially Decorated Cakes for Mother's Day; Lower Half of Asparagus Stalks Found Ideal for Soup by Merchant's Wife.

Some of the most acceptable of the Mother's Day remembrances in Washington tomorrow will be from a well-known pastry shop in G street. They are to be especially decorated cakes. On at least one Sunday of the year, then, many mothers are to be relieved of the responsibility of providing the cake for the family. It is not too late to order one of these delightful gifts now, for their creator can produce them in 15 minutes. From the day's supply of fresh cakes the foundation is chosen and the appropriate decorations—usually "Mother" lettered across the cake, surrounded by colored flowers—are put on very quickly by the skilled decorator, one of Washington's best-known pastry chefs. The Meanderer knows that the work can be done in 15 minutes by this artist, for she has visited his shop and watched these mothers' remembrances in preparation. The cakes are large, in a choice of flavors, and cost $1 or more.

"Rather than attempt the almost impossible in cooking the whole stalk of asparagus—both the tender tip and the lower, tougher part—in the same cooking period, my wife cuts the stalks about in half, cooks only the tips, and then uses the lower part for very good cream of asparagus soup." This advice for Washington housewives was given the Meanderer by one of the vegetable and fruit merchants in one of the largest open, downtown markets.

Some of the vegetables offered now in this big market include asparagus, very low in price; cauliflower, spinach, radishes, green peppers, carrots, chives, endive, new cabbage, new peas from Florida, new onions, Spanish onions, celery, green beans, cucumbers, new potatoes, beets, turnips, turnip greens, kale, tomatoes, celery and artichokes. The last named vegetable sells for 5 cents each in one stand. Last year's price on artichokes was about 10 cents each.

"Always a good meating place," is the slogan over a meat counter in a market out Seventh street way. In this market the Meanderer learned that spring lamb has taken a drop in price, and that once more one can buy first-class legs of lamb for 18 to 20 cents a pound. Some of the legs of lamb will sell today in this market for 15 cents a pound. Pork, too, has taken a drop in price, it was evident at this market—with pork loins selling for as little as 12½ cents a pound.

Soft shell crabs were attracting the largest number of buyers in the fish markets, it seemed to the Meanderer. These new soft-shell crabs from the lower Potomac—from Hampton Roads, Va., from Crisfield, Md., and from Messick, Va., and other lower river fishing points—cost as little as 65 cents a dozen in one fish market. Boston mackerel was a swift seller, fresh and attractive as it is with its clear blue color and plump flesh. Boston mackerel sells for 20 cents a pound in one market.

In a poultry and egg house at one of the big terminal markets, where dealers talk about poultry in terms of 50,000-pound lots, the Meanderer learns that Washington is supplied with broiling chickens the year round for about 30 cents a pound. There, too, she learned that eggs have now reached their lowest price level and in all probability will be more costly when warm weather arrives. The brothers who own this poultry house have served Washington customers for 30 years.

OLD HAUNTED FLOUR MILLS.

YOU know, almost every old flour mill is haunted. I don't know why it is, but the mill beside the old mill stream is always the most popular gathering place for ghosts. It's like the old country store, where the farmers gathered to whittle and talk politics. As far as I can find out, the favorite place for hobgoblins to hobgobble at night was the mill. There they'd clank their chains and tramp up and down stairs, or whatever ghosts do to amuse themselves. They may have difficulty finding work in other places, but any ghost who knows his stuff can get a job haunting an old mill.

When I was a boy we lived near a deserted mill. It certainly was a creepy, ghostly, dark old building—and, of course, it had to be haunted. Queer things went on there. It used to send a chill down my spine to go past the place after dark. And as for uncanny noises——

The late Prof. Henry Snyder, an expert on flour, said there was an old mill in New York State that was haunted by the spirit of an Indian. At night he made moaning and wailing sounds such as only an Indian could make. He seems to have haunted the mill long before it was abandoned, and his spirit got into the flour ground there. It was impossible for the housewife to make good bread out of it unless she first warmed a horseshoe on the stove and rolled it in the dough. That drove the evil spirits out of the bread.

The modern miller can't dig up any excuse like that if his flour doesn't make good bread.

And if all the bread dough in a modern bakery had to be wrapped around hot horseshoes, business would certainly be good for the Village Blacksmith!

One of the most thoroughly haunted mills, I ever heard about was the old Willington Mill, in England. This mill boasted, not of one ghost, which is all the average old mill can afford, but of a large and varied assortment of ghosts. The ghosts in this old mill seem to have been seen and heard by many people, and became quite famous.

There was a woman in grayish blue who had an inconsiderate habit of stepping unexpectedly out of the wall at the head of the bed and leaning over you.

There was another woman dressed in lavender who used to walk upstairs with great regularity. That's another peculiarity of ghosts. They seem to get most of their exercise walking upstairs. No reasonable man would object to that—if they would only choose some time for it besides the middle of the night.

There was a baldheaded old gentleman, too. His particular talent was gliding, which he did very expertly, about three feet off the floor. Now gliding frontwards is no great trick for a ghost, but this one could glide backwards just as gracefully. Another of this ghost's accomplishments was the fade-out. Apparently he could go on and off like a traffic light.

And just by way of adding to your peace of mind, there were various gruesome noises going on most of the night. Bare feet pattered all around you, a donkey or something seemed to be galloping round and round the room over your head, a dog's hollow bark echoed through the empty halls, doors creaked, door handles turned by themselves before your eyes, a room would suddenly be filled with unearthly smoke as though one of the devil's press photographers had set off a flashlight—and so on.

In fact, the whole affair was enough to make a man thank heaven for the modern flour mill and the daylight bakery, where such goings-on don't go on.

We don't take ghosts as seriously as people did years and years ago. Bright electric lights have pushed most of our good old ghosts between the covers of story books. And being a practical man, I'll have to admit, in closing, that the only spirit that haunts the modern flour mill, at least, is the spirit of progress.

CHURCH SOCIETIES HOLDING MEETINGS

Young people from Philadelphia, Germantown, Wilmington, Lancaster and Baltimore are attending the meetings of the Joseph Priestley Federation of Young People's Societies at All Souls' Church (Unitarian), Sixteenth and Harvard streets, this afternoon and evening.

The program includes a sightseeing trip, dinner, business sessions, entertainment and dance and candle-light service. Waldo Abbe is president of the federation; Miss Barbara Sinclair, chairman of the local committee; Sedgeley Thornbury, master of ceremonies, and Robert Cushman, in charge of the candle-light service.

The young people will also participate in the Mother's Day services of All Souls' Church School tomorrow morning. At the 11 o'clock service the minister, Ulysses G. B. Pierce, D. D., will preach on the subject, "The Friend of God."

Christian Healing Rite On Tuesday Morning

Dr. John Gayner Banks will assist Dr. George F. Dudley at the service of Christian healing Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the Church of St. Stephen and the Incarnation, Sixteenth and Newton streets northwest.

Dr. Banks, for nine years director of the Society of the Nazarine and a member of the Commission on Christian Healing of the Episcopal Church, has conducted many missions for the revival of the healing ministry.

Address on Mothers By Mrs. Gould Wickey

There will be two sermons in honor of Mother's Day at the Georgetown Lutheran Church tomorrow. In the morning the pastor, the Rev. Harold E. Beatty, will preach on "Mother's Saviour," and in the evening Mrs. Gould Wickey will deliver an address on "The Mother of Today."

Centennial Baptist's Sermon Title Is "Why"

Dr. E. Hez Swem, pastor of the Centennial Baptist Church, Seventh and I streets northeast, announces two of his usual attractive topics for his sermons tomorrow. In the morning he will preach on "Why!" In the evening his subject is: "He got Away From a Woman (a Story)!"

Central Union Mission.

Miss Maud Aldrich will give a special Mother's Day talk at the chapel service of the Central Union Mission, 613 C street northwest, tomorrow evening at 7:45 o'clock.

Chevy Chase Presbyterian.

Dr. J. Hillman Hollister, minister of Chevy Chase Presbyterian Church, will preach tomorrow morning on the subject: "Who Knows What Nobody Else Knows?"

31 Persons Confirmed By Bishop Freeman

Petworth Methodist Will Receive Pledges in Special Service.

Tomorrow is called the "Day of Destiny" at the Petworth Methodist Church, New Hampshire avenue at Grant Circle. Following a custom begun last year, the congregation will bring their pledges to the church service, and during a processional, lay them on the altar, after which they will be consecrated to the use of God in a prayer by the minister. The preparation for this service has extended over three weeks, and the church is expecting a canvass that will be largely completed by the members themselves tomorrow. During the week canvassers will visit all those whose pledges did not come in on Sunday.

The Mother's Day service will be held at 8 p. m. with the girls of the church in charge, taking all parts of the program except the sermon. Ethel Mary Nelson will preside, Ida Fay Smith will lead in prayer, and Jean Elizabeth Smith will read the scripture lesson. In addition, girls will act as ushers. A feature of the service will be the gift of a flower to every mother attending the service.

Dr. Brodie to Talk At Gunton Temple

Dr. Andrew M. Brodie, associate minister of New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, will preach at Gunton Temple Memorial Church tomorrow morning. His subject is, "An Authoritative Teacher."

Students to Build Colonial Gardens

Plans for the construction of miniature colonial gardens by District school children have been sent out by District school officials as a part of the George Washington Bicentennial celebration.

The gardens range in size from eighteen inches by twelve inches on down. Garden seats, sun dials, fountains and other architectural features are being carved out of soap and modeled out of clay. All of the garden clubs of Washington have been invited to sponsor the exhibition. The idea was worked out by the teachers of elementary science under the guidance of Selden M. Ely.

Arrangements have been made with the National Museum to hold an exhibition of the gardens in the foyer May 12 and 16.

Chiropractic Society to Meet.

The regular monthly meeting of the District Chiropractic Society will be held tonight at 1326 Massachusetts avenue northwest. Dr. Maurice Hollod will speak on "Chiropractic a Specific for Sciatica."

Women to Conduct Services at Church

At the Lutheran Church of Our Redeemer, Eighth street near Barry place northwest, tomorrow all the services of the day will be in charge of the women and will be dedicated to the day so generally celebrated throughout the land. In the morning Mrs. E. T. King will be mistress of ceremonies and will preside; and in the evening Mrs. Virgin B. Rice will occupy a similar place.

The program for the morning service is as follows: Prayer for all mothers; piano solo, selected, Miss M. Perry; history of Mother's Day, Miss Beresenia Walker; vocal solo, "Mother Machree," Mr. Harrison Wright; address, Mrs. E. W. Hill; selection by the choir, "Love's Old Sweet Song;" reading, Mrs. Margurite Robinson.

In the evening after the vesper service and pageant memories Mrs. Jessie Lawson will deliver an address.

Church Pageant to Aid India Mission Field

"April Strings of the Heart" is the subject of the Mother's Day address to be delivered by Dr. Henry W. Snyder at the morning service tomorrow at St. Paul's Lutheran Church. Mrs. Helen Fowler, soprano soloist, will also sing Speaks' beautiful composition, "Mother."

In the Sunday school there will also be special Mother's Day exercises. In addition, "Lace Day," for the benefit of the India Mission Field, will be observed by the presentation of a pageant by a group of children, and a special offering from the school. An interesting program has been arranged for the vesper service at 8 o'clock under the direction of the life service committee of the Luther League.

Professor at Auburn Seminary Will Preach

At the morning service in the Mount Pleasant Congregational Church tomorrow the sermon will be preached by the Rev. Gaius Glenn Atkins, D. D., professor of homiletics at Auburn Theological Seminary and formerly minister of the First Congregational Church in Detroit. He will speak on "The Unshaken Throne."

Dr. Atkins was conference chaplain for the Middle Atlantic Conference of Congregational Churches, which closed its sixty-fourth annual meeting in the Mount Pleasant church last night. While he was serving as minister in Detroit, Dr. Atkins' associate was the Rev. Russell J. Clinchy, now minister of the Mount Pleasant church.

Dr. Dunham, Well, To Preach Tomorrow

Dr. J. H. Dunham, minister of Western Presbyterian Church, having recovered from his recent illness, will fill his pulpit twice tomorrow. In the morning he will preach a Mother's Day sermon on the subject, "Builders of the New Day." His evening subject is "The Gospel According to Jonah."

Dr. H. B. Smith to Talk Twice on Tomorrow

Dr. Harvey Baker Smith, pastor of Columbia Heights Christian Church, preaches tomorrow morning on "Your Mother," and in the evening his subject will be "Joseph: Character That Wins."

. . . A THRILL FOR MOTHER TOMORROW

The map shows typical station-to-station day calls from Washington. Where rates are 40c or more evening and night rates are lower.

NO MATTER where she is, Mother is only seconds away—by telephone. . . . Send her the gift she will prize above all others. Send her yourself—by telephone. . . . It doesn't cost you much. And to her it means everything.

Give your local operator your Mother's out of town telephone number. You will probably be connected while you wait on the line. If you do not know the number, call "Information" or dial 411.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE IS GIVEN

Portland Visitor Talks on "Revelation of Real Manhood."

A lecture on "Christian Science: The Revelation of Real Manhood" was delivered last evening in Fourth Church of Christ Scientist by Paul Stark Seeley, C. S. B., of Portland, Oreg. Mr. Seeley is a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ Scientist in Boston, Mass. He was introduced by Mrs. Mary Bertha Marschalk, Second Reader of the Fourth Church, under the auspices of which this lecture was given. The lecturer said in part:

Just what is it that God makes man to be? A human philosopher asserts that when A meets B there are six identities present. First, there is A's concept of himself. Second, there is B's concept of A. Third, there is the Maker's idea of A. Likewise there are three concepts of B, his own, A's and his Maker's.

Christian Science asserts there is always present only one real concept of man, the Maker's idea of man. What A may believe he is, or what B may believe A is, is belief, not fact. The fact is that the Making Mind knows A is, even the individual manifestation of Mind. On page 358 of "Miscellaneous Writings" Mrs. Eddy writes, "The human concept is always imperfect; relinquish your human concept of me, or of any one, and find the divine, and you have gained the right one—and never until then."

Function of Mind.

Not in the looking glass nor from material sight do we obtain the true concept of man, but from the Mind that makes man and through Mind-sense, spiritual sense, do we learn what man is. To each individual Mind gives the true concept of man. We must find real manhood, not from without, but from within—through our Mind-given sense, not material sense.

When Mary met Jesus after the resurrection she thought him to be the gardener. Her material senses deceived her. Earlier His enemies had regarded him as a winebibber and sinner. They only saw their own false concept.

As men become willing to look into Mind and reason from Mind as the maker of man they will arrive at the inevitable conclusion that his real self, derived from Mind, is intelligent, harmonious, permanent, made of the substance of ideas, not of mindless material elements. From Mind, matter's opposite, we derive the true concept of ourself and our brother.

Veneer of False Self.

A decorator working in on old baronial home in England chanced to chip the paint from a very mediocre painting. On examination he discovered underneath a painting of great value done by an old master. So the veneer of material selfhood seems to hide the beautiful realities of true manhood. The sick, discouraged, grouchy, inferior mortal sense of self is but the veneer that would hide the God-made man. Christian Science supplies the solvent of God's idea of man, to dissolve in our thinking the false concept that would obscure the true concept.

But that mediocre picture wasn't gotten rid of without effort. Patiently it had to be removed a little at a time. So persistent and patient effort is essential if we are to dissolve the negative worthless self that evil would delude us into accepting as our real self.

Paul said, "I die daily." The "I" he referred to was the false, materially-minded self. He was willing to deny it recognition or realty and so all left for it to do was to cease, or die. The only presence, life, and action false self has is what we give it by believing in it. The greatest blessing that can come to us is the dissolution of this false sense of self.

"Tributes to Mothers" Sunday School Theme

"Tributes to Mothers" is the theme in the Sunday school program Mothers' Day at the Lewis Memorial Methodist Protestant Church, Fourth and Kansas avenue northwest, tomorrow. At 11 o'clock Sunday morning the pastor, the Rev. W. A. Roberts, will speak on the topic, "The Pioneer Mothers."

The evening service, at 8 o'clock, will be under the direction of the Young People's Pioneer Group of the church. The pastor will be the guest speaker on this program and will speak on "Service and Love of the Home." Appropriate musical selections by members of the choir will be rendered at both morning and evening services.

Special Communion At Albright Memorial

Albright Memorial Evangelical Church has arranged special Mother's Day services for tomorrow, in which the children and the elders will take part. One feature of the service will be a special Communion in honor of mother. The pastor, Dr. George E. Schnabel, will have an appropriate Communion meditation.

On Thursday evening about 50 men of the Albright Brotherhood will go to Baltimore to attend the annual spring rally of the Baltimore district. Kenneth Foote, as president of the local brotherhood, will head the local delegation.

Christian Science Churches

"Adam and Fallen Man" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all the Churches of Christ, Scientist, tomorrow. The golden text is from Job 14:1, 2: "Man that is born of a woman is of few days and full of trouble. He cometh forth like a flower and is cut down: He fleeth also as a shadow and continueth not." Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And the Spirit and the bride say, come. And let him that heareth say, come. And let him that is athirst come. And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely." (Revelation 22:17.) The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The Lamb's wife presents the unity of male and female as no longer two wedded individuals, but as two individual natures in one; and this compounded spiritual individuality reflects God as Father-Mother, not as a corporal being. In this divinely united spiritual consciousness, there is no impediment to eternal bliss—no the perfectibility of God's creation." (Page 577.)

Mother

(By Dr. Allen A. Stockdale, Minister of the First Congregational Church of Washington.)

I see no lines that mar her face,
No changes in her form;
Her kiss remains a miracle
Of love, soul deep and warm.

The years go by, but can not change her value, rare to me;
But rather in her aging days
More beauty do I see.

I never pause to estimate
What is her earthly goal.
My mother is a lasting grace—
She's an immortal soul.

Sermon to Include Tribute to Mothers

Lord's Supper to Be Given at Covenant-First Presbyterian.

The sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed at the Covenant-First Presbyterian Church tomorrow morning. Dr. Albert Joseph McCartney, the minister, will deliver the sermon, which will include a tribute to mothers in observance of Mother's Day. His subject will be, "They Stand By Us."

At the Thursday night prayer meeting, Dr. McCartney will deliver the last of the series of sermons on "The Glorious Company of the Apostles"—the Christianized capitalist, the story of Matthew, the publican, and what became of the apostles?

Judge James Quarles will address the All Comers Men's Bible Class on the subject of "Esau Sells His Birthright," tomorrow at 9:45.

The following officers were elected and committees appointed at the organization meeting of the board of trustees: President, Clarence A. Aspinwell; secretary and treasurer, George M. Whitwell; house committee, Bruce E. Clark, chairman; Albert J. Gore and John F. Filliams; finance committee, Charles J. Brand, chairman; William M. Hanney, Clarence A. Aspinwell and George M. Whitwell; auditing committee, William M. Hannay, chairman; W. H. Fellows and A. J. Gore.

Mother's Day Services Set at Baptist Church

Mother's Day services will be held tomorrow evening at the Metropolitan Baptist Church, Sixth and A streets northeast. Dr. John Compton Ball, the minister, will preach on "The Queen of May."

The women from the Baptist Home for Aged will be the special guests of the church at this service, each having as her escort a member of the Phi Gamma Kappa Bible class of young men. The quartet from this class will assist the choir in rendering the music for the evening. Memorial bouquets for mothers will decorate the platform. A group of mothers will act as ushers, and receive the evening offering, under the leadership of Mrs. J. O. Peed.

Rotary Conference Church Service Set

The services at the Church of the Epiphany tomorrow will be of special interest. The theme of the rector's sermon in the morning at 11 o'clock will be "Christian Motherhood," in accordance with the general acceptation throughout the country of the second Sunday in May as "Mother's Day."

At 8 p. m. the regional conference of Rotary Clubs will hold a special service in the Church of the Epiphany, at which time Bishop Freeman will be the preacher. Special music will be featured at this service to which the public has been invited. There will be the usual celebration of the Holy Communion at 8 a. m. and Church School at 9:30.

Revival Crusade Talk By Rev. H. L. Collier

The national revival crusade which has been in progress for more than two months at the Masonic Temple will be continued at the Full Gospel Tabernacle, North Capitol and K streets, with preaching by the Rev. Harry L. Collier. Sunday school will be held at 9:30 a. m., and service Sunday at 11 a. m., when the pastor will preach on "The Beatitudes." A popular evangelistic service will be held at 7:30 p. m., when his subject will be "The Sundial of Ahaz—Its Message to the Twentieth Century." The full choir and orchestra will furnish special music at 7:15 p. m.

Appropriate Sermon At Brightwood Park

Mother's Day will be an all-day feast at Brightwood Park Methodist Church tomorrow.

In the morning new members will be received and children baptized, after which the pastor, the Rev. S. Carroll Coale, will preach on "A King's Picture of His Mother." In the evening there will be an evangelistic service, with the singing of old-fashioned hymns and an appropriate sermon.

COLORED CHURCHES.

The Rev. J. L. S. Holloman, pastor of the Second Baptist Church, will preach on "The Heritage of the Home" tomorrow morning. In the evening the Rev. G. Z. Brown will preach at this church.

The Rev. A. S. George, of Princeton, N. J., will preach at the Good Will Baptist Church tomorrow morning. His subject is: "The Insatiable Quest for the Real." In the evening the pastor, Dr. James L. Pinn, will preach on "Vital Statistic of an Ancient Board of Health."

"Mother, the Uncrowned Queen," is the subject of the morning sermon of the Rev. William D. Jarvis, pastor of New Bethel Baptist Church.

The Rev. R. W. Brooks, pastor of Lincoln Congregational Temple, will preach tomorrow morning on "The Significance of Mother's Day." In the afternoon at 3 o'clock the Rev. G. O. Bullock, pastor of the Third Baptist Church, will preach at this church.

Christ's Leadership to Be Topic.

The Rev. E. A. LeMoine, rector of St. Columba's Episcopal Church, will preach tomorrow morning on "The Leadership of Christ." In the evening the subject of the sermon is to be "Religion and Health," based on the Book of Job.

"Church in Home" Is Sermon Theme

Dr. Harmon Will Preach on Religion of Mothers on Tomorrow.

Mother's Day will be observed at the National City Christian Church at both morning and evening services tomorrow. Dr. H. H. Harmon, the minister, has chosen for his morning sermon topic "The Church in the Home." The mixed quartet will sing "Mother and Home" as a prelude to the sermon, which will emphasize the religion of mothers in the home.

At the evening hour the minister and choir will join in a special service, "The Mothers of the Bible," memorializing in story and song the women of the Old and New Testaments whose graces have furnished inspiration for mothers through the ages.

On Wednesday evening the daughters of the church will honor their mothers at a mother and daughter banquet, given under the auspices of the church school. Miss Ida McMillan will act as toastmistress. Mrs. H. H. Harmon, Mrs. H. D. Cous, Miss Louise Drennon and Mrs. Clarence Athearn will speak. Music will include numbers by a mixed quartet of mothers and daughters, a duet by Mrs. Earle Wilfrey and Miss Katharine Willdey, and piano numbers by Mrs. Lucy H. Burton. Mrs. Brook L. Haines is chairman of the program committee. The men of the church will serve the banquet.

Mothers Will Attend Service Honoring Them

The Vaughn Class of Calvery Baptist Church, Eighth and H streets northwest, will hold a special Mother's Day service tomorrow morning as a part of the regular service which starts at 9:30 o'clock. Mothers of the members of the class have been given an invitation, and there are to be special talks and music. Lina C. Drake, head of the Boy Scouts, will teach the regular lesson. The class will have the members of the Petworth Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, as guests, headed by the high priest of the chapter, Nelson Durfee.

The class will also hold a special Mother's Day program under the direction of Mr. Lee Quinn, vice president, at Blue Plains tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Children to Take Part In Servcies at Church

Six children from the Sunday school will take part in the church services at Takoma Park Baptist Church tomorrow morning, bringing tributes to the honor of mothers. They are Meredith Leaman, Robert Allison, William Nichols, Elaine Marah, Edith Ellen Flora and Ray Alice Ebner.

The pastor, the Rev. William E. Shea, will preach on "Honor to All Good Mothers," and the vested choir, under the direction of Mrs. W. P. Middlekauff, will give a program of special music.

All-Day Service Set In Honor of Mothers

Dr. John E. Briggs, pastor of the Fifth Baptist Church, E street near Seventh street southwest, has arranged an all-day service in honor of mothers tomorrow. In the morning the favorite hymns of the past will be sung and mother's favorite Scriptures read. In the evening this program will be extended.

Dr. Briggs will preach in the morning on "Mary, the Mother of Jesus," and in the evening on "Mothers of Bible Times and Modern Times."

"Honor Thy Mother" Is Theme of Sermon

St. Andrew's Episcopal Church will hold special services tomorrow morning in honor of Mother's Day. Dr. A. J. Wilder, the rector, will preach on "Honor Thy Mother."

In the evening, at 7:30 o'clock, the young people of the parish will hold their meeting. After their program, consisting of a question box, in which all will participate, refreshments will be served.

Bible Class Planning Knights Templar Day

Tomorrow is Knights Templar Day with the Harrison Bible Class of the Congress Street Methodist Church. Members of the Grand Commandery and Constituent Commanderies will come in civilian clothes. Representative Arthur M. Free, of California, a Knight Templar, will address the class. He will be introduced by Eugene E. Thompson, grand commander.

Pastor Will Discuss "Mother Miniatures"

"Mother Miniatures" is the subject of the sermon to be preached tomorrow morning by the Rev. Edward O. Clark at the Chevy Chase Baptist Church.

The annual mother and daughter banquet will be given at the church on Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock, under the auspices of the Women's Society.

Men's Club of Church Elects New Officers

The Men's Club of Transfiguration Episcopal Church elected Welden Price as president for the coming year; J. C. Staack, treasurer; Mr. Bowman, secretary; D. W. Yeebower and J. T. O'Shaughnessy, vice presidents. Their next activity will be a bicentennial costume dance in the hall, May 25. Theodore Mullican is chairman.

CHURCHES REVIVING MASS SONG SERVICE

Mt. Vernon Place Women's and Men's Choirs to Be Feature Tomorrow.

One of the most significant developments in the churches of this country today is the revival of mass singing as a feature of religious worship. One after another, the churches of Washington are featuring congregational and choral singing in one form or another, but chiefly in a revival of the old-time evangelistic hymns which had their rise in England and in Germany in the eighteenth century, a period of distinguished hymnology.

Not yet has this movement—if movement it be—crystallized into a widespread wave. It is as yet confined within rather narrow limits, and to two or three denominations. But it is a new thing, however; or a return to an old thing, just as you will.

In one church I know of the Christian Endeavor Society leads the singing as a choir for fifteen minutes before the evening worship service begins. In another, the men have charge of the opening service—again in the evening—and they lead the congregation in this ministry of music. In still another the pastor is the leader, and he manages to throw a lot of fervor into it, calling his half hour of songs a "heart-warming service."

Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church, which has long had a very fine music department—one of the largest and best trained chorus choirs in the city—has adopted a variation on this song service, and its innovation will be initiated tomorrow evening.

Two groups have been organized in the church of 100 or more each, one group composed of women and the other of men. Some in each are trained singers; all of them have been selected because they can sing and love to sing and do sing.

The men's group will be placed in the choir loft and the women's group in the church balcony. Between them they will lead in the singing of the special program selected for the evening. First one group will sing, and then the other, and then united, and at times both leading the congregation. Both groups will be under the personal direction of R. Dean Shure, the musical director of the church.

The following hymns will be sung by these groups antiphonally: "His Eye Is On the Sparrow," "Jesus, I Come," "He Whispers His Love to Me," "The Church in the Wildwood," "Sweet Peace," and "The Old Rugged Cross."

At the conalusion of this service Dr. W. A. Shelton, the pastor, will preach on "Religion and Beauty." His morning subject is "Eve."

D. R. B.

Dr. Sizoo to Talk On "Unfilled Sea"

Mrs. T. G. Willis Will Lead Discussion During Service.

Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo, minister of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, is delivering an interesting series of Sunday evening sermons on the books of the Bible. His subject tomorrow evening is "The Message of the Book of Numbers." His morning subject is "The Unfilled Sea."

At 6 o'clock tomorrow evening the Christian Endeavor Society will hold its usual fellowship tea with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lentz as hosts. Following the tea hour the service of worship will be led by Mrs. Thomas G. Willis. The subject for discussion will be "Appreciating our Parents."

On Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock the regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Society for Missions will be held in Parish Hall No. 1. The guest speaker at this meeting will be Mrs. William R. Rhodes, the Presbyterian president. Mrs. Wallace Radcliffe will lead the devotional service.

Motherhood Honor Services Announced

Eldbrooke Methodist Church, Wisconsin avenue at River road northwest, in all of its departments tomorrow will dedicate its devotional services to motherhood. In the morning the pastor, the Rev. Walter M. Michael, will preach. At this service eighteen children will be received into membership.

The worship service at 8 p. m. will feature a song pantomime and readings by Misses Grace Gosnell and Ellen Selman. Music will be rendered by the senior and junior choirs. The service will close with a candle light sketch.

Combined Missionary Society Meeting Is Set

Dr. Carl C. Rasmussen, pastor of Luther Place Memorial Church, at Thomas Circle, will preach tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock on "The Holy Spirit and Moral Tenacity." "What Makes Mother's Day?" will be the subject of his evening sermon.

A joint meeting of the Young Women's Missionary Societies of the city will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the church parlors. Miss Engle, a worker among the Moslems in India, will be the speaker. The Young Women's Societies of Luther Place Church will act as hostesses and serve tea after the meeting.

Rotarians Are to Hear Bishop Freeman Talk

Dr. Z. B. Phillips, rector of the Church of the Epiphany, 1317 G street northwest, will preach a special sermon tomorrow morning on "Christian Motherhood." A program of beautiful music appropriate to this service has been arranged by Adolf Torovsky, choirmaster and organist.

In the evening at 8 o'clock the service will be in honor of the Rotarians. Bishop Freeman, by invitation, will be the special preacher.

Dr. Lenski's Sermon Topics.

Dr. Gerhard E. Lenski, pastor of Grace Lutheran Church, will preach on "Jesus and His Mother" tomorrow morning; and in the evening his theme will be "David Livingston—Who Put Meaning into Missions."

Dr. W. L. Darby Will Preach.

Dr. W. L. Darby, secretary of the Federation of Churches, will preach Sunday morning in Westminster Presbyterian Church, his subject being "Thank God for Our Mothers!"

Church Will Hear Missionary Speak

Georgetown Presbyterians Will View Movies on Work in China.

The Rev. Frank S. Niles, minister of the Georgetown Presbyterian Church, will preach at the 11 o'clock service tomorrow morning on the topic: "The God of Comfort." It will be a sermon appropriate to Mothers' Day. There will also be a children's story sermon.

At the 7:30 p. m. service in Cissel Chapel, Miss Harriet Stroh, of Hwai Yuen, China, will give a talk illustrated by motion pictures and by slides on mission work in "Hwai Yuen, a City Loved From Afar." Miss Stroh has just returned from China, and the story she has to tell will be a very thrilling one.

On Monday evening at 7:45 o'clock, Mrs. Clarence A. Aspinwall will speak before the Evening Guild on the topic: "The Beautiful Earth." On Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, Mr. Niles will speak at the midweek meeting on "The Message of the Judges."

CATHOLIC MOTHERS ARE TO BE HONORED

Rev. F. J. Hurney to Deliver Talk; Children to Make First Communion.

Mother's Day will be observed with several special services at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Eighth and N streets northwest, tomorrow.

At the Washington Catholic Radio Hour's broadcast service 5 o'clock in the afternoon, the official Mother's Day celebration and the annual May procession with the consecration of the children by the mothers at the Grotto of Our Lady of Lourdes in the church and the intrusting to Our Lady's care of their mothers by the children will take place. This pretty custom was inaugurated last year.

The Rev. Francis J. Hurney, pastor of the church and director of the broadcasts, will preside at the service and will deliver the address. The entire ceremony will be broadcast from the church over Station WOL.

Under the direction of Harry Wheaton Howard, the participants in the musical program will be Miss Florence Yocum, soprano; Miss Ann Arlen, violinist, and the Boys' Sanctuary Choir.

At an 8:15 o'clock mass the Fourth Degree Assembly of the Knights of Columbus will have its official celebration.

Mothers' Mass at 9 A. M.

At 9 a. m. will take place the mothers' mass at which the smaller children will make their first Communion. Afterward there will be a breakfast for the mothers and children.

In keeping with the observance of devotion toward mothers at this time, the novena in honor of Saint Ann, mother of the Blessed Virgin, is being held at the Immaculate Conception.

The novena will be concluded with special service on Thursday, May 12.

The novena takes place after the daily 6:45, 7:30, and 12:15 noon masses and the relic of Saint Ann is venerated at all services.

One-Day Retreat.

A one-day retreat will be conducted tomorrow by the Rev. R. A. McGowan, assistant director of the Department of Social Action of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, at the Nazareth Social Service Center, 200 I street northwest.

The retreat which begins at 10:30 a. m. will consist of four conferences and will close at 4:30 p. m. with benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

Father McGowan is well known for his work in Catholic Action and, through his writings, lectures and conferences, has exerted a wide influence throughout the country. He is an able, convincing speaker.

The retreat is open to all Catholic women in this community. Reservations for it should be made as soon as possible with Mrs. Margaret Talty, Metropolitan 2440.

Afternoon Concert at Convent.

Soloists, members of the quartet of St. Peter's Choir, this city, will present a program at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, at the Convent of the Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament, 2100 H street, for the benefit of the Tekawitha Club for Indian and Negro Missions.

The members of the quartet are Agnes Whelan McLaughlin, soprano; Carolyn Manning, contralto; Robert O'Lone, tenor, and Romeo Guaraldi, barytone.

The numbers will include both liturgical and secular numbers.

Father Keith's Lecture.

The Rev. George A. Keith, S. J., will present "The Sacred Love Story of the Mass," at the Church of the Nativity at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday evening.

Catholic friends are invited to bring non-Catholic friends with them to the presentation. Father Keith will show 275 colored pictures of rare beauty.

Father Keith, who spent the month of April in North Carolina presenting the "Sacred Love Story of the Mass," to Catholic and non-Catholics, has many appointments for the month of May in this archdiocese.

Sunday night he will present the story at Holy Trinity Church, Thursday night at St. Martin's Church and Friday night at the Church of the Blessed Sacrament. He has nine other appointments in the archdiocese.

Dr. Perkins Preaches On Tomorrow Morning

"Life's Transfiguration" is the sermon theme of Dr. F. W. Perkins at the Universalist National Memorial Church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. At 10:15 a. m. the church school will meet, except the adult class which follows the church service.

The annual meeting of the church will be on Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in Perkins Hall. The meeting will be preceded by a parish supper at 6 o'clock. The supper on Wednesday will take the place of the regular parish dinner of the month.

CATHEDRAL TO HOLD PATRIOTIC SERVICE

Notables, Choir and Marine Band to Pay Tribute to Washington's Mother.

A notable patriotic service under the auspices of the District of Columbia Georgia Washington Bicentennial Commission in national observance of Mothers' Day as a tribute to Mary Ball Washington, mother of the first President, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock in the impressive choir and sanctuary of Washington Cathedral, which were opened on Ascension Day, last Thursday, for public worship.

The Mothers' Day observence and the celebration of the Holy Communion at 11 a. m., at which the Right Rev. William Lawrence, noted retired Bishop of Massachusetts, will be the preacher, will be the first Sunday services to be held in the newly completed section of the cathedral proper.

At the Mothers' Day service, to be broadcast over the radio through Station WMAL, the Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, will preach, and Mrs. John Dickinson Sherman, of the United States Bicentennial Commission, will read a tribute to Mary Ball Washington. This service, being held at the joint invitation of the cathedral and the Washington Federation of Churches, will be one of the most notable observances ever held at Mount St. Alban with the participation of not only the cathedral clergy, but of representative Congregational and Methodist ministers and a Jewish rabbi.

Rabbi Abram Simon, of the Washington Hebrew Congregation, will read the Old Testament lesson; the Rev. W. L. Darby, executive secretary of the Washington Federation of Churches, will read the New Testament lesson, and the Rev. James Shera Montgomery, chaplain of the House of Representatives, will conduct the reading of the Psalm. The Rev. ZeBarney Phillips, chaplain of the Senate, will take the Creed, Lord's Prayer, responses, collects and prayers. The Rev. G. Freeland Peter, chancellor of the Cathedral, will render the opening sentences and versicles.

The Marine Band Orchestra, conducted by Capt. Taylor Branson, and the Cathedral Choir under the direction of Edgar Priest, organist and choirmaster, will furnish the music. Besides appropriate Ascension hymns and anthems, hymns of "America" and the "Star-Spangled Banner" will be sung.

The national and State presidents of the American War Mothers, members of the District Bicentennial Commission, officers of the Washington Federation of Churches and the Mother's Day committee of the District, together with the Cathedral clergy and the ministers and laymen of the various denominations, who will take formal part in the service, will be in the processions.

Special invitations have been extended to high officials of the Federal Government for the occasion and a number of Cabinet members, senators and representatives are expected to attend the service. With the exception of a few hundred seats, reserved for the War Mothers and other groups who have received special invitations, all the other seats in the choir and its chapels will be open to the public without cards of admission. The public will enter through the south transept, while those with cards of admission will come through the north transept.

"Protecting Memory" Is Subject of Sermon

McKendree Methodist Episcopal Church will have a special program of music for its Mother's Day service tomorrow morning. Mrs. Dorothy Sherman Pierson will sing two solos, and the choir will furnish special music.

The pastor, the Rev. William Pierpoint, will speak on the subject, "Honoring Parents." In the evening he will speak on "Protecting Memory."

Dr. Mark Depp to Talk On "A Holy Heritage"

"A Holy Heritage" is the subject of the morning sermon which Dr. Mark Depp will preach at Calvary Methodist Church tomorrow. In the evening the minister will be assisted in the service by T. R. Dodd and E. M. Hall. The sermon topic is: "Masters of Darkness."

WELLS GETS 3 YEARS ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Convicted of Attempting to Kill Man in Prince Georges County.

Four men were convicted yesterday in Prince Georges County circuit court on charges ranging from sale of liquor to assault with intent to kill, and Judge Joseph C. Mattingly pronounced sentence on a number of other prisoners.

Those convicted were Sam Wells, of Bowie, for assault with intent to kill Ben Duckett; Lou Sollers, liquor sale, and Ernest Diggs and Edward Good, assault with intent to rob, larceny, and receiving stolen goods. Wells was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary after being found guilty by the court. Diggs and Good were accused of holding up Katz's filling station in Hyattsville, but were not sentenced yesterday.

Those who have been sentenced include Joshua Wood, keeping a disorderly house, $100 fine and three months in jail; Louis Colbert, assault and battery, six months in jail; Lucille Robertson, larceny of $85, six months in jail; George Walker, larceny of chickens, two years in the penitentiary; Buster Foster and Albert Foster, larceny of chickens, three years; Edward Callaway, larceny, eighteen months; Joseph Ayres, larceny of an automobile, two years; Joseph Malmore, eighteen months on two convictions for larceny; John Manoi and Angry Terling, each three years on each of two larceny counts, sentences to run concurrently; Raymond Puller, Freddie Williams and Harry Simms Brooke, larceny, two years each. Maynard Phair, of Laurel, pleaded guilty to larceny, changing a previous plea of not guilty.

Symphony Group Appears for Fund

String Quartet Is Warmly Received in Debut at Shoreham Hotel.

A new musical group of young Washington musicians made its debut last night at the Shoreham Hotel in a performance of chamber music for the benefit of the guarantee fund of the National Symphony Orchestra. The group is the Washington String Quartet, especially sponsored by Hans Kindler, leader of the orchestra. All the quartet are members of the orchestra and are gifted as soloists. They are Milton Schwartz, first violin; Paul Brightenburg, second violon; George Wargo, viola, and Sydney Hamer, violoncello.

A particularly enthusiastic audience applauded each number heartily and insisted upon encores, one of which was Pochon's arrangement of "The Mill," by Raff.

As this quartet is so new, it is even more deserving of the warmest praise for the splendid blending of tone, exact and clean-cut attacks, and thorough musicianship on the part of each member, which puts aside virtuosity for the finely balanced teamwork that is the highest aim in chamber music.

Garnet-Patterson Operetta Is Given

The Little Theater of Garnet-Patterson Junior High School last night presented, in the school auditorium, "The Outlaw King," a Robin Hood operetta in three acts, adapted by Clare Grubb, Iris Decker and Louis Malone. More than a hundred students, representing all classes, participated in a representation of the days of Richard the Lion Hearted and Merrie England.

Scenery, lighting effects, costumes and music were a part of a project of regular school work, being prepared and developed under members of the teaching staff, supervised by W. S. Savoy, principal. Maurice Van Brakle was cast as Robin Hood; Kermit Meehlinger, as Friar Tuck; Nimrod Durbin, as Little John; William White, as King Richard, while Mae Arrington, India Wallace and Jean Taylor had the leading feminine roles.

Woman Gets 3 Months On Tea House Charge

Estella Christopher, former proprietor of the Bladensburg tea house which was the scene of a fatal shooting last fall when it was held up by bandits, was sentenced yesterday to three months in jail for operation of a disorderly house after she had been convicted in Prince Georges County Circuit Court.

The woman, it was alleged at her trial, was running the house when officials of the sheriff's office raided it last summer. She was convicted in police court and appealed to the circuit court, which affirmed the verdict. Later the house, the Colonial Tea House, was robbed while under another management. Guards at the house opened fire on the bandits, and one patron was killed and five other persons wounded in the resulting battle.

THE NEW CINEMA OFFERINGS

PALACE

"SKY BRIDE." Paramount picturization of a screen play by Joseph L. Mankiewicz, Agnes Brand Leahy and Grover Jones, featuring Jack Oakie, Virginia Bruce and Richard Arlen. Directed by Stephen Roberts. Reviewed Friday afternoon.

By NELSON B. BELL.

This is the picture in which Richard Arlen and Jack Oakie do for the barnstorming stunt fliers, playing the county fairs, what James Cagney and Eric Linden recently did for the daring drivers of the motor speedways in "The Crowd Roars." The two pictures are built upon identical formulas. Only the vehicles in which to achieve disaster are different—the airplane as opposed to the racing car.

Except that the element of surprise is effectually smothered by a foreknowledge of events bred by long familiarity with the plot, "Sky Bride"—and there is not the slightest justification for such a title—presents a deal of thrilling action in the air, some roistering comedy and a degree of heart interest seldom engendered by this type of film play. It would be one of my weaker convictions, after the "Hells Angels," "Dawn Patrols," "Hell Divers," and the like, that have come along in such profusion, that there is not a trifle more aerial stunting in this picture than the traffic can comfortably stand. It is skillfully done and handsomely photographed, to be sure, but the edge has rather worn off and it seems more than a little likely that for many excitement will be replaced by ennui.

Richard Arlen, Tom Douglas and Harold Goodwin are the three free-lance aviators who tour the country to separate the small-town gentry from such lucre as may be enticed from them on the promise of adventure in the air. They are managed by Jack Oakie, as a ballyhoo artist of sideshow glibness, and get along fairly well together, after the manner of rough-and-ready pals in a hazardous racket, until "Speed" Condon, played by Mr. Arlen, collides with and cracks up Eddie Smith, impersonated by Mr. Douglas. A murderous sense of guilt on his conscience, he deserts the game, his nerve completely gone. Alec Dugan, in the person of Mr. Oakie, finally ferrets him out, working as a mechanic in an aircraft plant, but steadily refusing to leave the ground.

The manner in which his confidence is restored and his sense of guilt partially mitigated, is, of course, the basis of the play's melodramatic climax. You see, it is Mr. Cagney and his racing game all over again.

Richard Arlen, in the pivotal character, does a workmanlike job of direct, forceful and likable acting. The pathos with which he imbues the role is no more overemphasized than the calm bravado of his earlier scenes. Jack Oakie, portraying so staunch a friend that he is delighted to take incessant knockout wallops to the jaw as a means of restoring his pal's confidence in himself, divides his performance about equally between serious character delineation and a tumultuous sort of clowning. Virginia Bruce, Master Robert Coogan, Charles Starrett and Louise Closser Hale appear advantageously in the supporting roles of major importance.

On the stage, Loew's "Frivolities" revue permits a demonstration of the hold a really able comedian can get upon his public. "Slim" Timblin, returning to the Capital after a scant five or six weeks with precisely the same act in which he appeared here in the middle of March, kept yesterday afternoon's audience in tornadoes of laughter from the moment he entered his "pulpit" until he made his final exit. The boy, as you might say, is good.

A Charlie Chase comedy—one of the better ones—Hearst Metrotone News and orchestral overture complete the Palace's last composite bill.

RIALTO

"THE DOOMED BATTALION." Universal production based on a Marcel Vandal-Charles Dulac film, written by Luis Trenker and featuring Luis Trenker, Tala Birell and Victor Varconi. Directed by Cyril Gardner.

Presenting a tense and suspenseful incident of the World War against a magnificent Alpine setting, productive of photographic effects never equaled on the American screen, this uniquely triumphant camera subject enters a deserved and expected second week during which the theater should continue to be packed by enthusiastic lovers of beauty as well as action.

There can be no overstatement of the grandeur of the pictorial qualities of this picture. No carefully prepared scenic subject ever revealed more gorgeous natural panoramas. These, however, are but the background for a story that is vivid, exciting and told with admirable directness. Combined with the purely martial episode of the war on the front occupied by Austria and Italy is a heart-warming domestic tale which serves to introduce Tala Birell to American audiences as a devoted young wife whose husband is marooned on a nearby mountain top with a garrison under which enemy sappers are methodically planting tons of high explosives.

The climax of the story is marked by one of those instances of individual heroism in which the war, on all fronts, was so prolific. To disclose its nature would be to rob future spectators of the thrill of the unexpected.

In addition to Luis Trenker, Fraulein Birell and Victor Varconi, in the roles of primary interest, Gustav von Seyffertitz, C. Henry Gordon, Gibson Gowland and Henry Armetta are seen in assignments of auxiliary value.

The bill is completed by a new issue of the Universal News, Graham McNamee interpreting the pictured events, and selected short sound subjects. N. B. B.

Winners in Fox Theater Music Contest Selected

The four silver cup winners in the Fox Theater's second annual music week festival were announced yesterday by the three judges, Miss Jessie MacBride, Leon Brusiloff and Phil Lampkin.

The winners are: American University Men's Glee Club, the senior choral cup; Central High School mixed chorus, junior choral cup; Institute of Musical Art Symphonic Orchestra, winners of the senior instrumental cup, and the Washington High School Cadet Brigade Band, the junior instrumental cup. Many honorable mentions were announced.

RKO-KEITH'S

"VANITY FAIR OF TODAY." Allied Production's modernized version of William Makepeace Thackeray's famous novel, "Vanity Fair," featuring Myrna Loy and Conway Tearle. Directed by Chester Franklin. Reviewed Friday evening by Dorothea Lewis.

Becky Sharpe misses her flounces and furbelows. For there is no denying that fascinating as Myrna Loy makes her (this favorite of favorites of the beloved Minnie Maddern Fiske), Becky loses much of her glamour when poured into modern clothes.

Sticking rather closely, except the ending, in the essential details (as we remember them), to William Makepeace Thackeray's quaintly termed novel without a hero, this picture is vastly interesting, to begin with, through its modernization of familiar characters. But having once modernized them all as best it can, and assembled them, its interest lags. Becky's affairs are so legion they need the legend of another age to make them believable and when flirting takes place in a kitchenette and bridge replaces the more colorful gambling of its proper day, "Vanity Fair's" luster dims, finally fading as Becky fades.

Somehow, however, this story, told here utterly without climax, one event following another in determined chronological order, never becomes boring.

Becky, as every one knows, is irresistible in her way. In fact, once a man comes within 20 feet of her, he is doomed, unless he is Dobbin, who somehow manages to see through her, be it from 20 feet or a closer danger zone.

Visiting a schoolmate, Amelia Sedley, Becky accepts a proposal never made by Amelia's brother, Joseph, and flirts outrageously with Amelia's fiance, George Osborne, until asked to leave by Mrs. Sedley.

Established in an old English home as a governess, it is only a matter of hours before Becky is receiving nocturnal calls from both old Sir Pitt Crawley and his son, Rawdon, and only days before she succeeds in marrying Rawdon and—having him disowned. From then on, it's living by her wits with Rawdon, and without, finally deserted even by old Joseph, the first and last of the lot.

Without conscience, emotion or a good deed (except, perhaps that questionable revelation which brings Amelia and Dobbin together), is Becky, and so Myrna Loy plays her and plays her well.

Lionel Belmore is the exception. As Sir Pitt Crawley he hands in a gem of a job, and we recommend his facial expression while pantomiming reading as the best book review of the month.

Nevertheless, you will note how well Conway Tearle, in good voice and excellent appearance, plays Rawdon; Walter Byron essays George, Anthony Bushell does splendidly by Dobbin, Billy Bevan plays Joseph not too broadly and Barbara Kent acts Amelia. Even the maid of Lilyan Irene is good.

Chic Sale, younger than usual, has a most amusing comedy, "A Slip at the Switch," to offer; "Mother's Melodies" plays a timely tribute, and an extremely interesting newsreel and a cartoon complete the bill.

METROPOLITAN

"THE FAMOUS FERGUSON CASE." First National picturization of a story by Courtenay Terrett, featuring Joan Blondell, Tom Brown, Kenneth Thompson, Clarence Wilson and Grant Mitchell. Directed by Lloyd Bacon. Reviewed Friday evening by W. A. Whitney.

There are times when a motion picture can best be appraised by reviewing what it is not than by holding oneself strictly to its obvious purpose. Such a picture is "The Famous Ferguson Case." Here is not so much a murder mystery, based, thematically at least, on the Hall-Mills and Snyder-Gray cases, as a moralizing on what happens to bad little newshawks who paint and color their stories to suit their own fancies, and then intimidate prosecuting attorneys into seeing things their way. Naturally, the good little journalists triumph, and, in the end, every one is wiser, even though not altogether happy.

But unlike many attempts to moralize, this picture is an entertaining narrative of the search for news, which news in this case is murder over which is closely hovering the vulture of scandal.

Briefly, the story concerns a small-town editor who, complaining of the dullness and lack of a "great chance," finds himself the only scribe to do the murder of a financier. The event causes the metropolitan newshawks to descend in great hordes on the town—reporters of every brand and color. Under the tutelage of one of the more conservative news-that-is-news journalists, our "city" editor scoops the foreigners by uncovering the real murderers.

Although he is far too youthful to have the position, Tom Brown is the country editor who, with Adrienne Dore as his feminine Pooh-Bah, runs the Cornwall Courier. Among the incoming scriveners are Joan Blondell, as the sophisticated sob sister; Grant Mitchell, as the paternal journalist, and Kenneth Thompson, as the hard-drinking, dirt-smelling reporter. Purnell Pratt and Vivienne Osborne are seen as the murdered man and his wife, while Leon Waycoff and Miriam Segar are the accused and his wife. As the spineless county attorney, Clarence Wilson does a fine job. The other seventeen members of the listed company are divided into groups which typify the two schools of journalism.

In spite of occasional lapses into what might be termed unwarranted expositions of the meaning of journalistic ethics, the picture moves with creditable speed, eliminating, for the most part, details not directly concerned with the major theme, resulting in an offering that can be enjoyed fully—a delightful combination that can, no doubt, be credited to the craftsmanship of Director Lloyd Bacon.

Topping the list of shorts by a comfortable margin is Douglas Stanbury and the New York University Glee Club in "Campus Spirit," a potpourri of their university songs, with Mr. Stanbury interpolating "I Love a Parade." An excellent bit of harmony is here. Then there is Richy Craig, jr., in a hilarious, but quite crazy, comedy called "Maybe I'm Wrong," and, after all, aren't we all? A release of Paramount News completes the line-up.

Atkinson Is President Of Fox Theaters Corp.

New York, May 6 (A.P.).—W. E. Atkinson has been elected president of the Fox Theaters Corporation, succeeding Harley L. Clarke, it was announced today.

The retirement of Mr. Clarke from the presidency of this corporation follows his recent retirement from the chairmanship of its parent company, the Fox Film Corporation.

FOX

"CHEATERS AT PLAY." Fox picturization of the story by Louis Joseph Vance, featuring Thomas Meighan and Charlotte Greenwood. Directed by Hamilton MacFadden. Reviewed Friday night by Don B. Reed.

The very old "set a crook to catch a crook" theme is back of this slow-moving but rather interesting melodrama. It is the story of what can happen to a careless society matron with $375,000 worth of emeralds on an ocean liner when two distinct sets of thieves and two sets of law-and-order are at work.

Much more might have happened, but, if it did, the picture omits it. Starting slowly with the usual scenes at the pier as the liner leaves for America, the pace seldom quickens until right at the finish where there is a wallop or two in the final battle for possession of the gems.

However, with all its lack of speed, "Cheaters at Play" has its moments. Charlotte Greenwood is still one of our best laugh-producers, while Barbara Weeks seems to get prettier with each appearance. Tom Meighan and James Kirkwood make a couple of pretty swell detectives, the former having reformed from jewel stealing. William Bakewell is thoroughly likeable as Meighan's son, first in his attempts to purloin the sparklers and later in saving them because of Barbara, with whom he has fallen in love.

Its all pretty jumbled, this business on the boat and upon landing, but if you are careful you can keep the parties straightened out. Ralph Morgan, Dewey Robinson, William Pawley and Linda Watkins form the quartet of "not so nice" robbers and all are well cast.

Possibly it was fate, and again it may have been the booking office, but the last of the Fanchon & Marco Ideas to show in the house, for the present at least, is among the best produced by this organization. It has 25 people presenting youth, vim, vigor, variety and color. In contrast to the film offerings, the stage show moves with speed and precision to a rousing climax featured by the Six Accordion Boys who really play those things. You'll like "St. Louis Blues" as they present it.

"Coeds" the idea is called, and it opens with Bussey and Case, comedy acrobats, runs along with the Robbins Trio on roller skates; offers the Doyle quadruplets in close harmony; Jack Frost, a crooner; Tudy and Lois, a pair of acrobatic dancers; Griffith and Newton, a comedy team, and the Six Accordion Boys who double in the dance numbers. It's all splendidly done; the costumes are attractive, the members of the cast fresh and energetic and the settings colorful.

Laurel and Hardy are still knocking customers into the aisles with their comedy antics. This was proven when "Music Box," their latest effort, unfolded last night. It is positively silly in theme but it is uproariously funny. There is also another short called "A Lesson in Golf," featuring Leo Diegel, supposedly aided—but instead somewhat hindered—by Cliff Edwards, John Mack Brown and Dorothy Jordan. The Fox Movietone News completes the screen fare.

"NIGHT COURT." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picturization of a play by Mark Hellinger and Charles Beahan, featuring Walter Huston, Lewis Stone, Anita Page and Phillips Holmes. Directed by W. S. Van Dyke. Reviewed (second week) by W. A. Whitney.

"Night Court" and its searching expose of judicial malpractice, graft and corruption went into its second week yesterday. While it lacks some of the attributes of a truly great picture, it blends its mission of pointing the way to the cure of the cancerous growth with its unwritten duty of narration in a way that makes the picture less a preachment than a melodramatic story revolving around lawyers.

Walter Huston is the night court judge who, to save his own hide from the crusading Lewis Stone, "frames" Anita Page on a statutory charge. Recovering from the shock of the revelation, but still insisting on his wife's innocence, Phillips Holmes leads the court-sweeping to successful conclusion. Rounding out a cast that is well-nigh "all star" are John Miljan, Tully Marshall and Jean Hersholt.

Of the merits of any, or all of these players, nothing can be said, for their brand of work is too well known. If there is any fault with the picture (and the slowness of the first two-thirds indicates that there may be) it lies with the authors and not with the cast or with W. S. Van Dyke, the director. The last third of the picture shows what he can do when he has the material.

Besides a release of the Paramount News, the program includes "On the Loose," a wow of a comedy, with Thelma Todd and ZaSu Pitts making whoopee at Coney Island.

Teachers Association Gives Fund for Relief

All the funds in the treasury of the Prince Georges County Teachers' Association, $295, were appropriated for unemployment relief at a meeting of the association in the Mount Rainier High School.

Part of the money will be turned over to county relief organizations and the remainder will be spent directly by Miss Kathleen Shears, attendance officer. Frederick P. H. Siddons, secretary of the District Bankers' Association and himself a banker, spoke to the teachers at the meeting on "Phases of Banking of Interest to Teachers."

ALEXANDRIA COUNCIL DENIES BUS PETITION

Refuses Commuters' Group Plea to Allow More Competition.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Disregarding the request of the Alexandria Commuters Association, supported by petitions signed by approximately 3,000 persons, the city council yesterday declined, by a vote of 3 to 2, to rescind its action in regulating bus traffic in Alexandria which, it is claimed, legislates out of business the Alexandria-Washington buses, known as the Blue Line.

Following the meeting Thursday night, at which the Commuters Association, through its president, Harry F. Kennedy, presented its case, another meeting was held yesterday afternoon. Mr. Kennedy again asked that the council place the Blue Line on the same footing, as to routes and schedules, with the A., B. & W. Bus Line, known as the Red Line, and permit competition. City Attorney Carl Budwesky expressed the fear that, should bus traffic between Alexandria and Washington be thrown open to competition, irresponsible companies might invade the field.

Mr. Dwyer stated his belief that the council should comply with the expressed wish of the citizens, moved the repeal of Ordinance No. 115. Councilman Weil, said he believed the council had acted hastily, and he was willing to bow to the public desire. The vote was then taken, as follows: Garrett, no; Dwyer, aye; Weil, aye; Herbert, no; Mayor Ticer, no. Mayor Ticer said he believed that "there are times when some of our people do not know what is best for them, and those elected to office must decide what is best."

The vote apparently came as a surprise to many of those present.

The action of the council hinged upon the fact that the Red Bus Line holds a certificate from the State corporation commission which permits it to do both interstate and intrastate business, while the Blue Line operates only under a charter which permits it to do interstate business. The ordinance in question limits the route to be taken by all interstate bus lines practically to Washington street, which, it is claimed, will make it impossible for the Blue Line to operate at a profit, while the Red Bus Line will be permitted to file with the council for approval the route it desires to follow, and can carry passengers between points in Alexandria as well as between Alexandria and Washington.

The commuters claim that only since the advent of the Blue Line have they been able to enjoy satisfactory service and, should competition be eliminated, they fear that both schedules and service will be curtailed. The city council, it is claimed, has no jurisdiction in the matter of schedules.

Robert L. May, owner of the abandoned Mount Vernon, Alexandria & Washington Electric Railway, with his attorney, Gardner L. Boothe, appeared in answer to the council's request that a bond be posted insuring the taking up of the company's rails within the corporate limits, and the restoration of the streets to their original condition.

THREE DUNCAN CASE PROTESTS ALLOWED

May 13 Is Set for Filing of Amendments by Former Official's Counsel.

BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Judge Walter T. McCarthy, in the Circuit Court of Arlington County, yesterday sustained the demurrer to the fifteen points raised in the plea of abatement filed by counsel for William H. Duncan, former county clerk, but permitted leave to amend by counsel for the defendant to three specific points raised by them. May 13 was set as the date for amendments to be filed with the court.

Those points which counsel will be permitted to amend are: First, that the grand jury which found the indictment was not summoned according to law, and also because two of the grand jurors were not qualified to serve as such. Second, the venire facias summoning the grand jury which returned the indictment in this cause was not issued in accordance with the provisions of law. Third, that members of the grand jury which returned the indictment in the cause were not residents of the State of Virginia.

Commonwealth's Attorney Lawrence W. Douglas, in his demurrer to the plea, set forth that the allegations are not sufficient in law to sustain the plea in abatement heretofore filed by the defendant.

The plea in abatement was filed by Attorneys Amos C. Crounse, of Arlington County, and Leo P. Barlow, of Washington and Alexandria, for Duncan at the time he was arraigned on an indictment charging him with grand larceny of public funds. Of the fifteen points as raised by counsel, five were aimed at the service of Lyman M. Kelley, a member of the county board, who they claimed to be disqualified due to his official position in the county.

Payment Sought Of Ball Brothers

Judgment Asked by Bank on Note for $950 in Legal Action.

Notice of motion for judgment was filed in the clerk's office in Arlington County yesterday by the Citizens National Bank of Alexandria against H. C. Ball and E. Wade Ball, former county treasurer, for a note in the sum of $950 with interest plus 3 per cent attorney fees.

Papers were filed in the clerk's office for the bank through its attorney, Richard L. Ruffner, of Alexandria. They were immediately placed in the hands of Sheriff Edward B. Fields for service.

The note, according to the papers, was made February 5 for a period of 30 days. It was signed by H. C. Ball and indorsed by his brother, E. Wade Ball.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

HAVING journeyed to Baltimore on Thursday evening for the express purpose of viewing "Grand Hotel," against the coming of an excessively busy Friday, May 13, on F street, I am now prepared to defend the statement that no better picture ever has been made in America than this tremendously effective Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer rendering of the Vicki Baum novel and stage play.

Such appraisals as have preceded "Grand Hotel" to the Capital have understated rather than overstated the excellence of the work that stands to the undying credit of Edmund Goulding, the director, and a cast distinguished by the names of Greta Garbo, John and Lionel Barrymore, Lewis S. Stone, Joan Crawford, Wallace Beery, Jean Hersholt, Robert McWade, Ferdinand Gottschalk, Purnell Pratt, Tully Marshal and scores more. If the scale of admissions were to be twice the tariffs announced for the Washington engagement, "Grand Hotel," as sheer entertainment, still would be a bargain.

It is none of this column's present purpose to review this picture prior to the appointed time of its opening at the Columbia next Friday, but there are certain aspects of its preeminence that may be touched upon briefly in advance.

Foremost, it seems to me, is credit due to that incomparable showman, Edmund Goulding, for the skillful manner in which he has sustained characterization throughout the action of a story that has many diverse ramifications; for the way he has kept action and interest at a uniformly high pitch with never a sag or slowing down in either; for the creation and maintenance of an atmosphere that is distinctly indigenous to Berlin from first flash to last; for the inspired uses to which he has put his cameras, microphones, telephones and telephone switchboards.

There seems to be no limit to the originality and resourcefulness of this Goulding fellow. It will be recalled that it was he who created the first and most successful of the screen musicals when sound in the cinema was new—"Broadway Melody." There will be no less vivid a recollection in many minds, I dare say, that it was Edmund Goulding, too, who brought Gloria Swanson back to the heights in her first successful "talkie," in which she also sang, "The Trespasser." There are many other fine things to his credit, but nothing heretofore even remotely approaching "Grand Hotel" for an unvaried quality of superlative excellence.

And if "Arsene Lupin" left doubt in any mind as to which of the Barrymores is the better actor, "Grand Hotel," once and for all, will dispel any remaining indecision in the matter.

If you have not already secured your favorite seat locations, do so at once. You will thank me, I think, for the advice after you have seen the picture.

And these Chester Hale girls! It would be interesting to learn where they acquire their pep. A majority of the "Frivolities" unit which opened at the Palace yesterday, came to Washington on the same B. & O. Chicago Express that your reporter boarded at Camden Station after a hurried dash from the Auditorium Theater. After presumably having given four more or less exhausting performamnces in Baltimore that day, the "Frivolickers," with Thursday midnight hard by, all but took the old Camden Depot apart.

They did take the newstand apart—that is, to the extent of buying out the entire stock of "Ballyhoo!"

After one or two false starts, one of the best known and most beloved figures on the American stage, George M. Cohan, author-composer-actor-producer-director, will make his first appearance in talking pictures within the next few months.

Hot off the wire from Hollywood comes the word that in announcing a Cohan contract yesterday, Paramount stated that his first film will be "The Phantom President," a burlesque on national politics.

Old Col. Harry Long, Eastern division manager for Loews, Inc., who has been spending a fair share of his time in Washington these last several days, left for his home in Baltimore last night. His overweening desire to see a baseball game out at Mr. Griffith's ball yard was not gratified this trip owing to the urgency attending the ironing out of details in the item of taking over the Fox Theater by his company.

Only six more days 'til Christmas—pardon, until Wesley Eddy arrives in town to resume his mastering of ceremonies after an absence of many months, this time at Loew's Fox instead of the Palace.

As was to have been expected, the judges' selection of "Of Thee I Sing," the George S. Kaufman - George Gershwin musical satire, as the Pulitzer Prize winner of the current season, has precipitated a cloudburst of discussion, not so much because "Of Thee I Sing" is a musical piece and not strictly a play, as on account of the apologetic attitude assumed by the judges in making known their decision.

The New York critical fraternity, almost to a man, deems the choice a happy one, but is having its joyous innings lampooning the judicial committee for not more completely having had the courage of its convictions. A majority of the critics, too, resent the fact that George Gershwin's splendid music was omitted from the award, only the "book" apparently having been given consideration.

Oh, well, George, life is like that!

Of all things! Maxine Doyle, the mellifluous mistress of ceremonies at the Earle Theater, just back from princessing at the Shenandoah apple blossom festival, down Winchester way, having a night off last night, spent it on F street going to picture shows!

Royalty is having its turn in the newsreels this week. On the Palace screen while the current events are being run off, you will see King George and Queen Mary of England attending Britain's biggest football game in Wembley Stadium and, a little later, King Albert of Belgium looking over his possessions in the African Congo. And what a show the natives put on for him!

Then there are the premiers of England, Germany and France—MacDonald, Bruening and Tardieu—at Geneva, in warm handclasps, probably over some new scheme, as suggested by the unnamed stentor who speaks from the screen, to make Uncle Sam assume the entire cost of the war.

You have to be a pretty good chisler to get out of there, big boy!

This Morning with Shirley L. Povich

THE fifty-eighth Kentucky Derby, down for decision today at Churchill Downs, steeped in the blue grass tradition of thoroughbred racing, contains all the elements of a hoss race, as distinguished from the garden variety of horse race.

Withdrawals have thrown the Derby wide open this year. Top Flight, the winter book favorite; Burning Blaze, a warm second choice, and Universe, New York hope, failed to survive the rigors of training. Only Tick On, of the outstanding group, remains to give the race a semblance of a stand-out favorite. But it is hardly a case of Tick On against the field, as it was in 1931, with Twenty Grand, 1930 with Gallant Fox, and 1928 with Reign Count.

False favorites have been too many in the Derby to concede the race to Tick On, and even his stock dropped with his defeat at Havre de Grace by Springsteel, held at 100 to 1 in the future books, and not deemed good enough to warrant the $500 starting fee.

Mr. Pete Marshall, who has been following the races, man and boy, for 40 years, has been harping upon one Lucky Tom to provide the upset at the Downs today. Mr. Marshall has been won over to Lucky Tom by the latter's victory in the Louisiana Derby last March.

Mr. Marshall is mindful, too, that Black Gold punctured the time-worn theory that winter track horses could not step along with their quadruped cousins in the rich spring stakes, and Lucky Tom is of that ilk. Black Gold, even though of doubtful thoroughbred parentage, campaigned all winter in Florida and Louisiana in 1926 and then continued in training in May to make a show of his field in the Kentucky Derby that season.

Lucky Tom has not started since his Louisiana Derby triumph, and has been on the ground at the Downs longer than any of the favored contenders.

Whatever story the mutuels might tell, the sentimental favorite in the Derby today will be the Whitney entry of Stepenfetchit and Overtime. The casual better in possession of the wherewithal in these depressionistic times could do worse than back a couple of old-timers on the Whitney pair—Buddy Ensor and Earl Sande.

Ensor, away from the races ten years, has made a valiant comeback this season, and has earned the mount on Stepenfetchit. He rode with the best in his heyday and was a consistent winner at Hialeah before accepting mounts in Maryland and New York. Washington racegoers have a more than casual interest in Stepenfetchit, which performed at nearby Maryland tracks frequently as a 2-year-old before earning his spurs as a Derby starter this spring.

The lesser liked of the Whitney pair, Overtime, will have the handy Sande on his back; and, if past performances mean anything in horse racing, Sande is no mean asset, having won the classic three times, a distinction which he Nats Tie Score But Weaver Weakens in Final Innings.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

A GALLERY of nearly 12,000, exactly 6,475 of whom were ladies' day guests, crowded through the turnstiles yesterday and it went home greatly disappointed. After having taken the haughty Mackmen and Yankees for three consecutive games each, the dope indicated that the White Sox, who finished last in the race in 1931, would be the easiest kind of pickings. Things did not eventuate this way, though, and the Washington Club was beaten, 5 to 3.

Three streaks were snapped with this loss. The Nats were stopped after having turned in six straight victories, Pitcher Mohte Weaver received his first major league licking after having won four in a row this season and his only start of last, while it was the first White Sox victory in their last eight starts and only their second in fifteen games.

3 Brilliant Catches By Manush.

Although Outfielder Heinie Manush did not do anything with the bat which was important enough to write home about, but for his sensational fielding the Nats would have been beaten much worse. Heinie came through with three brilliant catches, his shoestring dive which ended the sixth coming with two men on the sacks and enabling the natives to hold the 3-all tie which existed at that time. As things turned out, this helped little, for the visitors became one up in the eighth and scored another for luck in their last turn at the tee.

Weaver, who apparently would do better if he warmed up longer and harder before toeing the slab, got away badly, as has been the case in all of his games. He spotted the Chisox to three runs in the opening canto, then settled down and performed fairly well while his mates were getting these runs back.

The Sox' marker which broke the deadlock in the eighth was unearned, due to an error by Cronin, but there was no taint on the one scored in the ninth, except that Catcher Roy Spencer's peg to Myer was poor enough to let Pinch-runner Funk register on the front end of a double steal, thus relieving Weaver of full responsibility.

Rothrock Scores on Seeds' Triple.

Rothrock, Sox lead-off man, opened with a single and tallied on Seed's triple. The latter counted after the catch of Selph's long fly. Weaver then passed Kress, and Blue's out, on which Myer made a "Jesse James" stop, and Fothergill's single turned this into a third run.

Myer greeted Cecil Pat Caraway, the lanky southpaw, with a triple and registered on Manush's long fly. Then both teams marked time until the fifth, which saw the Nats tie the string. Consecutive singles by Reynolds and Judge put men on third

Reds Play Brilliantly To Trounce Braves, 14-1

Cincinntal, Ohio, May 6 (A.P.).—Working in fine trim at bat, afield and in the box, the Cincinnati Reds today trounced Boston's league-leading Braves, 14 to 1, for the second victory of the series.

With Lucas at his best, Boston gathered only four hits against the Reds' sixteen, two of them in the ninth, when Moore doubled to become the first Brave to pass first base, Eckhart following him on a force walk to Berger.

The rest of the game belonged to the Reds. Lombardi's double in the third, following a single and a walk, was good for two runs. In the fifth, triples by Grantham and Heath and another Lombardi double helped roll up six runs. Singles and a double by Babe Herman in following innings completed the disaster thrust upon Cantwell and two relief pitchers.

Schulte and Kimsey Star as Browns Win

Boston, May 6 (A.P.).—Fred Schulte's home run and Big Chad Kimsey's ninth-inning relief pitching enabled the St. Louis Browns to defeat the Red Sox, 6 to 5, today to make it two in a row.

Schulte delivered his round-trip clout in the seventh with Jim Levey on base. The Browns made three hits off Pete Donohue in this frame to break a 3-to-3 deadlock.

Shorey Defeats McCarthy In Final at Army-Navy

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

JOHN C. SHOREY, of the Manor Club, yesterday won the spring invitation golf tournament of the Army-Navy Club, defeating Harry G. Pitt, Manor, in the semifinal round played yesterday morning, 3 and 2, and winning from M. P. McCarthy, Beaver Dam, in the afternoon round by the wide margin of 7 and 5.

The forenoon struggle between Pitt and Shorey was easily regarded as the star contest of the tournament and a large gallery followed the two players. Pitt, who won nearly every tournament last year and also won the championship of the Manor Club, was also winner of the Middle Atlantic championship in 1928 when he defeated Shorey by running down a 20-yard putt on the nineteenth green on the Congressional course, and is also the District amateur champion. Shorey is a former junior champion and has been a consistent winner in other events for some years. As both are members of the Manor Club an intense interest was naturally manifested by Manor Club members who followed the match.

Pitt 2 Up at Seventh.

Pitt's defeat was by no manner of means a foregone conclusion for at the seventh tee he was 2 up. Shorey, however, won the seventh and eighth and both halved the ninth with birdie 2s, the match thus being all even at the turn. With pars and birdies on the succeeding holes, Shorey gradually drew away from his opponent and ended the match on the sixteenth green, Pitt losing the final hole by an over-approach. From the eighth tee until the final hole was played Shorey was 2 under par. He was aided by a 12-foot putt on the ninth, an 8-foot putt on the tenth and a 10-footer on the eleventh for a birdie. Pitt was more or less erratic from the tee, especially on the fifteenth when he pushed his drive far into the woods. The cards:

Out—
Shorey	4	6	4	6	4	4	4	4	2—38
Pitt	4	5	4	5	4	4	5	5	2—38
In—
Shorey	3	3	5	5	4	5	4
Pitts	4	4	5	4	4	6	5

McCarthy, Beaver Dam, survived for the final by defeating E. J. Carver, Manor, on the eighteenth green by 1 up, which was close enough to give the gallery a thrill, but the final round was, like all other final rounds, a commonplace affair. In fact, Shorey, driving to the edge of the first green, 276 yards from the tee, easily won the hole with a birdie 3 and then won the next three holes, McCarthy being now 4 down.

Fourth Hole Is Comedy.

The fourth hole was a comedy, McCarthy becoming entangled in honeysuckle and the woods and finally holing out in 7, Shorey winning with a 6. On the fifth, Shorey pulled his approach to the left of the green, almost out of bounds, allowing McCarthy to win the hole with a par 4, and on the seventh the Beaver Dam player chipped into the cup from off the green for a birdie 2, winning another hole, leaving him only 2 down.

From that time on, however, McCarthy, mainly by approaches which were either over or short of the green, lost every hole except the twelfth,

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 6 (A.P.).—Tick On, the black beauty of the East, gained further support today as the stand-out favorite for the Kentucky Derby as an even score of 3-year-olds, the best of a somewhat depleted class, formally were entered for the fifty-eighth running of America's most famous horse race tomorrow afternoon.

The swing in expert sentiment toward the star of the Loma Stable, owned by Mrs. Louis A. Kaufmann, of New York, was accelerated by a smashing workout this morning.

The flashy son of On Watch ran 3 furlongs, according to Trainer Max Hirsch's timepiece, in 33 3-5 seconds. Other watches showed a fraction slower but the performance was close to the American record of 33⅕ seconds and satisfied the railbirds that Tick On is in the peak of condition.

Tick on Opposes Uncertain Field.

Although now conceded on all sides to be the "horse to beat," Tick On faced a field in which it also appeared most anything might happen, depending on the turn of racing luck over the mile and a quarter route.

Outstanding among the thoroughbreds given a good chance to upset the favorite were the entry of Col. E. R. Bradley, Burgoo King and Brother Joe; and the pair that will carry the colors of Mrs. John Hay Whitney, Stepenfetchit and Over Time.

Tick On remained a 2-to-1 quotation in the wagering. The odds were 6 to 1 each against the Bradley and Whitney horses. J. H. Louchein's Economic is fourth choice at 8 to 1.

Tick On Favored With Sixth Position.

In the draw for post positions today Tick On fared favorably by getting the sixth position from the pole. Just inside the favorite in fourth and fifth places, were Stepenfetchit and Over Time.

The Bradley horses got none the best of the draw, however. Burgoo King, the stable's choice if the going is fast, drew No. 13, and Brother Joe, the mudder, got No. 18. The track condition will determine which of the Bradley pair is to be ridden by the noted pockey, Laverne Fator.

The draw was also somewhat unlucky for two of the long shots upon

Yankees Nose Out Tigers in 1-0 Fray

Pipgras Wins in Duel With Whitehill; Gehrig and Chapman Star.

New York, May 6 (A.P.).—George Pipgras pitched the Yankees to their first shutout and their closest victory of the season today when he held the Detroit Tigers to five scattered singles to win the series opener 1 to 0.

Pipgras hurled a great game for his third triumph of the year. He never gave more than one hit an inning and until the ninth, when Charley Gehringer opened with a single, he never was in danger. He struck out seven men and walked only two. Three of the hits came in the last three innings.

The Tigers made it a pitching duel with Earl Whitehill on the mound, but the Tiger ace was not quite good enough to win. He allowed seven hits and struck out four, three in one inning, but slipped up in the second frame when two hits brought the only run.

SERGT. DONALDSON WINS PIMLICO FEATURE IN STRETCH

Gilbert Rides 3 Winners On Card

Muskogee Is Winner Over Moonstruck in Steeplechase.

By WALTER HAIGHT
(Post Staff Correspondent).

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, May 6.—Sergeant Donaldson, named for a hero, won new laurels at this race track today. The Sergeant was forced to share the honors, however, with one Johnny Gilbert, whose business concerns the riding of horses home first. In fact, the Sergeant and Gilbert pulled a brand-new trick on the other horses and jockeys.

The son of Whiskbroom II invariably has been a front runner. He generally breezes away from the barrier, rushes to the top, or as near the top as possible, and turns on full speed for the wire to win or lose according to whether or not the opposition is of catching caliber.

The Old Sergeant Surprises.

But not today. Gilbert, who rode two other winners, kept the Sergeant back. The bettors, the horses and the riders took it for granted that the Sergeant was through for the day. That was the new trick. Anubis and Mexico were about to salt the first and second money when up popped the devil, in this case, Old Sergeant himself, turned stretch-running fool. He took it all in the last few strides.

The crowd, one of the largest of the meeting, received at least two of the day's thrills watching as they hung telephone numbers on the mutuel board. In the first race, Serenabit, with Gilbert up, supplied the medium for a pay-off at the rate of $119.20, while those who waited for the figures on the final saw Angry Lass pay $112.

There was nothing flukey about Serenabit's victory in the opener. Gilbert brought the juvenile home five lengths in front of Nemerc, with the favored Decanter third.

Muskogee, which fell opening day, not only stayed on all fours today, but defeated Moonstruck over the jumps. Fair Moss was third. My Care was the only horse to fall out of the field of ten.

Happy Anne lasted long enough to take the third race, a division of the first race and fashioned for juveniles foaled in Maryland. Tremendous was beaten a head. Chisel was a well-beaten third.

Hatteras earned a head decision over Horatia in the fourth. Gilbert also had this mount. Huraway accounted for the third money, some three lengths behind the top pair.

Federal Unionists Play Today and Tomorrow

A game today and another tomorrow, to prepare them for the oncoming Capital City League race, is the task confronting the Federal Employe Unionists. This afternoon at 3 p. m. the Unionists will engage the Bethesda Fire Department on the Bethesda diamond, while tomorrow they will face the Cabin John outfit on the latter's diamond at 2:30.

Manager Earle Moser will select from Morton, Harris, Shreve, Mattare and Bennett for mound duty, with Waldemaler and Gamble splitting the catching. The team will meet for both games at 1 p. m. at 10 B street southwest.

G. W. NETMEN BOW.

The George Washington University tennis team dropped a 5-4 victory to St. John's College, of Brooklyn, in a match played at the Columbia Country Club yesterday. The match between Libachitz, of St. John's, and Gable, of George Washington, which the former won in three sets, featured the match. The final two sets went to deuce before the local boy succumbed.

Tavolin (S. J.) defeated Goldsmith, 7—9, 6—3, 6—4; Nogrady (S. J.) defeated Edwards, 7—5, 6—3; Robinson (G. W.) defeated Lindenbaum, 6—2, 8—6; Klauser (S. J.) defeated Lee, 6—2, 7—9, 6—2; R. Two-dollar mutuels paid—MUSKOGEE, $13.80, $5.90, $4.00; MOONSTRUCK, $4.80, $4.00; FAIR MOSS, $3.20.

MUSKOGEE, reserved for the first mile and fencing in good fashion, went to the leaders when reaching the back stretch for the final turn of the field, came with excellent speed after the twelfth fence and, wearing LEONARD B. and FAIR MOSS down, had enough left to stall MOONSTRUCK. Latter, rated along until the final half mile, closed with good courage approaching the finish. FAIR MOSS, steadied at all of his fences, raced under slight restraint until challenged and continued with good courage after losing command. LOCHSHEE made a determined effort at the next to last fence, but was not good enough thereafter. LE BEY, reserved early in running, could not reach the leaders when called upon. LEONARD B. faltered badly after gaining a slight lead at the twelfth fence. MY CARE fell at the twelfth fence.

THIRD RACE—Four furlongs. Purse, $1,300. The Marylander (second division). For maiden 2-year-olds foaled in Maryland. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:12. Off at 3:16½. Winner, A. W. Labrot's br. f. (2), by Happy Time—Annie Kendall. Trained by W. Irvine. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:48 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—HAPPY ANNE, $3.70, $2.80, $2.50; TREMENDOUS, $5.30, $3.80; CHISEL, $16.20.

HAPPY ANNE, having the most speed, went into command when leaving the back stretch, saved ground and, holding on with good courage, just lasted to withstand TREMENDOUS. Latter, a keen factor from the start, moved up fast when straightened into the home stretch, swerved in behind the winner at the final furlong pole, but came out in the final sixteenth mile and finished full of run. CHISEL, forwardly placed, showed a good effort. FLORA CANTER raced wide and closed fast. FAIR CLARK had only early speed. HUE broke slowly and was unable to reach contention. NUPTIAL was badly crowded when leaving the back stretch.

FOURTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:53½. Off at 4:01¼. Winner, Mrs. Edward Stud's b. or br. c. (3), by Mad Hatter—Eurasia. Trained by R. Pryce. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:24, 0:48 3-5, 1:14, 1:40 2-5, 1:47.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—HATTERAS, $7.80, $3.40, $2.80; HORATIA, $2.80, $2.30; HURAWAY, $2.60.

HATTERAS, slow to settle in his stride and a distant trailer for six furlongs, entered the contention with a rush in the final half mile, closing in determined fashion, wore HORATIA down inside the final sixteenth mile. HORATIA, kept close up from the start, displaced FIFE when ready and continued gamely approaching the finish. HURAWAY saved ground and closed gamely. DONYA, taken to the outside when reaching the stretch, faltered after making a good effort. ZEMBLA had no mishaps. FIFE stopped badly. TRYABIT had early foot.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300; claiming handicap. The Emerson. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:31½. Off at 4:36. Winner, ch. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—SERGEANT DONALDSON, $11.90, $5.40, $3.50; ANUBIS, (field), $9.30, $6.30; MEXICO, $9.60.

SERGEANT DONALDSON, forcing a good pace from the start, responded willingly when placed to punishment and, closing stoutly during the final drive, wore ANUBIS down to get up in the closing strides. ANUBIS, showing good early speed, raced under slight pressure while having command held, resolutely when the real test came. MEXICO, prominent and going in his best form, was kept on the outside of the leaders and finished with good courage. FIDDLER was never able to improve his position. ULUNIU, forced to race on the outside, could not reach the contenders. PORTAM showed a good effort. GAY PARTY raced in dull fashion. BRIGHT BIRD lacked speed. ARROW stopped.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won ridden out; place, driving. Went to post at 5:06. Off at 5:10. Winner, Mrs. W. M. Two-dollar mutuels paid—GLORIA MARIS, $2.70, $2.60, $2.20; AIR KING, $23.30, $15.20; FAIR JUDGE, $3.60.

GLORIA MARIS, assuming command when midway of the back stretch, opened up a winning lead when approaching the home stretch, was shaken up when challenged in the final quarter mile, and had enough in reserve to stall off AIR KING. Latter moved up fast and saved ground rounding the far turn, but weakened under punishment when offering a bold challenge nearing the final furlong pole. FAIR JUDGE closed gamely and was easily best of the others. BLACK DREAMS and WILD KITTY were used up early. LADY GENERAL was never a stout factor.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—ANGRY LASS, $112.00, $48.60, $18.40; RUANE, $5.70, $4.40; SIR BYRON, $4.20.

ANGRY LASS, closer up than usual, secured clear racing room on the inside when moving to the leaders and, finishing fast next the inner rail, was up in the final strides. RUANE moved into contention with a rush, swung to the outside when gaining command nearing the final furlong pole, but was weakly ridden when approaching the finish. SIR BYRON, taken under steadying restraint while setting the pace, tired suddenly when moving into the home stretch.

LACROSSE AND TRACK MAGNETS AT MARYLAND U. TODAY

Old Line Foe Of St. John's Stickmen

High and Prep Stars Will Compete in Annual Meet.

Maryland Trackmen to Face Hopkins in Dual Meet.

BYRD STADIUM at College Park is the mecca today for Capital lacrosse and track fans, for the spacious athletic plant of Maryland University will be the stage for the most important stick clash of the national schedule and a track meet involving 400 athletes from 42 institutions.

The lacrosse game, starting at 4 o'clock, brings together St. John's College, of Annapolis, the national champion for the past three years, and Maryland University, which has occupied a place close to the top for the same period.

Neither team has been beaten this year, each having won five straight games by decisive margins. And since a warm rivalry exists between them, today's game should develop into a dog-eat-dog affair, such as was presented last year. St. John's won in 1931 by a score of 3 to 2, the decision being disputed by many fans, who claimed one of the Johnnies' goals was a gift from a poor-sighted judge.

Championship Tang.

The winner likely will go on to the 1932 championship. However, regardless of the result both teams are virtually certain of being selected to participate in the Olympic play-off series which will determine this country's lacrosse representative in the Los Angeles games.

The track carnival, beginning at 1 o'clock, is divided into two divisions. Maryland will oppose Johns Hopkins in a dual meet, while schoolboy teams from the Free State, Virginia, New Jersey and the District will take part in the annual meet sponsored for them by Maryland University.

Eastern High School, winner of the open section of the 1931 school games, enters today's event greatly handicapped by a ruling of the officials who have declared Bob Slye, their leading point scorer, ineligible. Slye, who was ruled out for having performed four years, had been counted good for 15 points toward another Light Blue and White triumph.

Eastern's loss strengthens the chances of Central High which looms brightly as 1932 local public high champion. Tech, Western, Episcopal and other teams representing many Maryland cities and counties will vie for honors.

KOZELUH AND TILDEN OLD RIVALS

Clash of Stars Long Sought; to Play Here Tomorrow.

WITH still many months left of the local tennis season, that period's greatest display of competition probably will be held tomorrow afternoon when the two world's leading tennis professionals, Bill Tilden and Karel Kozeluh, clash in a five-set match on the courts at Wardman Park Hotel.

Appearing with Tilden and Kozeluh will be Hans Nusslein, held by many critics of the game as the logical successor to Tilden, and Roman Najuch, who, with the exception of Tilden, was the leading light of the three-day tournament the old master staged here nearly a month ago.

The rivalry between Kozeluh and Tilden remains one of the greatest McCoy-Hatfield feuds of sport. When Tilden stalked the heights of amateurism the fame of Kozeluh was just beginning to bloom. The Czech began to hit the high spots of tennis about 1926. He was appointed coach of the French Davis Cup team a year before, and once won a match from Lacoste, 6—0, 6—0.

Kozeluh-Tilden Match Sought.

About 1930 the hue and cry for a Kozeluh-Tilden match was at its height. Kozeluh had come to this country the year before and barnstormed with Vincent Richards, whom he defeated in four-fifths of the matches. Tilden, then an amateur, and Kozeluh met on an isolated court on the Riviera in early 1930. Kozeluh was in street clothes and had given four hours of practice lessons that morning. Tilden won, 6—4, 6—4.

Tilden went over to professional ranks January 1, 1931. His battles with Kozeluh immediately became a sensation. They played to more than 60,000 people in their first eight matches. They drew 15,000 at Madison Square Garden. Their Wardman engagement last July produced some of the greatest tennis ever seen here.

Nusslein and Najuch also will play a singles match tomorrow, a two-out-of-three affair. A doubles, in which Tilden and Najuch will play Nusslein and Kozeluh, will cap the day's program.

General admission may be had at the matches for 75 cents. Seats in the west stands are $1.50 and box seats $2. Tickets are on sale at Spalding's and the hotel.

LEE WYCOFF FACES BIG CHANCE

Meets Deglane Here in Mat Feature on Tuesday.

LEE WYCOFF, one of Washington's favorite grapple sons, will be thoroughly groomed for the supreme test of his career Tuesday night when he wrestles to a finish with Henri Deglane, world's heavyweight championship claimant, in the new outdoor arena at Bolling Field.

Undefeated since making his debut here, Wycoff will be solidly backed by a handsome following when the opening whistle shrills.

Handsome and clever with it, the former St. Louis University athlete has impressed Washingtonians with his clean but aggressive style of mixing. At his peak against top-notchers, the big fellow expects to show to fine advantage against the present Bowser title holder.

Bush in Form as Cubs Defeat Dodgers, 3 to 1

Chicago, May 6 (A.P.).—Guy Bush turned in a fine seven-hit game today and Van Mungo, who started against him, grew wild in the sixth inning, and as a result the Cubs defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers, 3 to 1.

7,000 County Youths In Track Meet Today

Approximately 7,000 Montgomery County children will participate in the annual athletic meet of the county public schools today at Rockville Fair Grounds. Five separate meets will be held at the same time as the children have been divided into five groups, each of which will receive the full set of prizes. The meet will be under the auspices of the county board of education, with Dr. William E. Burdick, of the Playground Athletic League, in charge of the events.

A special train will leave Takoma Park this morning at 8:40 o'clock, making stops at Silver Spring, Kensington, Garrett Park and Rockville and again will make the down trip in the evening. Lunches will be sold by a committee of mothers, insuring wholesome food, instead of by concessionaires. Dr. V. L. Ellicott, county health officer, and the county public health nurses, will be in attendance at a first-aid tent.

Giants Again Trounce Cardinals by 4 to 3

St. Louis, May 6 (A.P.).—The New York Giants and St. Louis Cardinals, picked before the season to fight it out for first place in the National League, continued their second division struggle today with the Giants pulling out a 4-to-3 decision, to tie Brooklyn for sixth place in the standing.

New York's second straight victory over the 1931 world champions came in a second odd game, marked by spotty hitting, freak plays and errors.

Frank Hogan set the batting pace with three singles in as many official times at bat. His first came with the bases full in the second inning and drove in two runs.

SMALLWOOD HERE FOR MATCH

Capital Boy to Meet Overlin at Portner's Monday.

HAVING campaigned without defeat for nine months in Virginia, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware, Joe Smallwood, crack Washington welterweight, returned home yesterday, prepared to carry on against Ken Overlin in one of the eight-round features Monday night in Portner Arena.

In Overlin, Smallwood faces one of the hardest punching foes of his career, and so impressive was the sailor lad at Portner's a few weeks ago that local fans, despite prejudice, hesitate to pick Smallwood as the winner.

Overlin, attached to the U. S. S. Idaho, has been keeping in fine fettle by helping Spike Webb train the Navy Olympic team candidates at Annapolis. Webb's selection of the sailor as his associate in preparing the Navy team is a tribute to Overlin's ability both as a boxer and instructor.

Billy Strickler, local light-heavy, will meet Bill Flemster, Carolina champion, and Benny Schwartz, veteran Baltimore bantam, engages Billy Landers, Norfolk star, in the other eight-round bouts. Young Van, Washington's latest ring sensation, is matched against K. O. Burns, of Baltimore, in the six-round main preliminary, while Marino Marini, Italian southpaw lightweight, is down for four with Donald First, of Baltimore.

Parks Net League Opens Play Today

Six Teams Start Series With Star Players on Rosters.

With one new team in the running, the Public Parks Tennis League will open its schedule this afternoon on three sets of public courts. The new club is Pierce Mills, which takes the place of Taft Park. The team is led by Lieut. Gerald Smith, Navy Leech Cup player.

Today's matches bring together Potomac, the defending champions, and Rock Creek, at Rock Creek; Henry Park at Monument and Montrose at Pierce Mill. Many of the outstanding players of Washington are on the team rosters, including Dooly Mitchell, No. 1 ranking player of Washington; Gilbert Hunt, Bud Markey, Barney Welsh, Gene Herman and Maurice O'Neill.

Team line-ups:

HENRY PARK—Bud Markey, Gilbert Hunt, Pat Deck, Bob Considine, Bill Seidel, Dick Mason.

MONTROSE—Dooly Mitchell, Tony Latona, Bill Buchanan, Jim Heiskell, Bob Smith, Happy Jacob.

MONUMENT—Alan Staubly, Dean Judd, Muscoe Garnett, Sid Wallenstein, Barney Welsh.

ROCK CREEK—Frank Shore, Larry Phillips, Stan Haney, John Neale, Harry Hill, Nelson Scarborough.

Kennel Club Opens Bicentennial Show

Program Starts Today at Auditorium; $10,000 Setter Entered.

The George Washington Bicentennial dog show, sponsored by the National Capital Kennel Club, will open at the Washington Auditorium this morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Following the morning exhibit, showings will be held at 2 and 3 o'clock in the afternoon and at 8 o'clock tonight. The same schedule will prevail tomorrow. Four rings will be in operation.

Blue Dan, of Happy Valley, a $10,000 English setter, will be among the 50 champions that will lead the field of approximately 570 dogs. This outstanding dog last year won the local show's "king of the show" ribbon.

Trophies will be awarded in six variety classes Sunday night. The donors and the classes in which they will be awarded are: Group 1, sporting, Pearson & Crain, jewelers; group 2, sporting (hounds), Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Simpson; group 3, working dogs, Fred Buchholz; group 4, terriers, the Star; group 5, toy dogs, The Washington Post, and group 6, nonsporting dogs, Mrs. W. R. Joel. Shah & Shah, jewelers, will give a silver cup for the best spaniel in the sporting group.

BUSINESS NO MATCH FOR EASTERN

Lanahan Fans 17 in 20-10 Victory of Series Leaders.

AFTER breaking several high school series traditions and playing a couple of good ball games, the boys reverted to type yesterday afternoon and in a nice three-hour game Eastern defeated Business, 20 to 10. It was Eastern's third straight series victory, boosting its winning streak in series competition to 21 games.

Then, too, it just about clinched the school's fifth straight pennant. Only Western remains on the Eastern schedule. It was Business' final game, and put a merciful end to one of the worst season's the Stenographers have wallowed through in the last decade.

Eleanor Holm to Swim At Shoreham Pool Tonight

ELEANOR HOLM, the only roto-gravure bathing beauty who can swim, will appear at the Shoreham pool tonight as the feature attraction of the dual meet between the Shoreham women's swimming team and the New York Women's Swimming Association outfit.

Fresh from breaking new world's records in the backstroke, Miss Holm is expected to find little competition tonight among the local girls, but should initiate them to big-league swimming in more certain style than they have ever experienced before. The beautiful New York girl holds nearly every woman's back stroke record.

Chief hope of the locals is Onalene Lawrence, the best girl diver ever to be developed here. She also will perform in the back stroke events. Rita Augusterfer, sterling sprint champion of the District, may be another point-gaining factor for the local team.

Capital City League Names Foes for Festival Game.

THE Dor-A Barbecue nine, hailing from Mt. Rainier, last night was selected as the opponent of the Miller Furniture Co. in the opening game of the senior division of the Capital City League, sponsored by The Post, which will be played next Saturday. The game, which will precede the regularly scheduled opening of the league by a day, will be a feature of the Festival of Youth program.

A franchise fee of $24 was approved. It must be posted not later than midnight Monday. A day of grace was granted to the teams in this division in filing the birth certificates of players. All who intend to participate in the inaugural games must submit their certificates by Tuesday night at the latest.

The withdrawal of the Southeast Business Men's Association and Brookland Boys Club teams leaves these franchises vacant. They will be held open until Monday night. Any team desiring to obtain one should apply to the secretary of the league at the sports department of The Post.

Devitt Prep Golfers Defeat Gonzaga, 6-0

Devitt Prep soundly trounced Gonzaga in a golf match played over the East Potomac Park links yesterday. The score was 6—0. In the first foursome Richards and Al Baer, defeated Merkel and Bob Berberich, 9 and 8, and 7 and 6, respectively. They also won best ball, 7 and 6. J. Baer and Childs completed the route in the second foursome, winning over C. Berberich and McMahon, 6 and 5, 5 and 4. Devitt won best ball, 5 and 4. The winners are scheduled to play St. John's this morning at 9 o'clock.

SERGT. DONALDSON WINS PIMLICO FEATURE IN STRETCH

Muskogee Is Winner Over Moonstruck in Steeplechase.

(Post Staff Correspondent).

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, May 6.—Sergeant Donaldson, named for a hero, won new laurels at this race track today. The Sergeant was forced to share the honors, however, with one Johnny Gilbert, whose business concerns the riding of horses home first. In fact, the Sergeant and Gilbert pulled a brand-new trick on the other horses and jockeys.

The son of Whiskbroom II invariably has been a front runner. He generally breezes away from the barrier, rushes to the top, or as near the top as possible, and turns on full speed for the wire to win or lose according to whether or not the opposition is of catching caliber.

The Old Sergeant Surprises.

But not today. Gilbert, who rode two other winners, kept the Sergeant back. The others, the horses and the riders took it for granted that the Sergeant was through for the day. That was the new trick. Anubis and Mexico were about to salt the first and second money when up popped the devil, in this case, Old Sergeant himself, turned stretch-running fool. He took it all in the last few strides.

The crowd, one of the largest of the meeting, received at least two of the day's thrills watching as they hung telephone numbers on the mutuel board. In the first race, Serenabit, with Gilbert up, supplied the medium for a pay-off at the rate of $119.20, while those who waited for the figures on the final saw Angry Lass pay $112.

There was nothing flukey about Serenabit's victory in the opener, Gilbert brought the juvenile home five lengths in front of Nemerc, with the favored Decanter third.

Muskogee, which fell opening day, not only stayed on all fours today, but defeated Moonstruck over the jumps. Fair Moss was third. My Care was the only horse to fall out of the field of ten.

Happy Anne lasted long enough to take the third race, a division of the first race and fashioned for juveniles foaled in Maryland. Tremendous was beaten a head. Chisel was a well-beaten third.

Hatteras earned a head decision over Horatia in the fourth. Gilbert also had this mount. Huraway accounted for the third money, some three lengths behind the top pair.

Federal Unionists Play Today and Tomorrow

A game today and another tomorrow, to prepare them for the oncoming Capital City League race, is the task confronting the Federal Employe Unionists. This afternoon at 3 p. m. the Unionists will engage the Bethesda Fire Department on the Bethesda diamond, while tomorrow they will face the Cabin John outfit on the latter's diamond at 2:30.

Manager Earle Moser will select from Morton, Harris, Shreve, Mattare and Bennett for mound duty, with Waldemaier and Gamble splitting the catching. The team will meet for both games at 1 p. m. at 10 B street southwest.

G. W. NETMEN BOW.

The George Washington University tennis team dropped a 5-4 victory to St. John's College, of Brooklyn, in a match played at the Columbia Country Club yesterday. The match between Libschitz, of St. John's, and Gable, of George Washington, which the former won in three sets, featured the match. The final two sets went to deuce before the local boy succumbed.

Tavolin (S. J.) defeated Goldsmith, 7—9, 6—3, 6—4; Nogrady (S. J.) defeated Edwards, 7—5, 6—3; Robinson (G. W.) defeated Lindenbaum, 6—3, 6—3; Klauser (S. J.) defeated Lee, 6—2, 7—9, 6—2; R. Sherfey (G. W.) defeated Tenne, 6—3, 6—2; Libschitz (S. J.) defeated Gable, 6—2, 6—4; Edwards and Goldsmith defeated Tavolin and Nogrady, 2—6, 8—3, 6—2; Klauser and Lindenbaum (S. J.) defeated R. Sherfey and L. Sherfey, 6—2, 6—5; Robinson and Bennett (G. W.) defeated Kellner and Froonkin (S. J.), 6—1, 6—1.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SERENABIT (field), $119.20, $52.20, $9.70; NEMERC, $120, $5.40; DECANTER, $2.80.

SERENABIT, showing high early speed, avoided interference directly after the break, drew clear at once and held away throughout. NEMERC, quick to begin, raced in nearest pursuit of the winner, but was held perfectly safe. DECANTER, rushed hard from the start, lost ground, but finished willingly when straightened into the home stretch. BORA raced well. TOWN SQUARE could not menace the leaders. FELICIANA was outrun. TRUE SENTIMENT suffered much early interference when rounding the turn. AIZLE went very wide the entire trip.

SECOND RACE—Two miles. Purse, $2,000. Claiming Handicap. The Gilmore Steeplechase. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:38½. Off at 2:40½. Winner, J. Bosley, Jr.'s ch. g. (5), by Rockminster—Nell McChord. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $1,400; second, $400; third, $200. Time, 3:50 4-5. (13 jumps).

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MUSKOGEE, $13.80, $5.90, $4.00; MOONSTRUCK, $4.80, $4.00; FAIR MOSS, $5.20.

MUSKOGEE, reserved for the first mile and fencing in good fashion, went to the leaders when reaching the back stretch for the final turn of the field, came with excellent speed into the last fence and, clearing LINA by inches, was first across down, had enough left to stall off MOONSTRUCK. Latter, rated along until the final half mile, closed with good courage approaching the finish. FAIR MOSS, steadied at all of his fences, raced under slight restraint until challenged and continued with good courage after losing command. LOCHSHEE made a determined effort at the next to last fence, but was not good enough thereafter. LE BEY, reserved in the early running, could not reach the leaders when called upon. LEONARD E. faltered badly after gaining a slight lead at the twelfth fence. MY CARE fell at the twelfth fence.

THIRD RACE—Four furlongs. Purse, $1,300. The Marylander (second division). For maiden 2-year-olds foaled in Maryland. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:12. Off at 3:16½. Winner, A. W. Labrot's br. f. (2), by Happy Time—Annie Kendall. Trained by W. Irvine. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:49 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—HAPPY ANNE, $3.70, $2.80, $2.50; TREMENDOUS, $5.30, $3.80; CHISEL, $16.20.

HAPPY ANNE, having the most speed, went into command when leaving the back stretch, saved ground and, holding on with good courage, just lasted to withstand TREMENDOUS. Latter, a keen factor from the start, moved up fast when straightened into the home stretch, swerved in behind the winner at the final furlong pole, but came out in the final sixteenth mile and finished full of fun. CHISEL, forwardly placed, showed a good effort. FLORA CANTER raced wide and closed fast. FAIR CLARK had brief early speed. HUT broke slowly and was unable to reach contention. NUPTIAL was badly crowded when leaving the back stretch.

FOURTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:53½. Off at 4:01½. Winner, Mereworth Stud's b. or br. c. (3), by Mad Hatter—Eurasia. Trained by J. S. Fryce. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:24, 0:49, 1:14, 1:40 2-5, 1:47.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—HATTERAS, $7.80, $3.40, $2.80; HORATIA, $2.80, $2.30; HURAWAY, $2.60.

HATTERAS, slow to settle in his stride and a distant trailer for six furlongs, entered contention with a rush in the final half mile and, closing in determined fashion, wore HORATIA down inside the final sixteenth mile. HORATIA, kept close up from the start, displaced FIFE when ready and, continued gamely approaching the finish. HURAWAY saved ground and closed gamely. DONYA, taken to the outside when reaching the back stretch, faltered after making a stout effort. ZEMBLA had no mishaps. FIFE stopped badly. TRYABIT had early foot.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. $1,300; claiming; handicap. The Emerson. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:31½. Off at 4:36. Winner, ch. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—SERGEANT DONALDSON, $11.90, $5.40, $3.80; ANUBIS, (field), $9.30, $8.30; MEXICO, $9.60.

SERGEANT DONALDSON, forcing a good pace from the start, responded willingly when placed to punishment and, closing stoutly during the final drive, wore ANUBIS down to get up in the closing strides. ANUBIS, showing good early speed, raced under a slight reserve while saving ground and held on resolutely when the real test came. MEXICO, prominent and going in fine fettle, was kept on the outside of the leaders and finished with good courage. FIDDLER was never able to improve his position. ULINIU, forced to race on the outside, could not reach the pacemakers. PORTAM showed a good test. GAY PARTY raced in dull fashion. BRIGHT BIRD faltered and ARROW stopped.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won ridden out; place, driving. Went to post at 5:08. Off at 5:08. Winner, Mrs. W. M. Two-dollar mutuels paid—GLORIA MARIS, $2.70, $2.60, $2.20; AIR KING, $23.30, $15.20; FAIR JUDGE, $3.60.

GLORIA MARIS, assuming command when midway of the back stretch, opened up a winning lead when approaching the home stretch, was shaken up when challenged in the final quarter mile, and had enough in reserve to stall off AIR KING. Latter moved up fast and saved ground rounding the far turn, but weakened under punishment when offering a bold challenge nearing the final furlong pole. FAIR JUDGE closed gamely and was easily best of the others. BLACK DREAMS and WILD KITTY were used up early. LADY GENERAL was never a stout factor.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:36. Off at 5:36½. Winner, Mrs. J. G. Two-dollar mutuels paid—ANGRY LASS, $112.00, $48.60, $18.40; RUANE, $5.70, $4.40; SIR BYRON, $4.20.

ANGRY LASS, closer up than usual, secured clear racing room on the inside when moving to the leaders and, finishing fast next the inner rail, was up in the final strides. RUANE moved into contention with a rush, swung to the outside when gaining command nearing the final furlong pole, but was weakly ridden when approaching the finish. SIR BYRON, taken under steadying restraint while setting the pace, tired suddenly when moving into the home stretch.

LACROSSE AND TRACK MAGNETS AT MARYLAND U. TODAY

Old Line Foe Of St. John's Stickmen

High and Prep Stars Will Compete in Annual Meet.

Maryland Trackmen to Face Hopkins in Dual Meet.

BYRD STADIUM at College Park is the mecca today for Capital lacrosse and track fans, for the spacious athletic plant of Maryland University will be the stage for the most important stick clash of the national schedule and a track meet involving 400 athletes from 42 institutions.

The lacrosse game, starting at 4 o'clock, brings together St. John's College, of Annapolis, the national champion for the past three years, and Maryland University, which has occupied a place close to the top for the same period.

Neither team has been beaten this year, each having won five straight games by decisive margins. And since a warm rivalry exists between them, today's game should develop into a dog-eat-dog affair, such as was presented last year. St. John's won in 1931 by a score of 3 to 2, the decision being disputed by many fans, who claimed one of the Johnnies' goals was a gift from a poor-sighted judge.

Championship Tang.

The winner likely will go on to the 1932 championship. However, regardless of the result both teams are virtually certain of being selected to paricipate in the Olympic play-off series which will determine this country's lacrosse representative in the Los Angeles games.

The track carnival, beginning at 1 o'clock, is divided into two divisions. Maryland will oppose Johns Hopkins in a dual meet, while schoolboy teams from the Free State, Virginia, New Jersey and the District will take part in the annual meet sponsored for them by Maryland University.

Eastern High School, winner of the open section of the 1931 school games, enters today's event greatly handicapped by a ruling of the officials who have declared Bob Slye, their leading point scorer, ineligible. Slye, who was ruled out for having performed four years, had been counted good for 15 points toward another Light Blue and White triumph.

Eastern's loss strengthens the chances of Central High which looms brightly as 1932 local public high champion. Tech, Western, Episcopal and other teams representing many Maryland cities and counties will vie for honors.

Bush in Form as Cubs Defeat Dodgers, 3 to 1

Chicago, May 6 (A.P.).—Guy Bush turned in a fine seven-hit game today and Van Mungo, who started against him, grew wild in the sixth inning, and as a result the Cubs defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers, 3 to 1.

7,000 County Youths In Track Meet Today

Approximately 7,000 Montgomery County children will participate in the annual athletic meet of the county public schools today at Rockville Fair Grounds. Five separate meets will be held at the same time as the children have been divided into five groups, each of which will receive the full set of prizes. The meet will be under the auspices of the county board of education, with Dr. William E. Burdick, of the Playground Athletic League, in charge of the events.

A special train will leave Takoma Park this morning at 8:40 o'clock, making stops at Silver Spring, Kensington, Garrett Park and Rockville and again will make the down trip in the evening. Lunches will be sold by a committee of mothers, insuring wholesome food, instead of by concessionaires. Dr. V. L. Ellicott, county health officer, and the county public health nurses, will be in attendance at a first-aid tent.

KOZELUH AND TILDEN OLD RIVALS

Clash of Stars Long Sought; to Play Here Tomorrow.

WITH still many months left of the local tennis season, that period's greatest display of competition probably will be held tomorrow afternoon when the two world's leading tennis professionals, Bill Tilden and Karel Kozeluh, clash in a five-set match on the courts at Wardman Park Hotel.

Appearing with Tilden and Kozeluh will be Hans Nusslein, held by many critics of the game as the logical successor to Tilden, and Roman Najuch, who, with the exception of Tilden, was the leading light of the three-day tournament the old master staged here nearly a month ago.

The rivalry between Kozeluh and Tilden remains one of the greatest McCoy-Hatfield feuds of sport. When Tilden stalked the heights of amateurism the fame of Kozeluh was just beginning to bloom. The Czech began to hit the high spots of tennis about 1926. He was appointed coach of the French Davis Cup team a year before, and once won a match from Lacoste, 6—0, 6—0.

Kozeluh-Tilden Match Sought.

About 1930 the hue and cry for a Kozeluh-Tilden match was at its height. Kozeluh had come to this country the year before and barnstormed with Vincent Richards, whom he defeated in four-fifths of the matches. Tilden, then an amateur, and Kozeluh met on an isolated court on the Riviera in early 1930. Kozeluh was in street clothes and had given four hours of practice lessons that morning. Tilden won, 6—4, 6—4.

Tilden went over to professional ranks January 1, 1931. His battles with Kozeluh immediately became a sensation. They played to more than 60,000 people in their first eight matches. They drew 15,000 at Madison Square Garden. Their Wardman engagement last July produced some of the greatest tennis ever seen here.

Nusslein and Najuch also will play a singles match tomorrow, a two-out-of-three affair. A doubles, in which Tilden and Najuch will play Nusslein and Kozeluh, will cap the day's program.

General admission may be had at the matches for 75 cents. Seats in the west stands are $1.50 and box seats $2. Tickets are on sale at Spalding's and the hotel.

Giants Again Trounce Cardinals by 4 to 3

St. Louis, May 6 (A.P.).—The New York Giants and St. Louis Cardinals, picked before the season to fight it out for first place in the National League, continued their second division struggle today with the Giants pulling out a 4-to-3 decision, to tie Brooklyn for sixth place in the standing.

New York's second straight victory over the 1931 world champions came in a second odd game, marked by spotty hitting, freak plays and errors.

Frank Hogan set the batting pace with three singles in as many official times at bat. His first came with the bases full in the second inning and drove in two runs.

LEE WYCOFF FACES BIG CHANCE

Meets Deglane Here in Mat Feature on Tuesday.

LEE WYCOFF, one of Washington's favorite grapple sons, will be thoroughly groomed for the supreme test of his career Tuesday night when he wrestles to a finish with Henri Deglane, world's heavyweight championship claimant, in the new outdoor arena at Bolling Field.

Undefeated since making his debut here, Wycoff will be solidly backed by a handsome following when the opening whistle shrills.

SMALLWOOD HERE FOR MATCH

Capital Boy to Meet Overlin at Portner's Monday.

HAVING campaigned without defeat for nine months in Virginia, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware, Joe Smallwood, crack Washington welterweight, returned home yesterday, prepared to carry on against Ken Overlin in one of the eight-round features Monday night in Portner Arena.

In Overlin, Smallwood faces one of the hardest punching foes of his career, and so impressive was the sailor lad at Portner's a few weeks ago that local fans, despite prejudice, hesitate to pick Smallwood as the winner.

Overlin, attached to the U. S. S. Idaho, has been keeping in fine fettle by helping Spike Webb train the Navy Olympic team candidates at Annapolis. Webb's selection of the sailor as his associate in preparing the Navy team is a tribute to Overlin's ability both as a boxer and instructor.

Billy Strickler, local light-heavy, will meet Bill Piemster, Carolina champion, and Benny Schwartz, veteran Baltimore bantam, engages Billy Landers, Norfolk star, in the other eight-round bouts. Young Van, Washington's latest ring sensation, is matched against K. O. Burns, of Baltimore, in the six-round main preliminary, while Marino Marini, Italian southpaw lightweight, is down for four with Donald First, of Baltimore.

Parks Net League Opens Play Today

Six Teams Start Series With Star Players on Rosters.

With one new team in the running, the Public Parks Tennis League will open its schedule this afternoon on three sets of public courts. The new club is Pierce Mills, which takes the place of Taft Park. The team is led by Lieut. Gerald Smith, Navy Leech Cup player.

Today's matches bring together Potomac, the defending champions, and Rock Creek, at Rock Creek; Henry Park at Monument and Montrose at Pierce Mill. Many of the outstanding players of Washington are on the team rosters, including Dooly Mitchell, No. 1 ranking player of Washington; Gilbert Hunt, Bud Markey, Barney Welsh, Gene Herman and Maurice O'Neill.

Team line-ups:

HENRY PARK—Bud Markey, Gilbert Hunt, Pat Deck, Bob Considine, Bill Seidel, Dick Mason.

MONTROSE—Dooly Mitchell, Tony Latona, Bill Buchanan, Jim Heiskell, Bob Smith, Happy Jacob.

Program Starts Today at Auditorium; $10,000 Setter Entered.

The George Washington Bicentennial dog show, sponsored by the National Capital Kennel Club, will open at the Washington Auditorium this morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Following the morning exhibits, showings will be held at 2 and 3 o'clock in the afternoon and at 8 o'clock tonight. The same schedule will prevail tomorrow. Four rings will be in operation.

Blue Dan, of Happy Valley, a $10,000 English setter, will be among the 50 champions that will lead the field of approximately 570 dogs. This outstanding dog last year won the local show's "king of the show" ribbon.

Trophies will be awarded in six variety classes Sunday night. The donors and the classes in which they will be awarded are: Group 1, sporting, Pearson & Crain, jewelers; group 2, sporting (hounds), Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Simpson; group 3, working dogs, Fred Buchholz; group 4, terriers, the Star; group 5, toy dogs, The Washington Post, and group 6, nonsporting dogs, Mrs. W. R. Joel. Business No Match For Eastern Lanahan Fans 17 in 20-10 Victory of Series Leaders.

AFTER breaking several high school series traditions and playing a couple of good ball games, the boys reverted to type yesterday afternoon and in a nice three-hour game Eastern defeated Business, 20 to 10. It was Eastern's third straight series victory, boosting its winning streak in series competition to 21 games.

Then, too, it just about clinched the school's fifth straight pennant. Only Western remains on the Eastern schedule. It was Business' final game, and put a merciful end to one of the worst season's the Stenographers have wallowed through in the last decade.

ELEANOR HOLM, the only rotogravure bathing beauty who can swim, will appear at the Shoreham pool tonight as the feature attraction of the dual meet between the Shoreham women's swimming team and the New York Women's Swimming Association outfit.

Fresh from breaking new world's records in the backstroke, Miss Holm is expected to find little competition tonight among the local girls, but should initiate them to big-league swimming in more certain style than they have ever experienced before. The beautiful New York girl holds nearly every woman's back stroke record.

Chief hope of the locals is Onalene Lawrence, the best girl diver ever to be developed here. She also will perform in the back stroke events. Rita Augusterfer, sterling sprint champion of the District, may be another point-gaining factor for the local team.

DOR-A PLAYS MILLERS IN OPENER

Capital City League Names Foes for Festival Game.

THE Dor-A Barbecue nine, hailing from Mt. Rainier, last night was selected as the opponent of the Miller Furniture Co. in the opening game of the senior division of the Capital City League, sponsored by The Post, which will be played next Saturday. The game, which will precede the regularly scheduled opening of the league by a day, will be a feature of the Festival of Youth program.

A franchise fee of $24 was approved. It must be posted not later than midnight Monday. A day of grace was granted to the teams in this division in filing the birth certificates of players. All who intend to participate in the inaugural games must submit their certificates by Tuesday night at the latest.

The withdrawal of the Southeast Business Men's Association and Brookland Boys Club teams leaves these franchises vacant. They will be held open until Monday night. Any team desiring to obtain one should apply to the secretary of the league at the sports department of The Post.

Devitt Prep Golfers Defeat Gonzaga, 6-0

Devitt Prep soundly trounced Gonzaga in a golf match played over the East Potomac Park links yesterday. The score was 6—0. In the first foursome Richards and Al Baer, defeated Merkel and Bob Berberich, 9 and 8, and 7 and 6, respectively. They also won best ball, 7 and 6. J. Baer and Childs completed the route in the second foursome, winning over C. Berberich and McMahon, 6 and 5, 5 and 4. Devitt won best ball, 5 and 4. The winners are scheduled to play St. John's this morning at 9 o'clock.

Alexandria High Beats Fredericksburg, 8-2

Special to The Washington Post.

Alexandria, Va., May 6.—Alexandria High School's ball team walked away from its old rival, Fredericksburg High, here today in an 8-2 game. It was a pitcher's battle between Hudson, of the winners, and Hash, of the losers, until the fifth inning, when Alexandria pounded home five runs.

Hyattsville High Nine Subdues Laurel, 15-1

Hyattsville High School Baseball Team scored its first win in six starts this season when it overwhelmed Laurel High, 15 to 1, here this afternoon in a Prince Georges County high school championship game. Play was halted at the end of the seventh. It was the first game of the second-round in the upper county competition for both teams.

REACTION TO SURPRISING NEWS.

WHAT'S the matter with this picture?
There is surely something wrong;
Quickly set me right, I prithee,
Do not keep me waiting long,
Am I sitting in a movie—
Is it all a picture play?
Al Capone is in the hoosegow—
And they're gonna make him stay!

II.

Fetch me smelling salts and water—
Everything is going 'round;
I feel dizzy, very dizzy
And my temples throb and pound;
Is it something I've been eating
That should make me feel this way?
They've sent Al to far Atlanta
And they say he'll have to stay!

III.

Place behind my head a pillow—
Sooth my very fevered brow.
To all shocks and all surprises
I'm susceptible—and how!
Get a doctor and some nurses—
Help me get my breath, I pray;
Al Capone is in a prison
And the courts will make him stay!

IV.

Quick! The aspirin, my darling!
On my head apply a pack!
It came on me without warning
And I fell upon my back.
All I can remember clearly,
Just before I swooned away,
Was a headline in the papers,
"Al Capone in Jail to Stay."

V.

Phone the office that I'm ailing—
Tell the family I'm sick;
For my head is simply spinning
And my tongue is very thick;
I was feeling very normal—
Then there came the sudden shock
Of the news they've put a gangster
Where he can not pick the lock.

VI.

Oh, I know I am mistaken
And I need a doctor's care,
All the world seems topsy-turvy,
And there's pallor everywhere;
All about us folks are falling,
Flabbergasted by the news
That at last a Public Foeman
Can appeal a case—AND LOSE!

* * * *

NOTHING TO BE DONE ABOUT IT.

ELMER TWITCHELL says that Al Capone's incarceration must prove that this was one case where the agencies of law and order couldn't find a way out.

INDIANA STANDARD OIL SALE ADVANCED

Chicago, May 6 (A.P.).—Sale of the 96 per cent interest of Standard Oil Co. of Indiana in the foreign properties of Pan-American Petroleum & Transport Co. to Standard Oil of New Jersey was practically concluded today.

The price was approximately $146,000,000, of which Jersey will pay $50,000,000 cash within four years and $96,000,000 in New Jersey Co. stock at book value of last December 31. The Pan-American minority stockholders will be given opportunity to sell on a basis no less favorable.

"The net result, to all Pan-American stockholders," said Edward C. Seubert, president of Standard of Indiana, "will be that they will have an opportunity to accept for their interest in the foreign situation $14.65 in cash and more than one-half share of Jersey stock for each share of Pan-American stock now held by them.

They will have remaining an interest in Pan-American's domestic properties amounting to approximately $10 in cash or its equivalent, and approximately $14 book value of additional assets per share.

The book value was taken as the fairer basis of dealing rather than market values "under present disturbed conditions."

In addition, Seubert pointed out, Standard of Indiana insures itself against loss through a possible tariff on oil which would require it to provide a foreign sales agency for Pan-American's foreign output.

Pan-American will organize a new holding company and transfer its foreign holdings to the new corporation in exchange for its entire capital stock. This new stock will be distributed to Pan-American stockholders share for share. Then each Pan-American stockholder will have one certificate representing foreign property interest and another representing domestic interest. He may then use his own judgment as to sale or retention of the foreign share to Standard of New Jersey.

Pan-American's domestic holdings will comprise cash and marketable securities totaling about $35,000,000 and other properties of a book value of $48,000,000.

Standard of Indiana, Seubert explained, will continue to buy its petroleum supplies from the usual sources if a tariff is not applied, but in the event of adoption of an import duty on oil the company will purchase its supplies from domestic sources already arranged.

Standard Oil Combine Echoes in Wall Street

New York, May 6 (A.P.).—Consolidation of the foreign properties of Pan-American Petroleum & Transport Co. into the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey organization, announcement of which was made today in Chicago, elicited keen interest in Wall street.

Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, which at the end of 1930, had total assets of over $1,700,000,000, will acquire valuable new properties. Pan-American Petroleum & Transport, an organization that ranks high among the oil companies with total assets of over $260,000,000, has been a prominent factor in the foreign oil business.

Standard Oil of New Jersey interests are world-wide in scope. The company operates a fleet of 147 tankers of which 8 ships totaling 135,200 deadweight tons, were launched in 1930.

Pan-American Petroleum, which has refineries in Tampico, Mexico; Hamburg, Germany, and Aruba, Dutch West Indies, operates 29 ocean steamers of an aggregate deadweight tonnage of 268,163 tons. These will go to Standard of New Jersey.

Complete reorganization of the Standard of New Jersey foreign divisions will be effected to coordinate the various operating units of the two companies abroad. Consolidation of several companies operating now as subsidiaries, is expected in those countries where their activities overlap.

Among the changes which are said to be contemplated are the following:

Pan-American Petroleum's producing properties in Venezuela, which are operated by the Lago Oil & Transport Co. will probably be consolidated with those of the Creole Petroleum Corporation and the Standard Oil Co. of Venezuela, both New Jersey subsidiaries.

The Pan-American producing properties in Mexico will probably be consolidated with Transcontinental Oil Co., operating subsidiary of the New Jersey company in that territory.

The Pan-American tank fleet will be made a unit of the Standard Shipping Co., a subsidiary of the New Jersey company.

Pan-American's interests in the Dutch West Indies, including its 115,000-barrel refinery, will probably go to the West India Oil Co., also a New Jersey subsidiary. It was believed probable that Pan-American's South American interests might also be operated by the West India Oil Co. under the proposed reallocation.

Likewise, the German interests of the Pan-American Co., including its Hamburg refinery, would be included in the New Jersey company's subsidiary, the Deutsche-Americana Co.

Market Comment

Following are excerpts from yesterday's leased wire market comment in Washington brokerage offices. These tabloid surveys will appear daily on the market pages of The Washington Post.

Lawrence Stern & Co.—Both the character of the new offerings during April and our reports from investment institutions throughout the country indicate that public financing is today possible only where the very highest credit rating exists. Not only are security dealers practically unanimous in reporting that the only demand is for the highest grade of bonds, but also an analysis of the April bond offerings shows that they consist almost entirely of municipals and the issues of a few very strong borrowers whose credit is exceptionally high. As long as offerings are confined to this class of securities, they are readily sold, but a market for less attractive credit risks is entirely lacking.

Westheimer & Co.—The President's message very encouraging. It put forth in no uncertain terms what we all know should be done. People desire to have these suggestions carried out. Strengthening of confidence increases probability of further appreciation of values. There is particular encouragement over resumption of bond purchases by the large banks and security companies, and over the improved outlook for constructive action by Congress.

G. M.-P. Murphy & Co.—The President's special message came as a surprise. It will be received with enthusiasm in financial circles. * * *

Worth-while opinions on prospects for successful revival of the sales tax proposal conflict. Our advices from Washington are that political observers there think there is little, if any, chance for the sales tax to be part of final bill. We understand, however, that a quiet campaign is being waged in its behalf by prominent men in both parties. The campaign which is now being waged is for a small sales tax on manufacturers' selling price, with no exemptions whatever. Executives of large corporations, officials of various trade organizations, political backers of congressmen who were against the sales tax, are being urged to change their positions, withdraw opposition or requests for exemptions and inform congressional representatives to that effect. While chances of success certainly are not too strong they do exist.

We also hear from Washington that again there seems a good chance of adjournment before the conventions. That implies that the situation in regard to important legislation is not as hopeless as it sometimes appears on the surface.

Standard Statistics Co.—While it seems evident that the beneficial results of the new [Federal Reserve] program will manifest themselves fully only over a period of time (and only provided they are not nullified by other factors), a noticeable improvement in morale is discernible among a number of institutional investors in New York. This is a case where improved sentiment could produce practical results, for it is a truism that, after a severe business depression, recovery can not occur unless somebody decides to do something more than merely sit tight, and the decision can only be effective if it is made by people who possess financial resources.

EXCHANGE'S CRITICS CITE PARIS BOURSE

By FRANK H. McCONNELL.

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—Critics of the Stock Exchange, who urge more rigid control of dealings in listed securities, find an interesting example of strict governmental regulation in the Paris Bourse.

The French government, international bankers explain, probably has a firmer grip on security trading than the government of any other major power. In fact, some bankers say that, because of the intimacy of this control, it is difficult sometimes to judge whether French financial operations are based entirely upon economic conditions, or are tinctured with political purpose.

It is also pointed out that comparisons between the Paris and New York markets are difficult because transactions in the French capital amount to only a fraction of those on the big American board.

Only 70 Members.

The Bourse members have an association known as the Chambre Syndicale des Agents de Change, and every sale or purchase of securities passes through its hands. It regulates trading and determines prices at which securities may be transferred. If the members feel short selling is getting out of hand, they stop it. If they feel a foreign government should not receive the benefit of French credit, they may refuse to permit trading in the bonds of that government.

The Paris Bourse is the third largest financial mechanism in the world. Unlike other similar markets, however, official stock brokers are appointed by the President of France and have the status of public officials.

Bourse Closely Supervised.

The Bourse Association is closely supervised by the French government, and all its members are responsible for the liabilities of each member. Requirements for membership are unusually strict.

All must serve a period of probation and take oath as public officials. They must also post a bond of 250,000 gold francs. They may have silent partners who participate in all profits, but these are subject to losses up to the amount of their capital investments. The member himself, however, must always own at least one-fourth of the amount representing the price of his membership and of his bond.

Bourse members can not deal personally in securities or have any capital invested in outside business ventures. Neither are they allowed to give advice on buying or selling nor can they establish branch offices.

The Bourse Association can order that certain securities be dealt in for cash only, although the normal margin rate is 25 per cent of the quoted price. Finally the bourse has a fifteen-day settlement rule, which compels all transactions to be cleaned up twice a month. Under this regulation short sellers are obliged to go into the market and purchase for delivery once every fifteen days

Stocks Stage Rousing Rally On Taxes and Bonus News

Gains of $3 to $5 Per Share Recorded, While Bond and Curb Markets Join General Advance; Steel Wage Cut Augments Demand.

By JOHN L. COOLEY.

New York, May 6 (A.P.).—A rousing rally in the stock market today greeted a batch of encouraging news items from Washington.

Gains of $3 to $5 a share were numerous among the pivotal issues as Wall street learned that the Senate finance committee had agreed on a tax bill which would be acceptable to the administration and as word came from the House ways and means committee of its intention to report adversely on a cash payment of the veterans' bonus.

The rally was well under way when United States Steel Corporation announced a 15 per cent wage and salary reduction, to be effective May 15, but receipt of this news, which will substantially reduce the big company's operating costs, brought an increased demand and closing prices were around the day's highest.

President Hoover's budget message to Congress received wide comment in Wall street banking and brokerage circles, although the market during the early hours seemed undecided as to how to react to it. An opening advance was mostly lost before further support appeared; then the market rose slowly, and when it was learned that the Senate committee had finally agreed on a tax measure, more extensive buying appeared.

Advance Is General.

As confidence in financial quarters quickened with reports of progress along the budget front, stocks, bonds and commodities joined in an advance. Shares marched upward in the best rally since February 13, climbing 3.3 points on the average in more active trading. Bonds, although subject to some irregularity, were on the whole strong, led by Governments. Wheat, corn, cotton and rubber contributed recoveries, but foreign exchanges, however, worked against dollars most of the day.

Stock sales totaled 1,628,700 shares.

President Hoover's message to Congress and word that he planned to take his appeal to the people made Washington the focal point of the day's news and Wall Street watched closely for congressional reaction. It was obviously pleased by an agreement on a compromise tax program and equally so by rejection, in House committee, of the cash bonus legislation.

Steel Preferred Soars.

Steel preferred soared nearly $10 a share, and the common crossed $31.

Another factor was undoubtedly the weekly Reserve Bank statement, with its evidence that credit expansion efforts had not been deterred either by gold losses or persistent uncertainty as to whether the expected benefits of its program would be frustrated by adverse influence.

The stock market seemed to have been oversold during its recent fit of gloom and was ripe for constructive news. Net gains of 3 to 5 points were numerous; some proved to be considerably larger, but in the range mentioned were Steel common, American Can, Allied Chemical, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Union Pacific, Case, Coca Cola, Auburn, American Tobacco B and Peoples Gas.

Bethlehem common rose 2 and the preferred 7, for it seemed natural to expect, that U. S. Steel's wage and salary reduction would be followed by other producers who are seeking every economy to help reduce deficits.

Oil Group Firm.

The oil group was notably firm. Standard Oil of New Jersey took kindly to final announcement of the Pan-American Petroleum acquisition, while "B" shares of the latter company jumped sharply to a new high. First quarter reports of oil products are making a generally favorable comparison with a year ago, and with the industry's statistical position considerably improved and prices slowly recovering, prospects look brighter than in some time.

Markets got little sustenance out of the day's trade news, although, as events turned out, they were able to get along well without assistance from that quarter. Bradstreet's said seasonal development in business had been small, due to weather conditions rather than to increased public purchasing power. Instances of retrogression, according to Dun's, grow fewer each week and, although the trend is irregular, there is a balance "in favor of encouraging factors."

Holland's gold reparation program sent more than $16,000,000 in metal to the Netherlands. That nation has been taking home its balances since early in the year. The last Dutch Bank statement showed a drop of $58,000,000 in foreign credits and a $75,000,000 increase in gold.

French francs were unsettled by the Doumer tragedy, but closed unchanged at 3.94 11-16, which is somewhat above the current gold point.

Bonds Aided by Stocks.

There was a revival of hope in the bond market partly attributed to the sharp recovery in stocks and to the belief that national budget balancing prospects have improved.

Traders and investors sat on the fence during the early part of the session, but they climbed down when orders began to pile up during the last hour for low-priced railroads and various utilities and industrials.

At the same time the United States Government department, which had been sagging moderately most of the day, displayed new interest in the proceedings and began to raise prices all along the line. The treasuries were especially in demand, some of them recording gains of more than 1 point before a slight reaction near the close. Most of the liberties also moved substantially higher.

The greatest strength was shown by the so-called speculative rails, a number of which advanced from 1 to 4 points.

Principal gainers among the carriers included liens of Santa Fe, Baltimore & Ohio, Boston & Maine, Chesapeake Corporation, Chesapeake & Ohio, Chicago Great Western, St. Paul Rock Island, Chicago & Northwestern, Denver & Rio Grande, Erie, Great Northern, Illinois Central, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, Nickel Plate, St. Louis Southwestern, New York Ontario & Western, Pennsylvania, Pere Marquette, Prisco, Southern Pacific and Southern.

The utilities and industrials were somewhat less buoyant, but their company liens were popular. Western averages gained. Communications Union 6½s showed a net gain of 10 points, while American and International Telephones and Postal Telegraph improved considerably. Loans of Paramount Broadway, Paramount Publix and Paramount Famous Lasky were under pressure.

French bonds drooped somewhat following news of the attempted assassination of President Doumer, but their net losses were comparatively small. German obligations rallied from 1 to more than 2 points and loans of Japan, Colombia, Buenos Aires, Santa Fe and Warsaw firmed. British 5½ eased.

Trading was fairly active, sales totaling $13,115,000, par value. The average for 60 corporate securities recorded a gain of five-tenths of a point.

Curb Joins Rally.

The curb market got off to a somewhat slow start, but it finished with a flourish that raised a number of hitherto faltering stocks to substantially higher price levels. Gains were fairly well distributed throughout the list, but the oils and utilities occupied the most prominent positions in the day's proceedings. The turnover approximated 190,000 shares, an increase of some 40,000 over yesterday's session.

A more hopeful tone came into the market with news from Washington improving the outlook for the balancing of the budget. At the same time the consummation of the deal between Standard Oil of New Jersey and Standard Oil of Indiana for the disposal of the latter's foreign Pan-American properties to the former imparted considerable strength to the petroleum group.

Standard of Indiana closed with a net gain of 1 point, Standard of Ohio 1, Standard of Kentucky ½, Plymouth Oil ⅝, Gulf 1⅜, Humble 1½, International Petroleum ⅝ and Union Oil Associates ⅝.

The heaviest trading, as usual, was in Electric Bond & Shares, which gained 1⅜. The company's 6 per cent preferred was up 5 and the 5 per cent preferred advanced 1. American Gas & Electric advanced 2 points, Commonwealth Edison 1½, Cities Service ½, National Power & Light preferred 3, Northern States Power A 2½ and United Gas preferred 1⅞.

NEEDS UNITE WORLD, N. E. TOWSON SAYS

Banker Addresses Students at Georgetown on Nations' Financial Problems.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

The increasing economic integration of the world is bringing about a necessitous cooperation between nations, according to Norman E. Towson, assistant treasurer and manager of the foreign department of Washington Loan & Trust Co., in an address before the seminar on international financial problems at Georgetown School of Foreign Service yesterday.

Mr. Towson discussed the relationship between the foreign department of a bank, operation of which he explained in detail, and some of the principal economic problems which have served to disturb the normal operation of world trade.

Citing interesting examples of the practical results of apparently minor occurrences on trade halfway around the world, he told the students that if the importance of foreign trade to the economic welfare of the world is admitted, it must be conceded that a thorough comprehension of banking operations involved in its financing is of primary importance. foreign trade being carried on largely by means of credit operations and credit being essentially a banking function.

Making no claim that banks, however extensive their relations or important their standing, have made any contribution to the creation of foreign trade, he said it is an indisputable fact that without them, foreign trade would be impossible and without their regulative force exercised in behalf of an ever increasing international understanding, Aristide Briand, French statesman, would have been unable to say, "If the problems we have met and solved during the postwar period had confronted us some years ago, any one of them would have caused war."

In conclusion, he urged his hearers, interested in America's relation to the problems of foreign trade, to keep before them the facts that America has a real obligation to the rest of the world; that our foreign trade is important to us, to our own prosperity and to that of others; and that the banks, however fallible their judgments, have contributed and are constantly contributing to the maintenance of America's important position in world affairs.

Headquarters of the District of Columbia Bankers Association, its credit bureau and Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, were moved yesterday from the third floor of the Becker Building, 1318 F street northwest, to their new and larger location on the seventh floor of the Bond Building at the southwest corner of Fourteenth street and New York avenue northwest.

The Becker Building served as headquarters for the organizations for the past six years. For three years prior to that, they were located in the Masonic Temple Building at Thirteenth street and New York avenue northwest. Although the bankers organization is 31 years old, it secured no permanent headquarters until 1924, during the administration of President Harry V. Haynes.

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

What the Stock Market Did

	Fri.	Thur.
Number of advances	400	145
Number of declines	81	236
Stocks unchanged	118	167
Total issues traded	599	568

Stocks.

The securities markets experienced their best rally since February 13, with the 90-stock average closing 3.3 points up. Washington news was the principal stimulant, but the U. S. Steel salary reduction gave added buoyancy.

Bonds.

Foreign issues wobbled on the attack on President Doumer, but the general trade followed the lead of stocks.

Curb.

Oils were particularly strong on the Standard-Pan American consolidation, but the entire list firmed notably.

Wheat.

News of Russia's needs was the underlying bullish factor in Chicago futures. Wheat closed at advance of 1½ cents.

Cotton.

An advance of 13 to 16 points for the day was in sympathy with the strength in securities and grain, aided by a firm spot trade.

Rubber.

GOLD MOVEMENT.

New York, May 6 (A.P.).—Gold to the amount of $13,000,000 consigned to the Bank of the Netherlands is scheduled for shipment today. According to banking interests, other shipments totaling $200,000 will also go to Holland.
That consigned to the bank represents the transfer of metal previously held here under earmark, according to the program under which the bank is repatriating all of its gold reserves held abroad. With today's shipment the amount withdrawn totals about $28,000,000.
In banking circles it was expected that substantial shipments would also be made today to France and Switzerland.

Frisco's $1,800,000 Loan Is Completed

Reconstruction Advance Is Paid Over; Expenses Cut Is Planned.

New York, May 6 (A.P.).—The loan of $1,800,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to the St. Louis San Francisco Railway, which was being held up pending the transfer of certain collateral, was formally turned over to the road today through the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

C. W. Niciel, assistant to the chairman of the company's board of directors, said that the money would be used immediately to pay overdue taxes to the States of Kansas and Alabama.

In the meantime officials of the road are preparing plans for a reorganization of the organization's capital structure. The Interstate Commerce Commission, in approving the $1,800,000 loan, stipulated that the company must reduce its fixed charges. It was also provided that a plan to this effect must be submitted before July 1.

Listed Exchange Stocks Lose $4,191,737,649

New York, May 6 (A.P.).—The slump in stocks during April carried the value of shares listed on the New York Stock Exchange to $20,319,988,631 as of May 2, a decrease of $4,191,737,649, as compared with values on April 1, the exchange reported today.

Total borrowings by members of the exchange against collateral on May 2 amounted to 1.87 per cent of the market value of all shares listed on that date. This is a new low ratio since the monthly figures have been issued.

The ratio on April 1 was 2.18 per cent, and 1.90 per cent on March 1, the previous record low. On May 1, 1931, the ratio stood at 3.40 per cent.

The New York Curb Exchange announced today that the short position in all securities as of May 2, was 87,258 shares as against 82,550 shares on April 15, 1931, when it amounted to 53,258 shares.

CHRYSLER COMPANY MAINTAINS DIVIDEND

Net Loss Increased During First Quarter; Sales Are $37,368,443.

New York, May 6 (A.P.).—Directors of the Chrysler Corporation today ordered payment of the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents, payable June 30, to stock of record June 1.

The company reported a net loss for the first quarter of the year $2,066,485, as against a loss of $979,927 in the same period of last year.

Gross sales for the quarter amounted to $37,368,443, as against $39,758,600 in the first quarter of 1931.

Current assets on March 31 were $78,421,23 and current liabilities were $15,130,991, and cash and marketable securities were $46,210,790. On March 31, 1931, current assets were $83,639,064, current liabilities, $16,384,276, and cash and marketable securities, $49,977,839.

Ohio Oil Resumes Dividend.

Resuming dividend payments after a suspension since March of last year, the Ohio Oil Co. today ordered a payment of 20 cents on the capital stock, payable June 15 to stock of record May 17.

The company is one of the former Standard Oil units. It was formerly a producing company exclusively, but in recent years has entered the field of distribution of oil products. The company's decision to resume dividends is supposed to have been based on its strengthened inventory position in connection with the recent advance in crude oil prices and the improving outlook for the petroleum industry.

The company reported a sharp increase in earnings for the March 31 quarter. After depreciation, depletion and all other charges the net profit amounted to $1,656,106 compared with $196,302 in the same period last year.

Chicago, Burlington & Quincy

The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad reports a net income of $18,319,785 in 1931, against $21,979,889 in 1930. President Ralph Budd told the stockholders that the directors had been forced to draw $5,764,135 from surplus to meet dividend requirements. The profit and loss surplus stood at $172,934,947 at the end of the year.

Operating expenses were reduced $21,411,800 last year to help offset the decrease of $30,160,460 in gross operating revenues. Expenses took only 69.65 per cent of the gross earnings last year, one of the most favorable percentages in the country and slightly under 1930. Chicago suburban traffic declined 13.8 per cent in 1931, while other passenger travel dropped off 27.9 per cent. Car loading in 1931 totaled 1,015,772, as compared with 1,285,501 in 1930, a decrease of 20.9 per cent.

Current assets of $26,395,503 at the close of business in 1931 were nearly three times current liabilities.

Montgomery Ward Sales.

April sales of Montgomery Ward & Co. were $16,168,559, compared with $20,558,449 in April, 1931. Total sales for 1932 to April 30 amounted to $54,213,953, against $70,024,786 for the same period last year.

"With 56 less stores than in April, 1931, and a further curtailment of sales volume by the elimination of women's fashions from the catalog, there may be some encouragement in the April sales figures, although Ward's feels that there is no indication of a general upturn in business," the earning statement said.

United Aircraft.

Net income for the first quarter of this year of $441,445, after taxes, depreciation and preferred dividends, was reported today by the United Aircraft & Transport Corporation. This was equivalent to 12 cents per share on the outstanding common stock, and compares with net earnings in the same period last year of $806,648, or 30 cents a share.

The number of passengers carried during the quarter showed 120 per cent increase over the first three months of 1931.

Purity Bakeries Increases Dividend.

Purity Bakeries Corporation has declared a quarterly dividend of 25 cents on the common stock, placing it on a $1 annual basis, compared with 50 cents previously. The dividend is payable June 1 to stock of record May 16.

Carbon Profits Increased.

United Carbon Co., including subsidiaries, reports for the quarter ended March 31 profits of $61,667 after depreciation and depletion but before Federal taxes, compared with $22,257 in the first quarter of 1931.

Aluminum Halves Dividend.

Aluminum Industries, Inc., has declared a quarterly dividend of 12½ cents, payable June 15 to stock of record May 31. The company paid 25 cents three months ago.

Curtiss-Wright.

The Curtiss-Wright Corporation reports first quarter net at $302,013 after all charges, compared with a loss of $1,088,124 for the first quarter of 1931.

COTTON PRICE AIDED BY CAPITAL'S NEWS

July Contracts Advance to 5.84; May Sells at 5.74; Liverpool Buys.

New York, May 6 (A.P.).—The favorable Washington news reference to legislative prospects combined with continued small offerings and strength of the stock and grain markets, were reflected by advances in cotton here today.

July contracts advanced to 5.85, making a recovery of about $2.00 per bale from the low price of last Monday and a net gain of 17 points. The close was at 5.84 for that delivery, with the final tone of the market steady at net advances of 16 to 17 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 1 to 3 points. Relatively easy Liverpool cables evidently failed to inspire any aggressive selling and light offerings were readily absorbed by trade buying and covering. Overnight reports of a continued steady spot situation together with reports of a generally higher opening in the stock market were factors on the early advance.

Trading Becomes Active.

Trading was very quiet at the start, but became more active as prices worked higher with buying evidently finding additional encouragement in the action of the grain and stock markets and the failure of the advance to meet more general selling.

The highest prices of the day and week were reached in the late trading when May sold at 5.74 and October at 6.10 with active months generally showing net gains of 18 to 19 points. Closing quotations were within a point or two of the best for the day.

There were reports from Texas that recent rains had supplied sufficient moisture in all sections of the State except the extreme west to finish planting and start off the crop provided warmer weather sets in promptly. These advices also said that boll weevil emergence in central Texas was breaking all records this week. However, but traders seemed too much interested in the Washington news and the better tone of the stock market to pay much attention to weather and crop reports.

Liverpool cables reported Bombay liquidation absorbed by local buying and trade calling in that market and said there was an improved cloth inquiry from India, although most offers were unworkable.

Exports today were 44,970 bales, making 7,604,252 bales so far this season.

UNKNOWN MOTHER TO BE PAID HONOR AT NATION'S SHRINE

Arlington Amphitheater and Churches to Be Scenes of Services Tomorrow.

WREATHS TO BE PUT ON TOMB OF SOLDIER

Hurley Will Speak at Rites; Gold Star Parents to Plant Two Trees.

The unknown American mother whose Unknown Soldier son sleeps in the Nation's shrine will be honored tomorrow at Mother's Day exercises in the Arlington Amphitheater at which Secretary of War Hurley will be the principal speaker.

The services at the amphitheater will be but one of the many in churches and clubs dedicated to the honor of mothers. The Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Episcopal Bishop of Washington, will deliver a Mother's Day address from Washington Cathedral. The Rev. Francis J. Hurney will broadcast a Mother's Day address from the Church of the Immaculate Conception at 5 o'clock.

Secretary Hurley to Speak.

In addition to Secretary Hurley, other speakers at the amphitheater service, which begins at 2 o'clock under the auspices of the American War Mothers, will be: Chief of Staff of the Army Douglas MacArthur, Mrs. Virgil H. Stone, national president of the American War Mothers, and Mrs. Leonida C. Dyer, president of the Congressional Club.

After the services in the amphitheater a guard of honor will be formed by two lines of Gold Star Mothers, holding garlands of laurel and carnations—the laurel for the hero son and the carnation being the mother's flower. Between the two rows will pass representatives of patriotic organizations to lay wreaths at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

At 10:30 tomorrow morning the American War Mothers will plant a tree in the Arlington National Cemetery in honor of the mother of the Unknown Soldier. Assistant Secretary of War Payne will be the principal speaker at this ceremony. An hour later a tree will be planted near the Lincoln Memorial by the same organization. Representative Maurice Thatcher, of Kentucky, will be the principal speaker.

Service at Cathedral.

The Washington Cathedral services under the direction of Bishop Freeman will be held at 4 o'clock in tribute to Mary Ball Washington, the mother of George Washington. In these services clergymen from various denominations will participate as well as patriotic organizations.

The Fourth Degree Assembly, Knights of Columbus, will attend the 8:15 o'clock mass tomorrow morning in the Church of the Immaculate Conception in honor of Mother's Day. The special services at 5 o'clock will be featured by the consecration of mother by their children to the patronage of Our Lady of Lourdes and the consecration of the children by their mother to Our Lady of Lourdes.

The Filipino Club will hold Mother's Day services at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow night in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium. Representative Ralph F. Lozier, of Missouri, will be the principal speaker.

Senator C. C. Dill, of Washington, will deliver the Mother's Day address tomorrow night over the National Broadcasting Co. network under the auspices of the Fraternal Order of Eagles. Frank E. Hering, past grand worthy president of the Eagles, was the first to speak publicly for a national recognition of Mother's Day.

CAMPUS QUEEN AND HER ATTENDANTS

BLAMES BIG BUSINESS FOR PRESSURE ON HILL

Rev. A. A. Stockdale Named Moderator; 200 Attend Annual Banquet.

The agitation for Government pay cuts was attributed to large corporations by the Middle Atlantic Conference of Congregational and Christian Churches, which yesterday adopted a resolution against salary slashes and urged Congress to accept the economy proposals of President Hoover.

A resolution adopted at the afternoon session in the Mount Pleasant Congregational Church, held "powerful corporations" are "urging Congress to lower the pay of the employes of the Government so that they may have excuse to do the same with their employes and so reverse the whole movement for the good of the common man and working classes."

While the conference approved the general movement for economy in government operation, it urged Congress not to "heed the selfish demands of corporations and big business to reduce the already low salaries in the District."

Taxes on Hoarded Wealth.

The conference also urged Congress to accept the principles which levies income taxes on the hoarded wealth of individuals and corporations, "thus meeting the present emergencies of the national budget and at the same time maintaining those wage and living standards for which this country has fought for generations."

Two resolutions, one upholding the eighteenth amendment and the other favoring a national referendum, were referred to the social relations committee. There was a unanimity of opinion against the saloon and for temperance, the only divergence of opinion was in relation to the method of obtaining temperance, it was said.

The two-day session of the conference ended last night when a banquet was held in the Ingram Memorial Church. The Rev. Leon E. Smith, president-elect of Elon College, N. C., was the principal speaker. More than 200 attended the banquet. The Rev. A. A. Stockdale, of the First Congregational Church, who was elected moderator of the conference for the next year, was toastmaster at the banquet.

District Men Elected.

Other officers elected yesterday were: The Rev. W. H. Hainer, assistant moderator, and the Rev. Walter Spooner, of Newark, N. J., superintendent. Those from the District who were elected to the board of trustees are: The Rev. Russell J. Clinchy, of the Mount Pleasant Congregational Church; Norton M. Little, of the Mount Pleasant Congregational Church, and the Rev. Frederick V. Fisher, of the Ingram Memorial Church.

The conference also decided to send three ministers to the coal fields of Kentucky to study conditions among the miners. They will join three ministers of the Kentucky conference in an investigation of labor troubles in that section. They will report back to the next conference.

Dean Luther A. Weigle, of the Yale Divinity School, was the principal speaker at yesterday's session. He discussed "The Church's Responsibility for Its Youth."

ACTION POSTPONED ON HOME RAID BILL AS TABLING FAILS

CAPPER JOINS BATTLE ON LOCAL REFERENDUM

Mitchell Suggests Dropping Controversial Provisions in Howell Plan.

Another effort to force the Howell "home raid" bill past the barrier of the Senate District committee failed yesterday, along with a move for a local referendum on the controversial enforcement measure.

Senator Millard E. Tydings (Democrat), Maryland, moved to table the bill, when committee members did not fall in line with his referendum proposal. Absence of a quorum resulted in postponed action on his motion.

Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), Kansas, chairman of the committee, said he favored machinery for referenda on all matters of general local legislation, but opposed seeking out any individual bill. Senator Robert D. Carey (Republican), Wyoming, stood with him.

Mitchell Letter Introduced.

Senator Capper introduced a letter from Attorney General Mitchell suggesting that controversial provisions be omitted from the Howell bill "in order to remove one obstacle to the passage of an otherwise meritorious measure."

"The one substantial change I suggest is to strike from this bill the provisions relating to search warrants and the return of seized liquor," said the Attorney General.

"These subjects are now dealt with by the national prohibition act, and the elimination of them from this bill will leave in effect in the District of Columbia the general provisions of the national prohibition act on these subjects."

Senator Tydings said he favored the referendum, "not as an administrative but as a purely human proposition."

Bill's Defeat Predicted.

"If a referendum is held, it is my judgment the Howell bill will be defeated, 10 to 1," he said. "I am opposed to foisting on the people of the District a proposition they don't want. They have the Volstead act, and that is all that is necessary."

General provision for referenda on all important District legislation was favored by Senator Capper, after William McK. Clayton, of the Federation of Citizens Associations, testified the Tydings proposal would "break the ice" for local representation.

The committee voted to report favorably a bill to prohibit all hunting of game and wild birds in District limits, and a bill appropriating $5,000 for Mrs. Jennie Bruce Gallahan, widow of the late Lieut. Samuel L. Gallahan, killed in line of duty with the District Fire Department.

YUDELEVIT DENIES CHARGE IN ASSAULT

Tells Court He Was Not Participant in Alleged Attack on Policeman.

A denial by Harry Yudelevit, indicted with John Kendrick for alleged assault with intent to kill and assault with a dangerous weapon, that he was with Kendrick at any time on February 19 last, the time of the alleged assault, featured yesterday's session of the trial of the two men who are accused of an attempt to slay Policeman Thomas D. Bacon, of the First Precinct.

While he admitted having a criminal record, Yudelevit denied he was with Kendrick or any one else when an attempt was allegedly made to shoot Bacon at Seventh and E streets northwest. Though the defense testimony in behalf of Yudelevit was brief, no testimony for Kendrick was offered.

Defense attorneys made several attempts to have Justice F. D. Letts withdraw a juror and declare a mistrial but all were unsuccessful. The defense attorneys are Myron Ehrlich, S. McComas Hawken and Harold Hawken, for Yudelevit, and Harry T. Whelan and James T. O'Shea for Kendrick.

The trial was adjourned until Monday.

Two Men Injured As Car Hits Truck

Employes of York Electrical Company Are Hurt on Baltimore Pike.

Two men, both employes of the York Electrical Machinery Corporation, were seriously injured last night when the automobile in which they were riding on the Baltimore pike near Muirkirk struck the rear of a large transfer truck, which was coming to a stop.

William E. Fisher, of 3217 Adams Mill road, who is the District manager for the company, was removed to Casualty Hospital, where he was treated for a possibly fractured skull, cuts and bruises. H. G. Fisher, of Philadelphia, national manager of the machine company, was taken to Sibley Hospital and treated for a fractured skull and right arm. He also suffered cuts and bruises.

The two men were driving toward Baltimore when the accident occurred. The truck with which they collided is said to belong to the Baltimore Transfer Co. Robert S. Gravely, 2423 E street northwest, brought one of the men to the hospital.

2 COUNTS QUASHED IN RAICHLE'S CASE

Government Acts to Avert Prejudicing Lawyer's Defense in Advance.

Two of the four counts in the indictment against Frank G. Raichle, Buffalo lawyer, who defended G. Bryan Pitts, former head of the F. H. Smith Co., in his trial on charges of embezzlement, were nolle prossed in the court of Justice F. Dickinson Letts yesterday in District Supreme Court.

Neil Burkinshaw, special assistant to Nugent Dodds, assistant to the Attorney General, in charge of criminal prosecutions of the Department of Justice, asked Justice Letts to nolle the first two counts because the Government did not wish to be charged with "prejudicing" Raichle's case before a jury.

Two counts still remain in the indictment against Raichle. They relate to subornation of perjury and obstruction of justice. By a strange coincidence, the two counts that yesterday were killed related to similar accusations, but they covered separate incidents.

Justice Letts also yesterday set the date for Raichle's trial, inasmuch as the disposal of the first two counts of the indictment wiped out Raichle's motion to quash the indictment. He ordered, at the request of Burkinshaw, that Raichle be brought to trial May 23.

ALDRIDGE EXECUTED FOR MURDER IN 1929

Slayer of Policeman Twice Appealed His Case to Supreme Court.

Alfred Scott Aldridge, colored, 28 years old, paid with his life yesterday for the murder of Policeman Harry J. McDonald in 1929. He was put to death in the electric chair at the District Jail shortly after 10 a. m.

With a group of newspapermen as witnesses, Aldridge, who for three years was the subject of a bitter legal battle, walked calmly to the chair, keeping time with his hands as he chanted a hymn. His case, which twice went to the Supreme Court, was decided last June when his attorney, James F. Reilly, failed to win his plea for a presidential commutation.

Policeman McDonald was fatally shot July 6, 1929, when he surprised Aldridge and his brother, Albert Aldridge, attempting to break into a drug store at Seventeenth and Q streets northwest. En route to the patrol box the policeman was shot in the chest, but as he lay wounded on the sidewalk he succeeded in firing a shot that killed Albert. Alfred escaped, but was later captured as he attempted to leave town.

Silver Spring Store Robbed.

Robbers yesterday broke into the Grand Leader department store in Georgia avenue, Silver Spring, Md., and stole $36 in cash and a small quantity of goods. Entry was gained by breaking the glass in the front door.

Capital Artist Injured By Hit-and-Run Driver

A hit-and-run driver early yesterday morning knocked down E. H. Funk, 35 years old, Washington artist, of 1406 M street northwest, as he got out of his car on the Lee highway to examine his headlights. Mr. Funk was taken to Georgetown Hospital with lacerations of the forehead, face and hands.

The man was returning to Washington from the Winchester apple blossom festival about 4:30 a. m. His lights suddenly went out and he got out of his car to hunt the trouble. Another car whizzed past, tossed him into the ditch and kept going. Mr. Funk remained at the hospital last night, but his injuries were not considered serious.

Federal Regulation Of Autos Assailed

Opposition of Federal regulation of motor vehicles, advocacy of complete motor vehicle reciprocity between the States except as to common carrier vehicles, and the elimination of the use of the solid tire, were three features of an address made yesterday by Thomas H. McDonald, of the Bureau of Public Roads, before the conference of motor vehicle commissioners of Eastern States at the Hamilton Hotel.

"I do not believe in Federal regulation," Mr. McDonald said. "I think it is a State function. I would prefer to see all States adopt uniform regulations as to weights and dimensions. If this were done no Federal legislation would be necessary."

Referring to tests made by the Public Roads Bureau, he urged that solid tires be ruled off the roads, except for special localized conditions in cities where solid tires must be used.

City's Heads Issue Dog-Muzzle Order

Washington dogs have just about three more weeks to exercise their jaws while running at large.

Following the custom of the last three years the District Commissioners yesterday issued an order that all dogs running at large in the National Capital must be muzzled or held in leash while on the public streets or highways during June, July, August and September.

Statistics submitted by Health Officer William C. Fowler showed that 663 persons were bitten by dogs from July 1, 1931, to April 20, 1932, but that only two of the animals had been found to have rabies. During the corresponding period of 1930-31 a total of 564 persons were bitten and sixteen dogs were found to have rabies.

G. W. U. Alumni Dinner To Hear Hurley Today

George Washington University alumni will attend a luncheon at the Mayflower Hotel at 1:15 o'clock today. Patrick J. Hurley, Secretary of War, will be the guest speaker.

Justice James M. Proctor, president of the association, will preside. Mathew Houston O'Brien is chairman of the arrangements committee. The luncheon is sponsored by the General Alumni Association.

2 More Breaks Credited To 'Ice Cream Yeggmen'

Washington burglars become more "sassy" every day. The "ice cream" yeggmen broke loose again yesterday and a householder returned to find that a burglar had jimmied his apartment door open and had swapped suits with him.

The ice cream consumers this time got into the Copper Bowl Restaurant, at 520 Twelfth street northwest, by entering a skylight. Their haul was not large this time. They took some cigarettes and then tore the pay telephone from the wall and took the nickels. Heated by their exertion, they opened the ice cream container and stopped to have a snack.

Frank Meuhller, of 7019 Georgia avenue, returned to his apartment to find an old suit of clothes where he had left his good one. The burglar apparently went on the theory that fair exchange was no robbery. However, he must have been married, because he took along a couple of Mrs. Meuhller's dresses.

3 Bathers Robbed; Thieves Take $63

Early River Swimmers Find Clothes Rifled in Parked Auto.

While three Washingtonians disported in the cool waters of the Potomac at Widewater, Md., sneak thieves broke a glass from their car and took $63 in cash and some miscellaneous small articles from their clothes.

The three men had gone swimming to escape the close heat of yesterday and had locked their clothing in the car before going into the water. When they came out they found a glass broken from one of the doors and their clothing scattered all over the car.

Chillum Heights Group Firm Against Gas Tank

A resolution reaffirming opposition to a gas storage tank at Riggs road and the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad was adopted last night at a meeting of the Chillum Heights Citizens Association. It was the first meeting of the group since a hearing of the Public Utilities Commission hearing on the matter and the citizens renewed their fight.

At the hearing the gas company offered several compromises for the proposition to erect a 10,000,000 cubic foot capacity storage tank in the section. The association went on record last night as opposing a tank of any size, or any compromise with the gas company.

MOTOR TRUCK MEN PLAN SAFETY DRIVE

Owners Also Told Sentiment on U. S. Regulation Has Been Crystalized.

A meeting to inaugurate a continuous safety program for commercial vehicle drivers was planned at a gathering of the board of governors of the Commercial Vehicle Owners Association yesterday in the United States Chamber of Commerce Building.

At the meeting, Jerome Fanciulli, executive secretary of the association, reported that the hearings of the Senate interstate commerce committee and the recent report of the Interstate Commerce Commission with with respect to the Federal regulation of trucks and buses, had done much to crystalize sentiment concerning the question of Federal regulation.

He advised the governors of the association that demand for Federal regulation, as reflected in the report of the Interstate Commerce Commission, appears to come solely from interests representing those who desire to restrict motor vehicle transportation and reduce competition.

Objection to Federal regulation, he declared, comes from those who desire all of the advantages of low transportation costs resulting from free competition.

Plans for the safety promotion activities of the association will be worked out by a special committee in collaboration with officials of the National Safety Council and the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety, it was stated by Fanciulli. W. Spencer Brenizer presided at the meeting yesterday.

Phyllis Wheatley "Y" To Observe Anniversary

The Phyllis Wheatley Y. W. C. A. will celebrate its twenty-seventh anniversary tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. A portrait of Phyllis Wheatley, celebrated poet, who wrote a classic tribute to George Washington before he became President, will be unveiled. The portrait is the gift of Miss J. Laberta Grey, of the board of directors.

Dr. D. F. Wiseman will deliver the invocation, and an address will be made by the Rev. A. F. Elmes, of the People's Congregational Church. The Industrial and Girl Reserves will take part in the anniversary program.

Baby Hurt in Fall Down Steps.

A fall of five steps last night brought serious internal injuries to a 17-month-old girl. She was taken to Georgetown Hospital. The parents of little Joan Royce, of 3701 Canal road northwest, said she was at play in the house when she toppled down the steps.

WIMBLEY GETS LIFE; CROWDER 30 YEARS

Two Men Are Not Expected to Be Tried Again on Second Drowning Charge.

Life imprisonment for Harry Wimbley and 30 years' imprisonment for John Crowder were the sentences meted out yesterday by Justice James M. Proctor in the District Supreme Court for the men convicted last week of the drowning of Wimbley's wife.

Both men were convicted of second-degree murder after a bitter trial in which defense counsel, Louis Whitestone and Cedric Johnson, contended that insurance companies were responsible for the prosecutions because Mrs. Wimbley was heavily insured.

The men probably never will be tried on charges in connection with the drowning of Wilma Traylor, 9-year-old stepdaughter of Wimbley, who was with her mother, Mrs. Wimbley, when Crowder and Wimbley tipped over a canoe in the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal last September.

Assistant United States Attorney William H. Collins indicated yesterday that it was unlikely that the second drowning case ever would be presented in court in view of the lengthy sentences given yesterday. The Government was holding in reserve the second indictment, charging the drowning of Wilma, pending the outcome of the first trial.

Wardman Property Receivers Get Fee

$40,000 in Compensation Ordered Given Three and Lawyers.

Receivers and attorneys for the Wardman properties yesterday were awarded $40,000 compensation for their services as such by Justice Jesse C. Adkins in the District Supreme Court.

Thomas D. Carson, Joseph P. Tumulty, and Maj. Julius I. Peyser, were each given $10,000 for their services as receivers and Attorneys Douglas Obear & Douglas, representing the receivers, were given a $10,000 fee.

The receivers were appointed July 14, and their awards covered their services to date, according to a report by A. Leftwich Sinclair, auditor of the District Supreme Court, who recommended the payments. Foreclosure of the properties, which include some of the best residential properties in Washington, is set for May 20.

Harpers Ferry, W. Va., May 6.—Potomac and Shenandoah Rivers very muddy this afternoon.

Washington's Name Taken From Ugly Short Street

Thoroughfare Becomes G Place After Protests Against Its Character; Jackson, Grant and Linden Routes in Same Area Changed.

The name of Washington, applied for many years to a short public street running between Fourth and Fifth streets northwest and parallel to G and H, is to be changed to G place because of the numerous protests against the character of the street bearing the name of the first President. Complaints were especially great in this, the Bicentennial year.

Adopting a recommendation of Melvin C. Hazen, District surveyor, the Commissioners yesterday ordered that this short street and three others that run similarly between G and H streets at spasmodic intervals as far east as Thirteenth street northeast all be renamed G place. The other three streets are Grant, between Ninth and Tenth; Jackson, between North Capitol and First streets northeast, and Linden, between Twelfth and Thirteenth streets northeast.

The Commissioners do not favor the proposals of the Federation of Citizens Associations and the Society of Natives, however, that another and more fitting thoroughfare be renamed for George Washington. Among those suggested for such an honor are B street southwest and Sixteenth street. The District heads believe that such action would detract from rather than add to the dignity of Washington's memory, as the National Capital and the Washington Monument are more in keeping with his fame.

The name of Washington street, according to Mr. Hazen, was never officially applied, but was adopted by the residents.
